Little Rock Set For Vote Today On Integration

New Va. Court Test Scheduled

By The Associated Press

Race mixing in the public schools comes to a ballot box showdown in Arkansas Saturday and to a new legal test in Virginia.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said that if the integrationists win—which he did not expect—he would allow desegregation without further interference of all Little Rock schools with their 20,308 students.

A win by the segregation forces will be a mandate, he said, to proceed with plans for opening the high schools as segregated private institutions. He viewed refusal of a U.S. district judge to rule on the private school plan as a strengthening development.

Baltimore Setting

The setting for the Virginia court test is in nearby Baltimore. The U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals was called into emergency session there to hear arguments—and probably rule—on appeals for a year's delay in lower court orders for integration at Front Royal and in Norfolk, Va.

The educational future of 11,000 pupils, 1,000 at Front Royal and 10,000 at Norfolk, hinged directly on the decisions; that of many more thousands, indirectly.

Already closed to evade race mixing are the Warren County High School at Front Royal and a high school and elementary school at Charlottesville, Va. School opening at Norfolk has twice been postponed for the same purpose and if integration is forced, automatic closing is in prospect there under state law.

Little Rock and Baltimore were the focal points in the South's integration crisis. There were significant developments elsewhere.

N. C. Hearing Postponed

In North Carolina, where integration has been undertaken only in tiny, token number, a court hearing was indefinitely postponed on legal devices by which the state keeps the races apart in the classroom. The delay was ordered by U.S. Judge Edwin Stanley at Durham to allow opposing attorneys to resolve legal technicalities in a suit by which two Negro mothers seek to force the admission of their children to Durham all-white schools.

In Louisiana, the public schools in 20 parishes (counties) observed a one-day closing Friday as a demonstration of support of Little Rock segregationists. The movement had the support of several church congregations.

Segregationists in Front Royal and Charlottesville, Va., went ahead with plans for private segregated classes to replace the public schools closed under the state's massive resistance program.

Plans are afoot for similar ventures at Norfolk where about 50 pupils Friday signed a petition pleading: "We don't ask for segregation or integration. We want education."

Average American's Lettuce Intake Soars

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—An average American is eating almost twice as much lettuce now as he did before World War II.

John Carew, a crops specialist at Michigan State University, says the increase mainly is due to diets. Only a rabbit gains weight on lettuce.

U.N. Diplomats Seek Formosa Peace Formula

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. diplomats sought Friday to work out a formula for easing tension over the Formosa crisis.

They conferred in an atmosphere of discouragement stemming mostly from inability to gain substantial concession from either the United States or Communist China.

India was among the nations probing Western and Communist positions in an effort to find some way to break the present deadlock. V. K. Krishna Menon, India's defense minister, has publicly offered his country's good offices to aid in easing tensions.

Secretary of State Dulles saw British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville separately during the day.

Nothing official was released on the conferences. But Lloyd has talked with Menon, who is reported receiving information from Peiping by way of New Delhi.

It was assumed that Lloyd filled in Dulles on his talks with Menon, and also on conversations held earlier with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Menon has been in contact with Gromyko, and talked Friday with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, head of the U.S. delegation.

Gromyko was reported under pressure from Britain, Canada and Norway to try to persuade the Chinese Communists to agree to a cease-fire. But there was no indication he had consented.

The United States is insisting on a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait before participating in any talks about the status of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

India was reported hopeful of achieving a situation under which the firing would stop without any formal agreement. Diplomats call this a "de facto" arrangement.

It was understood India was seeking agreement on a proposal to make the offshore islands a kind of "no-man's land," while talks are under way for an overaall Formosa settlement. Under this proposal the Chinese Nationalists would withdraw their forces from the islands, and the Chinese Reds would promise not to attempt any landings while talks are in progress.

Not Hurt By What They Didn't Know

It didn't stay in there long. A group of men quickly came to the aid of the driver, 33-year-old Francis Loter of Hugo, Okla., and put the trailer back on the highway.

Loter said Thursday night he waited until the men had righted the trailer before telling them of its cargo—a 20-foot python snake on its way to a circus in Memphis.

Architect, Told He'd Won Million, Just Came Close

William Hayward, a young architect, all but dropped the phone he had been clutching for what seemed like hours Thursday night. His wife, Margaret, let out a wild cheer, then just as wildly hugged him.

This was it. The news they had been waiting for in their recently rented home, unfurnished except for barest needs. Chairs, a mattress on the floor for baby. Another for the parents.

Hayward, 28, teaches architecture at the University of Pennsylvania, having come on not long ago from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. He, with the help of two colleagues, entered a worldwide contest sponsored by Toronto, Canada. The competition was for a design for its new 18-million-dollar city hall.

To the winner would go a million in architect's fees. From more than 600 entries Hayward emerged as one of eight finalists.

A scalding doubt came when it dawned on Hayward that the winner was supposed to be told by telegram. The caller had been a Toronto Star reporter. The reporter said he'd recheck.

An hour later the Star related sadly there had been a mistake, that the winner wouldn't be announced until Friday.

Hayward still had a chance.

Their nerves jangled, he and his wife finally went to bed. They slept badly, of course.

At 10 a.m. Friday a telegram was delivered. Hayward fumbled it open. It read: "Viljo Rewell is the winner . . ."

BLASTOFF—Carrying a 21-pound satellite about the size of a basketball, a Vanguard rocket blasts away from its launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., yesterday. All stages of the missile fired but hours later it was not determined if the satellite was pushed into orbit. Dr. John P. Hagan, project director, said chances were slim that the U. S. had a fifth "moon" in orbit. (AP Photofax)

Burmese Army Takes Power In Bloodless Coup

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — The army seized power Friday night in Burma. Gen. Ne Win, commander-in-chief of the armed forces, was asked to head a new government and he agreed.

Premier U Nu announced Ne Win had accepted an invitation to head a government and had agreed to hold general elections before next April 30.

U Nu appealed to the people to give their support to the general.

In a letter to the general, U Nu said he would advise President U Win Maung to summon Parliament to meet Oct. 28, at which time U Nu would resign and Ne Win would be named premier.

In his reply, Ne Win pledged to follow a neutralist policy in foreign affairs.

The army take-over apparently came without incident.

Ne Win, 48, is strongly anti-Communist. He has been quoted as saying "we must fight the Reds tooth and nail."

He visited the United States last year for medical treatment and while in Washington conferred with American military and defense officials.

As chief of the armed forces, he has headed an army of 60,000 to 80,000 men.

Odds Against Orbit, Project Director Says

Missile's Mighty Engines Fired In Proper Sequence

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A temperamental Navy Vanguard rocket blasted a weather-probing satellite high in space Friday but the fate of the 22-pound sphere was a mystery.

"At this time we just don't know what happened," said Dr. John P. Hagan, director of project Vanguard.

Hagan expressed the belief that there was little hope that this Vanguard would become the fifth American satellite to orbit around the globe.

Grim-faced and nervously twisting a pencil through his fingers, the chief scientist in the Vanguard program told a news conference that "the best presumption we can make at this time is to assume that the chances are greater that the Vanguard is not in orbit."

Answer May Take Days

He said it may be several days before telemetry data is analyzed and the complete story is known.

The slim 72-foot missile, jinxed by a miserable record of only one success in six previous launchings, bolted up from a white-hot pool of fire at 10:38 a.m. The initial liftoff seemed perfect despite a brisk westerly wind that whipped in over the Cape.

Minutes later an optimistic Navy announcement said the three mighty engines in the rocket fired in proper sequence.

Signals Recieved

Hagan said shortly after the launching normal signals from the satellite were received at the cape, at Johannesburg, South Africa, and at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

The signals picked up at these three stations came at about the time when the satellite should have been making its first swing through orbit.

Hagan said not too much faith could be placed in the optimistic reports of the three stations because so far the satellite signal has not been picked up on the West Coast.

More Supplies Reach Quemoy

The Nationalist Defense Ministry claimed the landing was completely successful, and all ships withdrew unharmed.

The convoy of big LSTs (Landing Ships, Tank) steamed to a point about four miles off Liaolo Beach. Then the supplies for the Quemoy defenders were moved in the rest of the way with small amphibious, tracked vehicles that are known as Alligators. Discharged from the LSTs, the Alligators plowed through surging breakers with two or three tons of cargo each. Communist shells splattered the beach area, throwing up geysers of sand, mud and water.

Reporters at the scene said there was at least one near miss but no direct hits during the risky operation.

U.S. To Provide India With Surplus Grain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Friday agreed to provide India with $238,800,000 worth of surplus wheat and other grains to meet an acute food shortage.

The agreement, providing for repayment in Indian rupees, was signed by Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter and Harishwar Dayal, India's charge d'affaires, at the State Department.

It was the third suuplus commodities agreement between the two countries. It brought the total value of U.S. surplus farm products for India to $664,200,000 since August 1956.

Typhoon Ida Takes Heavy Toll In Japan

At Least 85 Dead, Thousands Homeless

The full extent of disaster in early morning darkness was still not known at daybreak.

National police headquarters at 4 a.m. reported that besides 85 dead and 183 injured, 69 were missing and 401,000 homes were flooded to some extent.

There were no reports of American casualties.

Other reports to police said 21 vessels were lost and 11 damaged. The British freighter Eskcliffe, caught 70 miles off shore, sent a distress call Friday saying she was out of fuel and adrift with 37 men aboard.

Rain in Tokyo for 24 hours was a record 16 inches.

Weather experts had feared Typhoon Ida would equal Typhoon Muroto that struck Sept. 21, 1934, killing 2,700 and injuring 10,000.

Ida, officially listed as typhoon No. 22 this year, struck the area four years to the day after the storm that sank the ferryboat Toya Maru and other ships with loss of 1,447 Japanese and American lives.

Tippler Accepts Challenge, Dies

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Veteran tippler Jose Corchero was dead Friday after accepting a challenge to see who could drink the most gin.

Corchero and the unidentified challenger promptly consumed a bottle each and then ordered additional drinks to break the draw. Cochero fell dead. His contender quietly walked away.

Police found the challenger had been drinking water in a gin bottle. An immediate search for him was ordered and the bartender was held for questioning.

Ike Names Paarlberg As Economic Adviser

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower reached into the Agriculture Department Friday for a new personal economic adviser. He chose Don Paarlberg, an assistant secretary and one of the chief architects of administration farm policy.

The 47-year-old Paarlberg, who succeeds Gabriel Hauge in the post, promptly told a news conference he would advise Eisenhower on economic affairs "in the broad sense" and would not be a special pleader for agriculture.

He also said the threat of inflation was considerable and that it was very important to try to check the danger. In that connection, he said he subscribed to the Lincoln philosophy that government should do for the people only what they could not do themselves.

U.S.-Russian Feud Develops At Atom Parley

The Soviet delegation launched a sharp attack on the United States at a conference session. Friday night, the American delegation boycotted a reception given by the Russians.

Reports heard at IAEA headquarters said the Americans were affronted by the Soviet attack. John A. McCone, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and chief American delegate, declined to comment. Asked why the Americans stayed away from the reception, he said "We were otherwise engaged."

In the session that kicked off the row, the Russians charged the United States with trying to make a profit out of the atoms-for-peace group.

The United States denied the charge. Western delegates asserted more progress would be made if the Soviet Union would contribute more material aid and less criticism.

The trouble began when chief Soviet Delegate V.I. Emilyanov accused the United States of having proposed establishment of the agency for financial profit and political propaganda.

The international agency was constituted a year ago on President Eisenhower's suggestion that nations of the world cooperate in harnessing atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Emilyanov declared the United States wants to make a big profit out of its offer to place 5,000 kilograms of Uranium 235 at the disposal of the agency by selling it above market level.

Deadly Storm Bears Down On Carolinas

"Very Dangerous" Helene Packs Top Winds Of 125 MPH

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Deadly hurricane Helene, packing 125-mile-an-hour winds, plowed toward the South Carolina coast Friday night as hundreds of residents in low-lying areas fled inland.

"This is a very dangerous hurricane," the weather bureau said in a 7 p.m. (EST) advisory, "and all islands, beaches and waterfront areas should be evacuated to prevent loss of life as many escape routes will be covered by water. . ."

The bureau said "winds will become destructive by 10 p.m. (EST) Friday night reaching hurricane force near midnight."

As the bureau issued this emergency warning, the season's eighth hurricane was centered 120 miles southeast of this old port city. Helene was whirling forward at 12 miles per hour toward the northwest direction she had followed practically all day.

Large Area Warned

The emergency warning was directed to the entire coastline from Savannah, Ga., northward to Cape Fear, near North Carolina's southeastern tip.

"Coastal areas from Beaufort, S.C., to Cape Fear will be flooded by storm tides, high waves and heavy seas to heights of 7 to 10 feet above normal levels and probably higher in some localities," the weather bureau said.

"All persons within reach of these tides should evacuate immediately before escape is cut off by rising waters."

The next high tide here is scheduled at 6:44 a.m. (EST) Saturday. Up the coast at Myrtle Beach, S.C., high tide will arrive at 7:14 a.m.

Ilsa Following Helene

Meanwhile, Hurricane Ilsa was closely watched as she beat a northwest path toward the North American mainland. By early evening, she was 325 miles east-northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, traveling about 10 miles an hour. Her central wind speed was reported at about 115 miles an hour.

Observers at Charleston said that center of Helene, if it remains on its present course will hit the Charleston - Georgetown area. Metropolitan Charleston has a population of about 200,000.

From Edisto Island, 30 miles south of Charleston, to Pauley's Island, 60 miles to the north, beach residents began moving out. The tourist season at these summer play spots wound up about Labor Day, but there are thousands of year-round residents.

Pawley's Island, struck disastrously by 1954's Hurricane Hazel, was almost deserted early Friday afternoon. Sheriff Garris Cribb said at Georgetown, 11 miles south of the island, that any who attempted to remain would be forcibly taken off the exposed island.

Emergency Shelters

Charleston's Disaster Committee and the Red Cross set up evacuation shelters in the county schools. Police broadcast warnings to this coastal region to move inland. In Charleston, white people will, if necessary, be sheltered in the armory of The Citadel, South Carolina's military college here, and Negroes will be sheltered in City Hall.

McElroy Promises Missile Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy said Friday he will decide in November whether to continue production of the Army Jupiter missile or the Air Force's Thor.

These are intermediate - range ballistic missiles and McElroy told his news conference he saw no sense at all in continuing the production of both. He credited both with extraordinary accuracy.

Polio Cases Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Public Health Service said Friday the number of cases of polio reported for the week ending Sept. 20 increased 10 per cent over the previous week.

Some 434 cases were reported for last week, 220 of which were paralytic polio. For the week ending Sept. 27, 1957, there were 212 cases with 82 of thparalytic type.

U.S. Has Forts Abroad Only To Defend Freedom, Ike Tells Ligonier Audience

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower said Friday that the United States and its allies maintain forts overseas only to defend freedom.

Speaking at the commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the building of Ft. Ligonier during the French and Indian War, the President said: "Ft. Ligonier reminds us also today that this nation and our allies are maintaining forts in distant lands."

"In so doing," he said, "We have but one purpose, to defend freedom, to help free men who are fighting to protect freedom."

The President flew from Washington to Johnstown, Pa. Friday morning, rode in a motorcade the 28 miles to this community on the western foothills of the Allegheny Mountains. Big crowds greeted him at Johnstown and thousands more lined Ligonier streets.

The President was the guest of Gen. Richard King Mellon, longtime Republican backer and a prominent Pittsburgh financier and philanthropist. Following his speech, Eisenhower went to a private reception at the Mellon estate, near Ligonier, before returning to Washington.

The President drove back to Johnstown and left there by plane at 5:24 p.m. (EDT). He landed in Washington at 5:58 p.m. at Washington National Airport and five minutes later flew by Army helicopter on the short trip across the Potomac River to the White House.

Ft. Ligonier, which was reconstructed for this bicentennial, originally was erected under the direction of British Gen. John Forbes during the struggle between the French and English for control of the lands west of the Alleghenies.

As the President was leaving the rostrum following his speech, a 10-year-old boy ran up to him. The chief executive bent over to put an arm around the youngster's shoulder and walked slowly for a moment, talking to him.

The boy, Pat Egan, of Unionville, Pa., later told newsmen: "I asked him for his autograph. He told me to write him a letter."

Labor Political Group Charges Nixon Has New Double Talk Line

COPE Labels Boston Speech As "Brazen"

WASHINGTON (AP) — COPE, the labor union political organization, says Vice President Richard Nixon is breaking in a new line of double talk for the 1958 campaign.

The Committee on Political Education, a branch of the AFL-CIO, put out a special supplement to its regular weekly newsletter criticizing as bold and brazen Nixon's Sept. 6 speech at the Harvard Business School Assn. in Boston.

Nixon advocated a cut in the highest personal income taxes and in corporation taxes so as, as he put it, to encourage business production. He also recommended a 1½ per cent general manufacturers excise tax, or sales tax, to replace what he called the present hodgepodge of excise taxes.

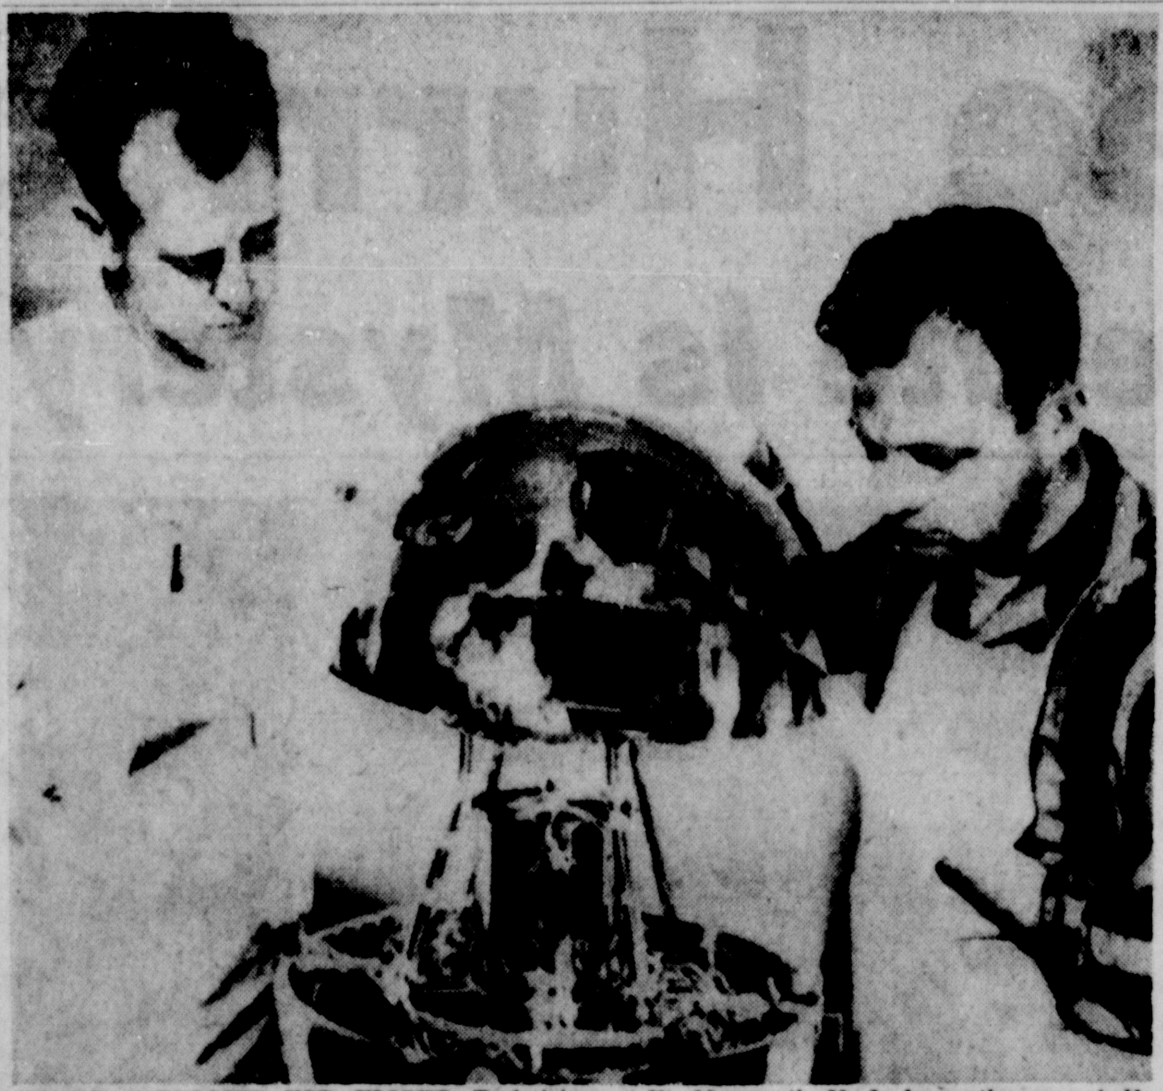
"Reading the fine print of his 'daring' proposal," COPE said, "it is a repaint job of the same old 'trickle down' theory.

"That means that Nixon believes the rich, bribed with lower taxes for high-income individuals and corporations, can be persuaded to build more plants, buy more machinery and 'give jobs,' regardless of whether wage earners and farmers have enough money to buy the products of American factories and farms operating at full capacity."

COPE said Nixon's proposals amounted to a recommendation that the workers' paychecks be clipped at both ends.

It said the worker would wind up with a 98½ cent dollar, after paying the 1½ per cent sales tax. Then, it said, Nixon also advocated that workers contribute a few more cents by foregoing wage increases to encourage employers and prevent inflation.

"Brazen as is Nixon's tax-wage remedy for the Eisenhower-Nixon recession," COPE said, "his double talk about improving unemployment compensation is as bold as trying to steal an elephant from a circus parade on Main St."



READY SATELLITE FOR FLIGHT—Technicians at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., lower the upper half of a satellite shell into place during final assembly. The Army said this is the satellite, carrying weather-probing devices, which was blasted into space from Cape Canaveral, Fla., yesterday. However, Dr. John P. Hagan, project director, admitted chances were slim that the satellite went into orbit. (U. S. Army photo via AP Photofax)

Strikes Reduce Output Of 1959 Model Cars 30%

DETROIT (UPI) — Local level strikes during contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers union and the Big Three auto companies slashed production of 1959 models by 30 per cent during September—and the end was not in sight.

Ward's Automotive Reports Friday said scheduled September production for the auto industry was 195,500 cars. But, said Wards, the industry would finish the month with a production close to 140,000 units.

Local level strikes tying up auto production began on a large scale before the UAW settled with Ford a week ago last Wednesday, and have continued to build up since during the negotiations at Chrysler and at General Motors.

Ward's said of all the auto producers, only American Motors maintained its scheduled output—but Friday that company reported it would have to close two Rambler assembly plants in Wisconsin for two days because of a supplier strike.

With Ford already settled, and Chrysler "put on the back burner" UAW President Walter P. Reuther concentrated on General Motors to reach a settlement before a strike deadline set for next Tuesday morning.

Reuther said matters separating the UAW and GM were confined largely to areas peculiar to General Motors. The areas of difference, he said, centered around wage inequities at various GM plants, short work weeks, providing supplemental unemployment benefits to workers in Indiana and Ohio, and a company demand that the amount of time allowed union stewards to work out grievances be cut.

Truman Pushes Doorbells, Gets $29 For Demos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Harry S. Truman, the old pro of politics, played the role he loves best Friday as he took a North Side neighborhood by storm in a personal "Dollars for Democrats" appeal to housewives.

Pressing doorbells like a rank-and-file precinct worker, the former President showed a jaunty vitality which belied his 74 years as he captured the hearts and dollars of several flustered women.

'You are helping your country when you do this," Truman said of the donations. "I'm very pleased to receive this money from such good ladies."

Truman went from door to door on Francisco St. in the heart of the North Beach Italian section. He chatted briefly with the women and praised their children in time honored campaign fashion.

Mrs. Aileen Bella turned the tables by asking the former President about his daughter Margaret and grandson, Clifton Truman Daniel.

"They're fine," he said. "My grandson walks, runs and talks all the time — just like his granddaddy."

Mrs. Sally Garbarino summed up the reaction of the surprised and pleased neighborhood.

"He's just like anybody else," she said. "He doesn't make you nervous."

At one home he leaned into a window and commented favorably on the aroma of simmering tomato sauce. Mrs. Anna Pinciotta and Mrs. Mary Vella handed him a dollar each. Other dollar bills floated down from an upstairs window.

The total "take" by the ex-President was $29.

Three Boys Play Hooky, One Drowns

NEW MARKET, Md. (AP) — Four boys missed their school bus Friday and in the summery weather decided it would be a good day to play hooky.

They went to a nearby farm pond. Three of them got into a metal boat. It sprung a leak. Two swam ashore.

Thomas Anderson, 15-year-old Negro, drowned.

Drive-In Robbed Again

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—Thieves broke open a heavy wall safe in the office of a drive-in theater Friday and stole $1,326 in cash. The same theater lost more than $2,000 in another robbery earlier this year.

U.S. Will Send Civilian Supplies To Chiang Isles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department announced Friday a $180,000 program for shipping civilian relief supplies to Quemoy and other Nationalist offshore islands threatened by Red China in the Formosa Strait.

The department said Chinese currency equal to $180,000 would go for shelters, temporary housing, medical supplies and emergency stockpiling of rice, flour, cooking oil and other foodstuffs. The announcement said the people at present need not worry seriously about food supplies.

The State Department press chief, Lincoln White, said the supplies will be landed the same way general supplies are being put ashore at the offshore islands. Under this practice, U.S. warships convoy Nationalist transports to within three miles. At Quemoy, the transports dash in under heavy Red shellfire and put their goods ashore.

White said no Americans will be involved in the actual on-the-scene delivery of the relief supplies.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) said, meanwhile, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles should be impeached if they continue their present course with regard to Quemoy.

This country is pledged by treaty to help defend Formosa, the seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalist government. Congress has authorized Eisenhower to use U.S. forces in defense of the offshore islands if he determines an attack on them imperils the security of Formosa.

U. Of Md. Will Ask State For $18,668,417

BALTIMORE (AP) — The University of Maryland regents voted Friday to ask the state for $18,668,417, an increase of 8 per cent over the appropriation for this year.

The regents approved a total budget of $39,122,607 for the fiscal year starting next July 1. Besides the state appropriation which comes from general taxes, the university operates on federal grants, special funds and self-supporting activities.

The total amount it will submit first to the governor and then to the legislature is $2,761,341 higher than the university is operating on this year.

Most of the requested increase is for higher salaries, new employes and University Hospital.

He said that under its regulations, letters of dismissal had been sent to 769 students at the close of the spring semester. Seventy-five were re-admitted by a petition board.

The president said he and a faculty senate committee will reappraise some aspects of the probation plan.

The enrollment at the College Park campus for this year was 10,532, a slight increase over last year, he said.

Body Recovered

COCKEYSVILLE, Md. (AP) — The body of a veneer plant employe has been recovered from a 60-foot-deep quarry where he went to count the company's logs.

The victim was identified as Norman Drenning, 23, of Texas, Baltimore County. Dr. Charles F. O'Donnell, county medical examiner, pronounced him dead on the scene Thursday night and issued a certificate of accidental drowning.

U. S. highway maintenance and construction costs have more than doubled since 1941.

Unemployment Payments Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department reported Friday that the number of persons drawing unemployment insurance dropped by 86,900 in the week ended Sept. 13 to 1,953,900, the lowest level since December, 1957.

The department attributed part of the drop to recalls to work of auto workers laid off during retooling for production of 1959 model cars.

Initial claims for unemployment insurance, which must be on file for a week before payments are made, edged up by 9,400 to 268,600 in the week ended Sept. 20.

Man Fatally Injured When Truck Upsets

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—One man injured when a truck overturned died Friday night and a second man was in serious condition at a Baltimore hospital.

Samuel Thomas, 21, of Cambridge, one of three sawmill workers hurt in the accident, was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. Dr. Lewis Burdett of Cambridge said Thomas needed the services of a neurosurgeon.

Johns Hopkins said Thomas suffered abdominal and head injuries and was in serious condition. He was admitted to the hospital.

After an examination by physicians, a spokesman said Friday night that immediate surgery did not seem to be indicated although he would be kept "under very close observation."

Boy, 3, Badly Burned When Shirt Set Afire

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A 3-year-old boy was burned on his back Thursday when an older boy set fire to his shirt with a match.

Michael Nickolson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Nicholson, was treated for third degree burns and a blister on his hand.

Mrs. Nicholson said Michael was playing with a group of children his own age when an 8-year-old boy approached the group, lit a match and set fire to Michael's shirt.

Folsom Considers Plea Negro Be Spared Chair

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Gov. James E. Folsom took under advisement Friday a wizened Negro's plea to be spared the death penalty for robbing a white widow of $1.95 in a burglary at night, a capital crime in this state.

Before deciding, Folsom said, he must confer with prosecution and defense attorneys. The governor called for a huddle with the lawyers next Tuesday immediately after he dismissed the clemency hearing for Jimmy Wilson, 55, an illiterate Negro handyman.

The governor will "probably call a press conference" to announce his ruling, he said.

Folsom told United Press International two days ago, "I'll probably commute the sentence."

The Tuesday conference between Folsom, solicitor Blancard McCleod and Attorney Fred Gray will be held in the governor's office.

During the clemency hearing, McCleod said the death penalty, handed down by an all-white jury within a matter of minutes, "is fully justified because Wilson made complete and deliberate plans to rob and rape an 82-year-old woman."

Gray testified Wilson was a victim of a "prejudiced jury" and that he would never have been given the death penalty if he had been a white man. The Negro attorney said Wilson's life should be spared to protect the prestige of Alabama and the United States abroad.

Folsom listened to the testimony without comment. The governor briefly questioned Wilson on his background and said "hearing dismissed."

Pro-Chamoun And Security Forces Clash

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Street fighting spilled more blood in this troubled capital Friday and armed supporters of former President Camille Chamoun marched through the streets demanding a new government.

The four-month battle between the government and the opposition thus turned full circle as militant Phalangists insisted that Premier Rashid Karami resign.

Karami, who was the rebel leader in Tripoli where the revolt broke out May 10, appealed to his comrades to lay down their arms.

But armed men — some witnesses said they were former rebels from the Moslem Basta quarter of the city—tried to disrupt traffic in a residential quarter of the city, apparently with robbery in mind.

Security forces fought an hour battle with them and when it was over two civilians were dead. It was the first bloodshed since Karami took office Wednesday night.

The pro-Chamoun Phalangists, most of them Christians who oppose the Moslem Premier, surged through Beirut's port area carrying forbidden guns. Security forces let them pass—despite a curfew—for fear of igniting the tension into a new civil war.

Wednesday, when Karami took office, a brief outbreak of violence between Moslems and Christians cost 19 lives.

The appointment of Karami, which still must be confirmed by Parliament next Tuesday, was a clear victory for the rebels.

Karami tried to reassure the Christians by pledging he would not upset political agreements which give the Moslems the premier's post and the Christians the presidency.

Industrial Development Bill Planned

BALTIMORE (AP) — Legislation to give Maryland a commission on industrial development, which failed in the 1956 session of the General Assembly, may be proposed again when the Legislature convenes in February.

Del. Ernest A. Loveless Jr. (D-Prince Georges) said Friday that a Legislative Council committee he heads is attempting to determine if it is feasible to propose the legislation again.

A bill which would have created a State Planning and Development Commission to promote "the economic well being and industrial development of the state" passed the House and Senate two years ago. But Gov. McKeldin vetoed it because, he said, it would duplicate programs already under way in the state.

Loveless said his group is preparing a questionnaire for distribution to municipal and county governments, chambers of commerce and trade groups throughout the state. Information gathered will be followed up with hearings in the next few months, he said.

"Maryland must compete with other states," said Loveless, noting that Maryland is one of only three states in the nation without an organization for encouraging development of local industries and attracting new industries.

Davis Heads Md. Wing

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Lou W. Davis of Hagerstown, an airplane pilot and World War II veteran, has been elected president of the Maryland wing of the Air Force Assn.

Davis succeeds Paul Fonda, now on the AFA board of directors. The association announced Friday that Leo Killen, also of Hagerstown, was named vice commander.

Market Recovers Part Of Thursday's Losses

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks recovered some of Thursday's losses in a higher but quieter session, featured by demand for drug shares, tobaccos, selected copper, oil, aircraft and special issues.

Turnover for the weekend session fell to 3,420,000 shares from 4,490,000 Thursday, the year's heaviest volume.

A few stocks responded to individual news items. St. Regis Paper turned a loss of close to 2 points into a point gain on the day on a prediction by the company's chairman of a sharp rise in second half net income. Reynolds Metals climbed on a stock dividend; Coca-Cola gained over 2 as the company announced plans to expand its line to include other flavors. Martin Company rose on a favorable earnings prediction.

Drug stocks were the big movers, however. Parke Davis, which went up sharply Thursday on a stock split proposal, climbed another 7 points. Pfizer rose 5, Warner Lambert and Abbott around 3; Vick over 2.

In tobaccos gains ran past 2 points in Reynolds B, a point in Lorillard, more than 1 in American Tobacco.

Coppers had gains extending to 2¾ in Magma. Gulf rose over 2 in the oils. National highlighted steels with a gain of more than 1. Rails were higher for the most part although Canadian Pacific and Rock Island dropped around a point.

Loew's ran up 1⅝ to 22⅛ on the day's heaviest turnover as indications of a possible proxy fight appeared. Graham Paige, Bell Aircraft, General Motors, Textron completed the top five actives.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Mixed price levels spotted the market close with steady to firm ranges in wheat and rye, although easy in other grains, on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up 1 to off 1 cent; corn (old) off ¼ to ⅝ cent; (new) off ⅛ to ⅝ cent; oats unchanged to off ⅛ cent; rye up ⅜ to off ⅛ cent; soybeans off ½ to 1 cent.

Commission houses sparked a rally in wheat. Additional support came from buying by brokers with elevator connections. Observers attributed the strength to the report of imminent large export authorizations.

Corn, however, crept lower. With commission houses selling, an elevator interest bought considerably into old December deliveries. Weather is mostly favorable for crop maturing.

Soybeans witnessed liquidation of its November contract. Commercial houses displayed some buying interest and commission houses brought more support. The range:

GOP Club To Honor Miss Adkins

Delegates and representatives from the Cumberland and Frostburg Women's Republican clubs will attend the luncheon honoring Miss Bertha S. Adkins, Undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare, October 15. Mrs. Katherine St. George Congressman of the 28th district of New York, will be guest speaker at the luncheon being given by the state federation at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel.

Besides delegations from the clubs, Mrs. John Lancaster, president of the local club; Mrs. James Shryock of the Frostburg club; Mrs. Noel Speir Cook, state treasurer; Mrs. George Barncord, chairman of the state resolutions committee; and Miss Bessie Baird, member of the auditing committee, will attend.

The luncheon honoring Miss Adkins, who served as Maryland national committeewoman for 10 years and assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee for five, will be in conjunction with the 37th annual meeting of the RWM.

Mrs. St. George was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1946, and now is a member of the House Armed Services committee. She sponsored the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution, now pending. She is a member of the DAR, the American Society of International Law and the New York State Agricultural Society.

Sisterhood Purchases Gift

The AEL Sisterhood of Cresaptown Methodist Church decided to buy a rug for the Strawbridge Home for Boys at the meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. William Riley, Brant Road.

Mrs. Walter Richardson presided and read the Scripture. Mrs. Leroy Lewis led the singing of "Thanks for a Happy Heart." Prayer was offered by Miss Evelyn May. Cards were sent to the sick. The next meeting will be held October 23 at the home of Mrs. Delbert Stewart, Winchester Road. Mrs. Thomas Lewis will be cohostess.

Concluding the evening a stork shower was held for Mrs. Bruce Brenneman. Games were played and refreshments served. Others attending were Mrs. Paul Holler, Mrs. James McCuster, Mrs. Oliver Lewis, Mrs. Catherine Sindy and Mrs. Raymond Richardson.

Social Chart

The weekly dance of Bedford Road firemen and auxiliary will be held tonight at 9 in the fire hall.

The Wiley Ford Up and Ready Homemakers Club will meet Monday at the home of Mrs. Lowell Manning.

Emmanuel Episcopal Teenage dances will be inaugurated tonight at 8 in the parish house.

ASSUME DUTIES — The Ursuline Academy Auxiliary discussed the Halloween and jingle parties, Christmas and weekly dances as well as various projects at the opening meeting earlier in the week. Home room mothers and various chairmen were appointed. Father Sylvan, Sister ilda, Sister Thomasine, Sister Corrine, and Sister Thomasita were introduced. The freshman class won the attendance award. Left to right are Mrs. Earl Darber, vice president; Mrs. Clement C. May, president; Mrs. John W. Kreidler, secretary and Mrs. John B. Wolfhope, treasurer. Mrs. Edward J. McNamee was thanked for her service as president last term.

Flintstone Club Takes Reports

Achievement reports were taken and a nominating committee was appointed at the meeting of the Flintstone Homemakers Club held at the home of Mrs. Howard Robinette, with Mrs. Chester Robinette cohostess. The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer, followed by the Homemakers Creed led by Mrs. William Heavner. The group sang, "This Is My Father's World," and answered roll call with what they most enjoyed doing as a family. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Arthur Howard and Mrs. Kenneth McLaughlin.

Mrs. William Mauzy reported the highlights of the county meeting she attended. A letter was read from Mrs. H. R. Aldridge, county citizenship chairman, concerning keeping Maryland beautiful. Literature on the project was distributed. Achievement awards were taken by Mrs. Leslie Wigfield, food and nutrition chairman; Mrs. Mauzy, clothing; Mrs. Heavner, reading; Mrs. Chester Robinette, Fair and exhibits; Mrs. Russell Dolly, home management; Mrs. Wigfield, citizenship, and Mrs. Eugene Kinton, civil defense.

Appointed to the committee to nominate a vice president and secretary were Mrs. Curtis Nash, Mrs. Dolly and Mrs. Wigfield. They will report at the October meeting.

Highlights of her recent trip to her former home in England were given by Mrs. Guy Thompson. The quotation of the month was given by Mrs. Paul Oster. The meeting closed with the group singing "School Days."

October 10 the meeting will be held at Flintstone Methodist Church. Mrs. Edward Shaffer, county family life chairman, will present "Family Teamwork." Members are urged to bring articles made during the year, for display. Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Howard will be cohostesses. Others attending were Mrs. Kermit Burgess, Mrs. Carlye Nixon, Mrs. Franklin Norris, Miss Lena Twigg, Mrs. Oka Twigg and Mrs. Katie Oster.

Loretta Lindner To Be Bride Of Thomas Lippold

The marriage of Miss Loretta Lindner, daughter of John H. Lindner, Shades Lane, and the late Mrs. Teresa Lehman Lindner, to Thomas A. Lippold, son of Louis A. Lippold, 126 Polk Street, and the late Mrs. Mary Agnes Brown Lippold, will be solemnized today.

The wedding ceremony will be performed at a nuptial mass in St. Patrick's Catholic Church at 10 a. m., with Rev. John U. Lyness officiating. Bouquets of white flowers and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used in the decoration of the altar.

Mrs. Marie Yockus will be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant. Anthony Yockus will serve as Mr. Lippold's best man, while Philip E. Lindner and Michael Lindner are the ushers.

To be given in marriage by her father, the bride will wear a gown of Chantilly lace, fashioned with an illusion yoke, Queen Anne collar and fitted bodice with long pointed sleeves. The very full skirt over satin ends in a sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil of French illusion falls from a queen's crown of seed pearls. Completing her costume, she will carry a colonial bouquet of red roses.

Her matron of honor will be attired in a powder blue lace dress, with matching long sleeve jacket. With it she will wear a Juliette cap with shoulder-length veil. Her bouquet is of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Catholic Girls Central High School and is employed by Dr. Samuel M. Jacobson as laboratory technician. The bridegroom is a graduate of LaSalle High School and served with the Army for three years in the European Theatre during World War II. He is employed by Spoerl's Garage.

A wedding breakfast will be served the wedding party at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, following the ceremony. The reception will be from 1 until 3 at the home of Mrs. A. J. Yockus, 836 Gephart Drive.

For their wedding trip to Michigan the bride has chosen a blue tweed costume with black accessories. With it she will wear her corsage of roses. Upon their return Mr. Lippold and his bride will reside at 148 Frederick Street.

Cresap Club Plans Joint Meeting

Plans for a combined achievement program were formulated by the Cresap Homemakers Club at the meeting Thursday morning in Cresaptown Methodist Church. Mrs. Harold Lewis presided. The program will be held at the October meeting, with the Potomac Park, Bowling Green and Progressive Women's clubs. It will be at the Potomac Park EUB Church October 21. At that time also a vice president and secretary will be elected. Mrs. Arlie Borror was named chairman of the nominating committee, with Mrs. Ellsworth Lewis and Mrs. Edward Lewis serving with her.

Mrs. Herbert Heineman gave the history of the hymn, "This Is My Father's World," and led the group in singing it. Roll call was answered with what each most enjoyed doing as a family. Mrs. Edward Shaffer, county family life chairman, discussed family teamwork. Mrs. Bertha Scollick reported on the Civil Defense meeting and distributed literature. Bird conservation also was discussed by Mrs. Heineman. Routine reports were given and members signed a card to send to Mrs. Emma Heinricks, a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital. Mrs. Helen White also was a guest.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Old Friends May Be Best — But New Ones Are Fun, Too

Some people change friends the way they change hem lengths and hairdo's — there's a complete turn-over every few years. A false note is evident in the personality that never sticks to the tried and true. But, on the other hand, a dull note is probably creeping into the life of anyone who goes too long without making a new friend or two.

If you lead a busy life, you meet people. Think it over now—aren't there a few who would be most worthwhile to know better? Isn't it possible that someone would like to make more than a casual acquaintance of you? Why not do something about it? Make an extra effort to look for and recognize encouragement on the part of someone else if that's what it takes to break the ice. Or better still, make the first move yourself. Boldness isn't necessary. Just show interest and it's seldom that you won't be met with gratifying response.

If you lead a life that's not filled with people, spread your horizons to widen your acquaintance. Make opportunities for yourself to meet the kind of people you'd enjoy — join groups and participate in activities involving others with interests like you. own. Common interests speed friendships as nothing else can.

Time can so easily slip by without the refreshing changes that come through contacts with new personalities. A new friend is bound to present new viewpoints and new ideas, to inspire new interests and activities. A new friend can be a wonderful discovery. Check to see if it isn't about time to find one, and give yourself the satisfying experience of being an interesting new friend to someone else.

Valley Road Club To Hear Talk

Miss Bessie Baird will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Valley Road Homemakers Club October 1. Miss Baird, who has been traveling over the county registering votes, will discuss "It Is Our Privilege To Vote." She will be introduced by Mrs. Irene MacDonald. The meeting will be at 1:15 at Central YMCA.

A drawer with divider and shelf, made by Mrs. James Ruppert at the home carpentry workshop conducted by Miss Joanne Reitz of the University of Maryland, will be displayed.

The business session is to be conducted by Mrs. H. J. Rolly, at which time roll call will be answered with "My Favorite TV Program," and plans will be formulated for the club achievement program.

The B and O Veterans and Ladies Auxiliary will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening in the B&O YMCA auditorium.

A rummage sale will be held by Circle 7, Tuesday in the basement of Centre Street Methodist Church, from 7 until 9 p. m.

Gold Star Mothers To Be Honored

Gold Star Mothers Day was discussed and reports were given at the meeting of the Tri-State Chapter, American Gold Star Mothers. The fourth annual Gold Star Mothers Day dinner will be held at 7 tonight in the Pall Mall Room of the Raleigh Hotel, Washington, with Sumner G. Whittier, administrator of veterans affairs, as guest speaker. The regular service will be conducted at 1 tomorrow in the amphitheatre. The United States Marine Band will play. The Military District of Washington will pay tribute to the mothers at a ceremony at Fort Myer, following the service, and reception in the Fort Myer Officers Club. The First Battle Group, Third Infantry and the United States Army Band will parade. The ceremony is to begin at 4.

Reports of the national convention in Denver, Colo., were given b. Mrs. Anona McDonald and Mrs. Bessie Hensel, delegates; and of the Department meeting in Baltimore, by Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Clara E. Rankin. Two applications were accepted for membership in the chapter; and plans were formulated for a Thanksgiving project.

Officers are to be elected at the next meeting. Mrs. Mabel Wade was appointed chairman of the nominating committee, which includes Mrs. Hensel and Mrs. Loretta Beckman.

To: Bobby's Church School Teacher
From: Bobby's Parents

"You're O.K."

That's the highest praise in our Bobby's vocabulary!

You must be as busy as we are . . . keeping house, raising a family, meeting all the challenges of parenthood.

Yet you volunteered to teach a dozen boisterous boys the great truths of Christianity.

You sacrifice hours every week . . . in preparation, in prayer, in patience.

But, because you are part of the Church—the one institution which lives to serve God and man—we have taken you for granted.

We'll be at worship next Sunday. Bobby wants us there. And seeing what the Church means to him, we want the same spiritual foundation for our own lives.

Thank you! We marvel at all you have done for Bobby without our help and example. How much more we will accomplish together . . . Bobby's parents, Bobby's teacher, and OUR God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Church Plans Annual Leader Training School

W.Md. Sessions Open September 30

GRANTSVILLE — A school of Christian Service has been planned for the Grantsville area to be held at the Gratnsville Elementary School on the nights of September 30, October 3, 7, 10, 14, and 17 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. This school is sponsored by the Church of the Brethren in the Western Maryland District. Charles B. Miller of Friendsville will serve as dean of the school.

The School of Christian Service, formally known as the Leadership Training School, has been an annual event to give instruction to church leaders and workers in various fields of the overall program of the church. This year there will be five classes offered on a credit or non-credit basis toward a Leadership Training Certificate through the Christian Education Commission of the National Council of Churches.

The courses, "Story Telling In Christian Education" will be taught by Mrs. Edward Wenger of Oakland; "The Life and Work of Paul" will be taught by the Rev. Emory A. McGraw, pastor of the Grantsville Methodist Charge; "The Youth Fellowship" will be taught by the Rev. Clarence M. Moyers, pastor of the Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, Grantsville; "Teen-Age Choices" will be taught by Ernest Spoerlein, the guidance director at Southern High School, Oakland; and "Goals To 1960-Workshop" taught by the Rev. Norman L. Harsh of Eglan, W. Va.

An invitation has been extended to the public to attend these classes.

Petersburg To Dedicate Post Office

Ceremony Set Today At 2 P.M.

PETERSBURG — An outstanding program has been planned today at 2 p. m. when Petersburg's new post office building will be dedicated. Hon. Harley O. Staggers and Theodore T. Dorman, administration assistant to Sen. Hoblitzell, will speak.

H. Daniel Boon, associate field service officer for the Washington region of the Post Office Department for 15 counties in the Cumberland area, will represent the Post Office Department and also deliver an address. He is a native of Huntington.

Boon received his education in the public schools there and attended Marshall College. He entered the Postal Service July 16, 1937 as a substitute clerk at the Huntington Post Office.

Postmaster Byron Hawse has extended an invitation for all patrons in this area to attend the dedication and open house, which follows. Refreshments will be served by ladies representing the various organizations in the community. Music will be furnished by the Petersburg High School band under the direction of Tom Goheen.

The new facility is located on South Main Street, opposite Veach-Townsend Clinic, and is a part of the Post Office Department's commercial leasing program which uses private financing to obtain needed facilities. Since these facilities remain under private ownership while leased to the federal government, they pay local taxes as well as eliminate the need of large outlays of money from the federal treasure for construction purposes. "This new unit symbolizes a new era in communications in this community." Postmaster Hawse commented. "It will be more pleasant for our patrons to do business here, and more pleasurable for our postal employees to provide even better service," he said.

In addition to 2,408 square feet of interior floor space, the new building will have 400 square feet of platform space and 3,000 square feet of parking and maneuvering area for use of postal vehicles.

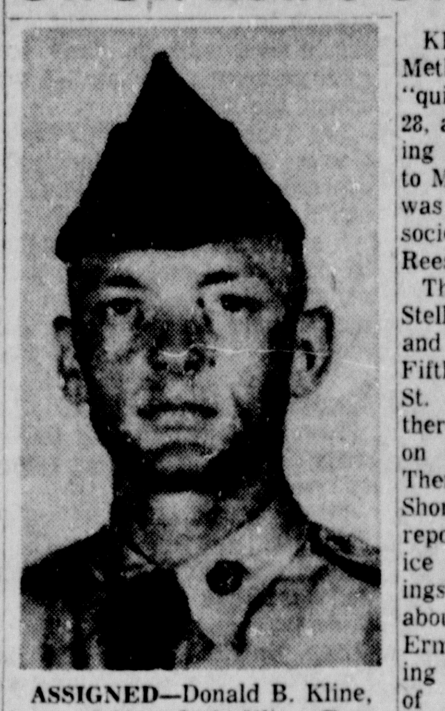
The ceremony will be held on the lot facing the new building, or inside the building in case of bad weather. The lessor is Dr. Lysle T. Veach and the building was constructed by Monarch Mills, Inc.

The new post office building will be placed in service Sunday when the incoming mail on that day will be distributed to post office boxes here. However, it will officially open for business Monday when the stamp and money order counters begin operation. The lobby doors at the old building will remain open through Sunday and mail not removed from the lock boxes on that day will be transferred to the new location.

Ward Turpin, clerk in charge of box rentals, points out the fact that the lock boxes in the new unit will have different combinations and it will be necessary for all lock box patrons to obtain their new combination before noon today.

The new unit will provide about 100 more boxes than presently available and will adequately supply the pressing need for more of the larger type boxes.

Grace WSCS Hears Report On St. Louis Conference



ASSIGNED—Donald B. Kline, son of Mrs. J. A. Kline, Paw Paw, W. Va., who enlisted in the US Army recently has been assigned to Company D, 8th Battalion, 2nd Training Regiment at Fort Jackson, S. C.

KEYSER—The WSCS of Grace Methodist Church, will conduct a "quiet Day" on Tuesday, October 28, and the Week of Prayer offering will be given as a memorial to Mrs. Dora Condrin. This action was taken at a meeting of the society, at which Mrs. Harry Reese, president, presided.

The program chairman, Miss Stella Wagner, gave the devotions and four women who attended the Fifth Assembly of the WSCS, in St. Louis, told of the activities there. Mrs. Rhea Stephens spoke on the subject, "No Here, No There, No Alien Race, No Foreign Shores;" Mrs. Estella Kennedy reported on the communion service at one of the morning meetings. Mrs. Blance Day talked about "Youth Night," and Mrs. Erma Gallion told of an interesting course, "Studies on the Book of John," conducted by Dr. Harness.

Mrs. Erma Gallion will be the delegate from here to the meeting of the United Council of Church women to be held in Denver.

Mrs. Rhea Stephens will attend the district meeting to be held October 10. On October 17 and 18 the WSCS will conduct a food and rummage sale.

World Community Day will be observed November 7, in Janes Methodist Church. For this year the members will collect yarn and piece goods.

Mrs. Frank Snider closed the meeting with prayer. Refreshments were served by the September circle.

Magnolia Church Homecoming Day Set For Sunday

MAGNOLIA—This Sunday will be Homecoming Day at Magnolia Methodist Church, Magnolia, W. Va. The program includes a hymn sing beginning at 2 p.m. EST; supper on the church lawn at 5 p.m., and services at 7:30 p.m. with Ralph Shambaugh of Great Cacapon, W. Va. as guest speaker. Mr. Shambaugh is the only person ever to go out of the Magnolia Church into the ministry.

A large crowd is expected to enter into the festivities of the day, renewing old acquaintances and talking over old times. This year marks the sixtieth anniversary of the church which was founded in 1898 and has continually served the community throughout the years. During the past two years, the church has been extensively renovated.

Adult Fellowship To Install Officers

LONACONING — Young Adult Fellowship of First Methodist Church will install new officers Tuesday, October 28, according to plans made at their meeting on Tuesday at the church.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ravenscroft, president, was the presiding officer. Two hymns, "Trust and Obey" and "Just As I Am" were sung and benediction adjourned he meeting. Plans were made for refreshments to be served after the installation meeting.

Sunday School Plans Advancement Day

FROSTBURG — A program of recitation, Bible memory work and songs will be presented during the 10:45 a. m. worship service Sunday at First English Baptist Church, with Mrs. Mary Wiebrecht, superintendent, of the Primary department; Mrs. Doris Ward, superintendent of the Junior department and Rev. E. Elwood Settle in charge.

Exercises will be given by the Nursery, Beginner, Primary and Junior departments of the Sunday School. This will mark the advancement of all the Sunday School classes at which time a group of children will be promoted from each department. The Sunday School year will begin with the first Sunday in October.

Used — Frigidaires, Ranges, Washers, Dryers. All tested, approved, guaranteed. $5.00 down delivers. Call William Patterson today, The Potomac Edison Co., Phone Frostburg 55.

Beall Blasts

Against Alaskan statehood — "Many Americans favored it immediately; some thought we should wait until the land was more generously populated—I was among the latter."

Devereux answered other Tawes charges by saying he is "generally opposed to increasing federal so-called give-aways to the states."

"In the long run, heavily industrialized and comparatively prosperous states like Maryland pay far more for such programs than they receive in return. They wind up paying for the programs in the backward states," he said.

"I am proud of my record in Congress," said Devereux. "I hope my opponent will bring it up again and again and again."

Hyde Defends Record

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde told the Republican rally that "our opposition in this campaign would have you believe they are the only ones interested in the people. They call us 'archaic' and say we are interested only in ancestor worship.

"I voted for the bill to relieve depressed areas. Is that archaic? I voted for increased Social Security benefits, increased pay for government and postal employes. I was successful in obtaining increases in federal retirement pay and have been working for improvements in railroad retirement benefits. Are these things archaic? No. They are today's problems."

Congressman Hyde said, "Senator Beall and I have been pressing for enactment of legislation creating the C&O Canal National Historical Park for years. My opponent's supporters have been fighting it. Which group is trying to meet the needs of the times? The answer is obvious."

American vessels must pay tolls to navigate the Panama canal just as do ships of any other nation.

Rebuilt U.S. Route 40 Near, Says Governor

ish, and connecting the valley between, was considered the most-needed improvement and was made the first order of business. This work is costing some $5,000,000.

Notes Other Work

"The Commission is rebuilding U.S. 40 in Allegany County between State Route 36 and Long, and has improved Route 40 between Frostburg and the Garrett County line; while in Garrett County itself there has been built a relocation and overpass at Little Savage Mountain. These three projects totalled $1,100,000.

"Scheduled for construction in the near future is the dual highway from the top of Martin Mountain to Cumberland. A short section of this four-lane project is already in use as part of the Martin Mountain improvement.

"Following that will come the rebuilding of U. S. 40 from Polish Mountain east to Sideling Hill. These projects were listed in the original 12-year Program and are moving on schedule.

"West of Cumberland improvements are included in our program to Keyser's Ridge.

Thruway Progress

"The most far-reaching improvement of all, of course, is the great Cumberland Throughway which not only will serve through traffic on Route 40, but will end the paralyzing congestion of traffic on city streets. Work is progressing satisfactorily on this major enterprise which will cost some $13,000,000.

(The $13,000,000 covers the cost from Lindnerville to the Moose Home. An additional $5,000,000 is estimated as the cost of the project from the Moose Home to a connection with Route 40.)

"Thus within a reasonably short time we shall witness the re-construction of the entire stretch of U.S. 40 in these two western counties. It is the first realistic attempt to serve traffic needs on this great highway to the west since the building of the Baltimore Pike in 1821 — the tortuous trail we now bypass by these improvements and the one sometimes referred to as the Bank Road.

"There is a story about the Bank Road that is worth repeating.

"Most of us recall that this first highway connection between Cumberland and Hagerstown was financed and constructed by a group of Maryland banks. But how many of us remember that these banks were practically forced into the road-building business on penalty of losing their charters?

Banks Held Back

"To me this is one of the most fascinating chapters in all the long history of roads.

"In 1812 the Maryland Legislature was desperately trying to find a way to build a hard-surface road from Cumberland to the west bank of the Conococheague River, eight miles west of Hagerstown. Such a road was needed to make connections with the National or Cumberland Road then under construction from Cumberland to Wheeling.

"About the same time, bank charters throughout the state were expiring. To continue in business the banks had to have their charters renewed by the Legislature. So the Legislature renewed all charters until 1835—but on condition that the banks raise $480,000 to build this road.

"The banks bitterly resisted, pointing out that they could not speculate with depositors' and stockholders' money. But the Legislature in effect said: 'Build the road — or else.'

With this legislative gun pointing at their collective heads, 12 Maryland banks subscribed the necessary capital. Of these nine were Baltimore banks and three were located in Western Maryland.

"The road was commenced in 1816 and finished in 1821. With the completion of other and shorter stretches in the eastern section, this Bank Road and the National Road furnished an uninterrupted run on all-weather surfaces from Baltimore to Wheeling, a distance of 266 miles. It contributed greatly to the prosperity of both Baltimore and Cumberland. It was the only means of transportation before the coming of the railroad.

Pays For Itself

"The Maryland banks, however reluctantly they may have entered the road-building business, did not lose on their investment. They had a complete monopoly over the mountains between Cumberland and Hagerstown. All traffic had to pass their toll gates. The road paid for itself several times over.

"This Bank Road built 135 years ago is the same road we are bypassing today with our mountain relocations. Of course there have been some improvements — shoulders, complete resurfacing and the like. But the steep grades are the same, and so are the sharp curves and hairpin turns, the worst of which are being eliminated today by this Polish Mountain project.

The Bank Road, running 58 miles, cost $8,000 a mile. By contrast, this one relocation—two miles in length — is costing $1,600,000, or $800,000 a mile. One hundred times as much!

"This reflects not only the sharp and almost continuous increase in prices of both labor and material but also the improvement in road design, the wider, sturdier pavement, the easy grades and the gentle curves—all factors calculated to make the new roads safe, economical and comfortable for modern travel.

"For safety is the keystone of our road-building program. We in Maryland are not going to give any driver a road excuse for a traffic accident.

"I can assure you the new Maryland road system will be the peer of any in the country from the point of view of traffic safety. But that does not mean our highways will be accident-proof. We cannot control the human element, although by education, persuasion and publicity we shall do our best to influence and improve it.

No Accident Excuse

"Take this new highway, for example. With its broad lanes and all known safety features ready built-in, there is absolutely no excuse for a traffic accident. Yet some there doubtless will be, as time goes on. We cannot close our eyes to the history of human behavior.

"But experience teaches us that the toll of the dead and injured can be substantially reduced by highway design, speed law enforcement, public education and, most of all, careful driving.

"Now, in closing, let me come back to this Polish Mountain project—truly a marvel of modern methods of scaling our mountains. This engineering masterpiece testifies not only to the foresight of our planning but to the genius of the engineering staff of the State Roads Commission—a fine group of dedicated men.

"It is, however, and this I wish to emphasize, but one single contract in a series of planned improvements of Route 40 on which the state already has spent or committed more than $20,000,000, covering some 26 miles built to the highest standards.

"In addition, another $15,000,000 worth of work is planned in our 12-year program covering about 49 miles."

Will Build Home

Leonard Gillespie yesterday secured a permit from the City of Cumberland to build a 20 by 40 foot dwelling on Golden Lane. The home will be one story, built of concrete block and brick and cost about $3,000.

Man Sentenced To Year Term

A local man was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Talley was arrested on a charge of passing two bad checks for $35 to two flower shops.

The court said Talley was arrested earlier this month on the same charge and was given a six-month suspended term on condition he make restitution for the bad checks.

Talley, who was represented at yesterday's hearing by Attorney Earl E. Manges, pleaded guilty to the charges.

Dream Coming True For Route 40

Governor McKeldin, dedicating the newly relocated section of U. S. Route 40 on Polish Mountain yesterday morning, pointed out that more money now is being spent on Route 40 than had been spent there in all the 200 years of road building that preceded the beginning of the 12-Year Program in 1954.

The Governor could hardly have chosen a more appropriate occasion to note this bit of history.

The completion of the Polish Mountain project means that the worst section of Route 40 in Maryland soon will be a thing of the past, replaced by a modern highway as good as any in the state. The Polish Mountain project, just completed at a cost of $1.6 million, soon will be linked with the $1.3 million Martin Mountain relocation by means of the $1.1 million Flintstone Bypass, now well under construction.

Soon to follow are the complete dualization of Route 40 from Martin Mountain to Cumberland and reconstruction of the road east from Polish Mountain to Sideling Hill. But the biggest single undertaking of all will be the $18 million Cumberland Thruway, on which work already has begun. With its completion, and its connection with improvements to the east and west, Western Maryland will have highways of a quality unthought of only a few years ago.

For decades, Western Marylanders have dreamed of the day when they might have roads as good as those elsewhere in the state. The Polish Mountain project is visible evidence that the dream is coming true.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Open Mouth

One of the great advantages that Soviet Russia enjoys in the Cold War is that in the so-called Democracies all mouths are wide open and every man, woman and child, drunkard, moron and imbecile as well as expert and philosopher is entitled to an opinion and the expression thereof. That is guaranteed by the Constitution. It is thus possible for the Russians and their Chinese and Arabian allies to make use of that ancient device of the back-stairs, namely, the rumor machine and the whispering campaign which sooner or later, if accelerated in volume, produces a wave of opinion that can have damaging effects upon the country and its policies.

What the United States is trying to do about Quemoy and Matsu is to establish a principle of international relations that a country cannot shoot its way into the United Nations. Red China is an indecent nation which uses methods to which even Stalinist Russia did not descend and there is no reason whatsoever why anyone needs to associate with such indecencies.

Secondly, the President of the United States has at long last taken the stand that this country is not going to be pushed around by an abusive, foul-speaking, nasty-mouthed moujik, name Khrushchev, and that the President does not need to read communications from this boor. After all, because an Ukrainian barfly happens to become elevated to the tyrant's role in Russia is no reason why the United States needs to suffer his vulgarity.

The handling of such matters by a government is very delicate and difficult and the President needs the support of all citizens of good-will. In the looseness of New York's cafe society and the dinner parties of the careless rich there are always permanently wise men and women, who without particular disciplines, intellectual or otherwise, repeat what they hear somewhere and that is how the ball gets to rolling. The whispering device is one of the most awful that an enemy can use, for resistance to it usually is nil.

A wise-looking man who should not say an unmeasured word will say: "We ought to do business with Red China. Everybody does business with Red China except the United States." That is how it starts. Is this Communist propaganda? Who can believe that such a wise and learned man would spread Communist propaganda? Besides, he is a rich man or is so reputed to be and in a world where everything is measured by money, even morals, nobody could possibly accuse such a person as not being responsible. Furthermore, he is known, as everybody else in such circles is, of being very close to those who ought to know of what is going on in the world. In fact, he lets names drop, not like a peephole columnist, but with care and restraint.

I pick this one subject of trade with Red China not as a subject of discussion but as an item about which there is a current whispering campaign. Who started it is not quite clear, but it does go the rounds. Sometimes, the sentence is varied to sound like this: "Isn't it true that if we trade with Red China we shall wean them away from Soviet Russia?"

Forty years of history mean nothing in such a gossip mill. The nature of the Marxist-Leninist imperialistic development in Asia is ignored. The excuse for ignorance is that it is logical that Soviet Russia and Red China should break. But why is it logical? What has happened since 1920, when the Chinese Communist Party was formed, first at Baku and then in Peking, that makes it logical? Of course, the whisperer does not deal with details—only with broad, general issues. And so it goes round and round and round and comes out nowhere except as a nuisance to those who have real responsibility.

The whispering device can be used for all sorts of purposes and politicians always employ it. It is an ancient device that has no new characteristics, except that in free countries, it can lead to defeat. When a man or a woman hurled down the gauntlet with the fiercely challenging words, "I don't agree," in an earlier America, he was asked to defend his wisdom. And around the cracker-barrel, he did. But today, who has a cracker-barrel?

The Deferred Decision On Formosa's Trouble

By Joseph Alsop

TAIPEI, Formosa

Thus far, the Taipei visit of the American Commander-in-Chief in the Pacific, Adm. Felt, and the Pacific Air Commander, Gen. Kuter, has produced no major result except bewildered disappointment among the Chinese leaders here.

The disappointment is emphatically not directed at the Admiral and the General. They listened sympathetically to the Chinese warning that they would have to use their air power against the Communist artillery emplacements, if other means were not found to break the artillery blockade of Quemoy.

They heard and transmitted to Washington a new Chinese proposal that the American government warn Peiping of its intention to use American forces for the whole task of resupplying Quemoy. The idea of this scheme is to create a "touch-me-not" situation. Thus the American forces are to be justified in returning the fire, if the Communist artillery blockade is not abandoned.

Then, Adm. Felt and Gen. Kuter studied and approved ways to improve the limited blockade-running that now supplies Quemoy. Improvements can be made, and time can be gained by better blockade-running. But it was admitted, by Americans and Chinese alike, that the Quemoy position could not be indefinitely held by mere blockade-running.

In short, this meeting outwardly resembled the old high level interallied conferences of the Second World War. But it altogether failed to take the decisions in the grand style that used to result from those conferences of the past. No such decisions could be made here, in fact, for the excellent but somewhat curious reason that Adm. Felt and Gen. Kuter did not have the needed authority from Washington.

According to reliable report, the directive of our Pacific commanders consists of nothing more than general instructions to carry out the purposes of the President's speech on the offshore islands crisis. In that speech, the President declared that he would use American forces to repel any "major assault" on Quemoy or the Matsus. But "apparently Washington has not yet decided whether a third of a million artillery shells dropped on Quemoy constitute a major assault."

The quotation is from a highly placed American who has to wrestle with the realities of the crisis in the Taiwan Strait. He was a little embittered, perhaps, because the American response to the challenge in the Strait seemed to him anomalous and hesitant, except in the big words that have been so freely used. This is also the reason, of course, for the prevailing Chinese disappointment.

Maybe a firm American decision will be revealed shortly, either at Warsaw or in the Presidential statement which is rumored to be made at the end of this week. Meanwhile, the cause of the present indecision about the crisis in the Strait seems worth examining. From this angle of vision, the cause appears to be a kind of temporary dissonance among the men who made up the President's mind to stand firm on the offshore islands.

The leader of this policy-making group, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, has always resembled a high stake poker player who never expects to have his hand called. Evidently he did not really expect to have his hand called when he urged the commitment to defend the islands. The imposition of the artillery blockade and the Communist refusal of a cease-fire at Warsaw have called the Dulles hand, however.

Perhaps he will finally get a cease-fire by agreeing to further talks at the Secretary of State-Foreign Minister level—by sitting down with Chou En lai at the point of the guns around Quemoy, in fact. In any case, the record plainly suggests that the Secretary of State has been seriously disconcerted by the turn events have taken.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, who were Dulles allies in urging a firm stand, have equally plainly been severely disconcerted for quite another reason. They just have foreseen that the Dulles hand might be called. But they cannot have foreseen the sudden cancellation of the Presidential directives authorizing the use of nuclear weapons in almost any kind of fighting involving American forces. All our defense planning has been based on these directives aimed to achieve alleged defense economies on the "bigger bank for a buck" theory. But this planning has now been upset.

While determined that the offshore islands had to be defended, Secretary Dulles has also been determined that the utmost effort must be made to defend the island with conventional weapons alone, even if American forces have to be engaged. He has won the argument thus far; and this is the clew to the mysterious story of Adm. Felt's critical message to Washington. The Admiral did not attack the commitment made by the President concerning the islands. But he vigorously attacked an attempt to honor commitment without using nuclear weapons.

With all the chief policy-makers severely disconcerted for different reasons, it is not surprising that the American posture has recently seemed hesitant and anomalous. Washington was ready to deal with a straight naval blockade of the islands, and the Communist naval blockade was successfully broken by convoying as soon as it had been unready, and apparently still is unready to deal with the equally effective and dangerous artillery blockade, which raises the problem of the use of nuclear weapons in a fairly acute form.

Soon or late, however, the Eisenhower administration will have to grasp one horn of the dilemma or the other, unless a Communist cease-fire can be obtained in the interval. One horn is the application of American power to break the blockade decisively and without regard to risk. The other horn is surrender despite the President's solemn commitment, followed by the destruction of just about every Western position and the loss of just about every Western friend throughout the Far East.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Matter of certified fact is Maine has no opinions of its own until summer boarders go home.

We don't believe that Maine gets up a pine tree because of Formosa. If Ike would give us equal time on the air we'd like to talk on Formosa. We mean the air, not the island.

Chiang has been marooned there a long time. We're betting on a horse that's using the starting gate for a stall.

Wisconsin also went wide on the electoral curves. But you never can tell about our foreign entanglements. We wrote twenty years ago that the babies on F.D.R.'s doorstep were put there from the inside.

Islands are not as important as the days when they were victualling depots for England's frigates. Nor when they were coal drops for our fleet.

Now islands are oil cans for the Navy. The atomic subs don't need them any more than you need buttons on your carpet slippers.

So why agitate our dandruff over Quemoy?

Infant Won't Demand Night Feeding Forever

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

How long do infants "demand" a bottle at night? Many mothers think it took forever, because they never can forget those 2 a. m. feedings. An English medical officer at Middlesex questioned all mothers at an infant welfare center. She found that 44 per cent of the tots stopped night feedings at four weeks of age, 73 per cent by the end of two months, and 93 per cent by the end of four months. Only 7 per cent took longer.

Parents of 22 per cent of the babies were luckier. They never had to get up at night because the youngsters always slept through from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. without a peep.

It might interest mothers-to-be to learn that when a baby is going to give up the early morning snack, he usually does it suddenly. The tyke sleeps through two or three nights for one or two weeks, and thereafter the job is complete.

Another example of British research on babies was that done by the Child Study Center at the University of London. This group wanted to determine whether the present generation of babies is smaller or larger than those of 200 or 300 years ago.

They searched museums for various items of infants' clothing until a number of 18th century christening mitts were located. They found 16 pairs—all in good condition. They were made of nonelastic, unshrinkable material or fine muslin. The researchers also learned that baptisms in those days were done within the first month of life, usually around the 15th day.

The circumference of the flat, rigid surface across the knuckles of the mitts was measured and recorded. The size of 15 day old infants whose hands fit these mitts was determined and regression equations were used to estimate the weight of the original wearers of the mitts. What were the results? Eighteenth century infants weighed the same as 20th century babies. It was a novel experiment and accurate, provided the mitts had fitted the original users.

DISK SCIATICA

R. M. writes: Is it possible to get over sciatica due to slipped disk without an operation?

REPLY

Many victims do. The operation is recommended when conservative measures fail and there is danger that the sciatic nerve will be damaged permanently. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on sciatica.

UNSTEADY

R. B. writes: Can unbalanced eye muscles cause a person to feel as if he were toppling over while standing or walking?

REPLY

Yes, especially if blurred vision creates a dizzy sensation.

YELLOW SKIN

H. M. writes: Is jaundice caused by the liver or the gall bladder?

REPLY

The liver — but there are other causes. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on jaundice.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Sherman Adams Played Lone Hand From Start To Finish Of 'Scandal'

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Robert Montgomery sat in the Colony Club Restaurant in New York on the evening Sherman Adams bowed out of the White House over television. Montgomery goes to Washington to coach Ike on his TV appearances, but he did not coach Adams.

Nor were any of the Hollywood experts who spent a whole day coaching Vice President Nixon before his TV explanation of the personal expense fund around to coach Adams. Jim Hagerty came around to help with the stage setting. But for the most part, Adams was on his own.

That has been the case since the first week end the Harris committee began delving into the strange friendship between Sherman Adams and Bernard Goldfine. When Adams sat down in the White House to write his statement before the Congressional committee, he was also alone. None of the White House speech writers who grind out statements in record time on any and all subjects was on hand to help. Finally, Charley Willis, his former assistant, and Tex McCrary, the commentator - public relations man, came to his aid.

He played a lone hand in running the White House and he played a lone hand in defending his reputation. He was not in on the many approaches inspired by the President to find him a job. Some 20 corporations, educational institutions, and foundations were approached to give Sherm a job. There were no takers.

So there was something a little sad about the way Adams bowed out — weary, stubbornly insisting that he was innocent, and very much alone.

One reason it was sad was because Adams' gift-receiving has been meagre compared with that of his chief. Perhaps that was why the President never did actually ask for Adams' resignation. GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn did the asking. Eisenhower in his heart must have felt that his assistant did nothing more than he, the President—in fact, less.

Arabian Ring

Eugene Black, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, was traveling in Saudi Arabia when King Saud presented him with various gifts, including a jeweled ring for Mrs. Black.

When he returned to Washington, Black realized that the ring was quite valuable and he wrote the Arabian Ambassador, asking whether it would be considered an affront to the King if the ring were returned.

"I am afraid," replied the Ambassador "that this would be badly received."

Black then went to his bank board explaining his predicament and asking its advice. The board decided that he should keep the picture of King Saud, the curved sword and the Arabian robe since they were not valuable, but that he should deposit the ring with the bank. This was about to be done when the Arabian Ambassador happened to meet Black and asked what had happened. Black explained.

"In that case," said the Ambassador, "you might as well return it."

Mrs. Black did.

None of the many gifts received by the Eisenhower family from foreign potentates has been either returned or deposited in the State Department as required by law.

The Most Expensive Gift

Current gift-giving to the White House began when one of Ike's aides suggested to American Airlines that the President admired a portrait of "Custer's Last Stand" painted by Harold von Schmidt which hung in the airlines' Admirals Club. The airline promptly sent the portrait to Ike and for some time it hung directly facing his desk.

American Airlines, the biggest in the USA, does all sorts of business with the government, has all sorts of problems before the CAB and CAA. When inquiries were made at the White House by my staff regarding the picture, it suddenly disappeared.

Most expensive gift of all to the Eisenhowers is the so-called "Mamie's cottage" at the Augusta Golf Club. Though called a "cottage," it is one of the most luxurious establishments at the Augusta Golf Club and no newspaperman has ever been permitted to inspect anything except the downstairs living quarters.

However, those who built the cottage estimate its cost, including the near-by fishing lake, at $250,000. The money was raised by a group of businessmen who also have important problems constantly before the administration. Their influence is credited with the Eisenhower-proposed tax law giving special concessions to stock market investors. Chief money raiser for the cottage was Cliff Roberts, of the New York investment firm, Reynolds and Co.

Helen Worden Erskine, who made a study of the "cottage," reports that although the White House officially described it as a "six - room cabin," the building permit filed in Augusta shows it has 18 rooms and six bathrooms, with a seventh added later for $50,000.

The cottage has radiant heat, door locks costing $160 each, two giant TV sets, air conditioning, indirect lighting, a barber's chair, a model kitchen with double sink, food freezer, electric dishwasher, and two stainless steel ranges. All the furniture was paid for by the little group of Wall Street donors.

Note — Herbert Hoover, when President, built a cottage at Rapidan, Va., for summer fishing, but paid for the lumber and nails himself, though government labor was used. Franklin Roosevelt enjoyed a cottage at Warm Springs, Ga., though it was built by the Warm Springs Foundation before he became President.

The Big Challenge

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK — The enormous challenge of the jet age of transportation takes many shapes and forms. As we move into an era of breathtaking change, operators of craft which soon will be carrying millions of persons about the world at speeds which would have caused Richard the Lion Hearted to faint, have been forced to plan and dream on a titanic scale.

American Airlines has found it expedient to order four billion—yes, billion—gallons of kerosene, not to keep the price stable in the years to come but to encourage and enable the refinery to be built. All the lines are devising new ways and means of expanding their markets, improving their food, conquering such ancient problems as delivering a customer's baggage to him before he busts a gusset.

Millions of dollars have been spent on suppressing the noise of jet engines, thousands of hours of research have gone into just how much room in the new jets should be allotted to radar gear and how much to the preparation of sandwiches (open). The width of the average beam of the average passenger has engaged the attention of thoughtful planners. The interior decorator has been asked to cope with the problem of peace of mind and comfortable quarters in the stratosphere. My friend V. J. Skutt, president of the world's largest health and accident insurance company, Mutual of Omaha, burns the midnight kerosene getting ready for the incredible day when every flight of a big jet may involve an insurance risk of perhaps 1 million dollars.

This advanced thinking is reaching some kind of crest in Pomona, N.J., headquarters of the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center. This is a government body headed up by one of the most brilliant airmen of them all, Lt. Gen. Pete Quesada (Ret.) It is settling down on the reconstructed site of the old Atlantic City Naval Air Station, once a field which offered a shelter to carrier-based planes whose carriers were headed toward Norfolk, or some such, to have their bottoms shaved.

Out of Pomona will come new ideas which will shape the whole jet age: new ideas in take-offs and landings, control at great heights, the building and location of great aerial one-way highways, better communication between air and ground, new radar techniques, keener recognition of traffic problems, enlightened approaches to weather, jet streams, visibility, blind flying. The charter of the new government body requires it to think beyond domestic needs to intercontinental traffic and on into space problems.

It's quite possible that this remote airdrome and laboratory in southern New Jersey could become the world's foremost commercial airport, too. It is hard today to conceive of any other port of U.S. entry except New York. But how are we really to know? Perhaps the great winged airships of the immediate future, flying in over the Atlantic, will put down at this Jersey pilot-plant which guides all commercial and military techniques. After all, a considerable percentage is going on somewhere else in the country, after arrival.

My personal misgiving about the jet age is whether it will meet the challenge of leg room. Outside of the average Broadway theater there is no more uncomfortable seating arrangement on earth (or in space) than the average airplane. For years I've been cursed with the problem of the guy in the seat ahead of me tipping back into my coffee or Swiss steak. If we are eventually to have lunch in New York and arrive in Los Angeles in time for breakfast, a novel switch due to the speed of the plane and the difference in time, let us not arrive with the bends caused by being packed in like a lot of sardines with their eyes open. That's something for the geniuses at Pomona, N.J. to figure out. And I'm sure they'll come up with the answer, even if it's a pill to shorten legs.

Fort Hill High's Sentinels once again displayed its powerful scoring machine last night and this time it was to the chagrin of Martinsburg Bulldog fans as the Hilltoppers ran over their Cumberland Valley Athletic League opponent, 52-7, at Martinsburg.

Last year's undefeated C.V.A.L. champs have now copped their first two league outings this campaign and with the victory, stretched their three-season victory string to 14 games. The Sentinels have scored 150 points in three games this year and have held their opposition to 28.

Coach Bill Hahn's Red Raiders tallied eight touchdowns last night and Donnie Lewis booted four placements through the uprights to account for the 52-point total.

The Sentinels opened scoring in the first quarter when going over the final stripe to climax an eight-play, 62-yard march. With the ball on the Bulldogs' 5, Bill Koerner slanted off-tackle and went into the end zone. Koerner fumbled while going in and Donnie Lewis alertly recovered to get credit for the TD.

Martinsburg bounced back to knot the count when Tom Kelch raced 41 yards to the Fort Hill 9. Ronnie Hovermale went around end for the tally and then, faking a kick from placement, passed to George Snyder for a 7-6 lead.

Jack Weltman added six to the Fort Hill side of the scoreboard when he recovered a fumble by Welch in the Martinsburg end zone to end the first quarter.

Just as the third period opened Fort Hill recovered another Bulldog fumble on the latter's 30. Charley Robinson passed Holtzman at the one from where Tom Davis slashed over.

A 28-yard scamper by Koerner set the stage for another Robinson pass. His 18-yard aerial to Lewis put Fort Hill in the lead, 25-7.

Plagued by fumbles all evening Martinsburg was benefactor again to the Sentinel cause when Gene Counihan pounced on a loose ball at the Bulldogs' 35. Robinson climaxed the drive to the goal with a 1-yard plunge.

The game's feature was an 87-yard run by Jimmy Hammond late in the third quarter. Hammond broke off tackle and outran Martinsburg pursuers for the distance.

Running almost at will Fort Hill drove 65 yards late in the contest and Hammond added his second touchdown of the night with a 1-yard dive.

Old Exports Can Cop 5th Playoff Title On Sunday

Barrelville's Old Exports will be striving to wrap up their fifth playoff crown in 10 years when they meet Zihlman in the third game of their best-of-five Pen-Mar Baseball League series Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Barrelville.

Rain kept the teams idle last Sunday after Barrelville had won the first two games by scores of 3-1 and 3-2. Jesse Markley decisioned Dave Richards in the opener and Bobby Raines won over Bill Haberlein in the second game.

Manager Raymond "Buck" Fiorita's team has won the playoffs four times in the last nine years—1949, 1954, 1956 and 1957—and the series will end if the Old Exports take tomorrow's contest.

If Zihlman should upset the dope the fourth game will be staged a week from tomorrow at Zihlman.

Gene Zumpano, right halfback, scored three touchdowns to spark Beall High School's Mountaineers to a 28-0 triumph over Southern High School of Oakland last night at Frostburg.

The victory was the first of the season for Coach Jerry Calhoun's Mountaineers in three outings while the loss was the fourth in a row for the Garrett countians, who have failed to score a point this season.

Beall broke the scoring ice in the opening period on a 35-yard off tackle slant by Zumpano to culminate a drive that started on the Mountaineers' 35. Beall moved to the Southern 35 in four plays and Zumpano went over from there. Jim Evans place-kicked the point.

Early in the second period, Zumpano sprinted 62 yards to the six and on the handoff dived over for the score on the next play. Smith converted via placement.

Later in the same period the Mountaineers took over on their own 27 and drove 73 yards for the touchdown. With Zumpano and Evans making the most yardage, Beall moved to the Southern 26 from where Zumpano chalked up a six-pointer on an end sweep. Smith added the extra point.

With Zumpano and Dick Plummer making the most of the gains, Beall marched from its 26 for the final score. Hyde registered on a quarterback sneak and Smith booted his third extra point. The lineups:

BERLIN, Pa., Sept. 26—Jack Bahen, right halfback, scored three touchdowns tonight, two on punt returns and one on a pass interception to lead LaSalle High School's Explorers of Cumberland to a 32-0 victory over Berlin High School.

In the first period after Rich Murray returned the opening kickoff 54 yards to the Berlin 23, Jim Delaney snared a Murray pass on the next play for the Explorers initial touchdown. Before the quarter was concluded, Bahen intercepted Ray Miller's pass on the LaSalle 40 and sprinted 60 yards for the second LaSalle score. Joe Footen kicked the point to make the score 13-0.

LaSalle scored thrice in the second period. Bahen returned a punt 80 yards for the first td and Footen converted. Then Jack scored again on a 40-yard punt return. LaSalle's final score came on a 37-yard pass from Carroll Wilt to Jack Barr. Lineups:

Birds Top Yanks In Twelfth, 3-2

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles scored two runs in the 12th inning to defeat the New York Yankees, 3-2, Friday night for their seventh straight victory despite a near-perfect pitching performance by Whitey Ford for the first six innings.

Loser Virgil Trucks walked pinch-hitter Jack Harshman with the bases loaded to force in what proved to be the winning run.

Billy Loes, who relieved starter Hoyt Wilhelm in the 10th, gained credit for his third victory although he was nicked for a solo homer by Marv Throneberry in the bottom of the 12th.

Ford demonstrated he was completely over his recent arm trouble by striking out six batters and yielding only one hit during the six innings he worked. The only hit he gave up was an inside-the-park homer by Joe Taylor in the first inning. He walked none.

Red Sox Win, 6-4, Ted Grabs Lead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ted Williams smacked out a homer and a single in three trips and took over the American League batting lead as Pete Runnels went hitless in four tries and the Boston Red Sox defeated Washington 6-4, in the first game of a doubleheader Friday night.

Williams who went into the contest trailing the leader, Runnels, .324 to .320, emerged with a .323 average as his Red Sox teammate Runnels slipped to .322.

Williams' homer, a one-on blast in the fifth inning off loser Vito Valentinetti, was his 24th of the season.

Campbell Bluebird Hits Speed 165 MPH

The 37-year-old Briton is preparing for an assault on his own world water speed record of 239.07 m.p.h. set here last November. He averaged 125 m.p.h. and 132 m.p.h. in his two trial runs over the measured course—more than 100 m.p.h. slower than he must go to set a new mark.

Two Potomac Valley Conference elevens realized the value of the extra point yesterday as the Romney High Pioneers and Moorefield's Yellow Jackets battled to a 6-6 tie on the Romney gridiron.

The Yellow Jackets launched scoring in the third quarter and unknowingly saw their chances for victory fade when the attempted placement conversion was blocked.

Romney, in averting a shutout, registered its only score in the early minutes of the final period, but had to settle for a deadlock when the run for the point after touchdown was halted short by the Moorefield defense.

Just after the final heat opened Dale Stickley smacked into the tackle slot at Moorefield's four-yard line and provided Romney with its tie maker.

The Pioneers, apparently rallying back after a fruitless first half, had a pair of TDs nullified in the latter half because of offside infractions.

Robin Roberts Beats Bucs, 3-2

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Robin Roberts flashed his old-time artistry Friday night as the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2, to even their season's series at 10 games each.

Roberts had a shutout until the ninth inning when the Pirates broke through for two runs. Dick Groat's single scored Bob Skinner and pinch-hitter Harry Bright's sacrifice fly brought in Bill Mazeroski.

Richie Ashburn, Phillies centerfielder contending for the National League batting crown, had a double and a single in four official trips to lift his average to .345.

The Phillies touched loser Bob Friend for two runs in the sixth. Ashburn singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on Ed Bouchee's double. Bouchee then scored on Frank Herrera's two-bagger.

Ryff Defeats Gale Kerwin

Blue-eyed Frankie, 26, was impressive as he registered his sixth straight victory and his first win under new-manager Barney Ross, former lightweight and welterweight champion.

Hagerstown's North High Hubs, sparked by the running of halfback Richard Spencer and the pass receiving of end Ronald Hawkins, wrecked the Cumberland Valley Athletic League opener for coach Ed Schwarz' Allegany Campers by thumping the locals, 39-14, last night at the Greenway Avenue stadium.

The Hubs, who dropped their opener to York, Pa. by the score of 13-6 and then rebounded with an 18-14 verdict over Westminster in their C.V.A.L. debut, needed until the second quarter to get warmed up last night before going on their touchdown spree.

After Hagerstown's second punt of the opening quarter the Campers appeared on their way to making a carbon copy of their 31-0 shellacking of Beall two weeks ago.

With the ball resting on Hagerstown's 48-yard line halfback Fred Shook barreled through center on second down and raced 52 yards for the TD. Shook smacked into the line and had picked up 7 yards before looking up and finding wide open spaces. He struck for the left sideline and outraced several Hub pursuers.

That was all Hagerstown needed because before the quarter ended, the Hubs were to lead, 19-7. Jerry Horton, Alco's punting specialist, had one of his fourth-down kicks partially blocked moments later, setting the stage for the victors' march to triumph.

Spencer began to blaze his own glory, including his personally-made three touchdowns, with a 33-yard romp to Allegany's 14-yard line where Horton pulled him out of bounds. Following a 5-yard penalty against the Hubs, the ball was toted to the Alco three with a loss setting it on the four. Spencer wanted only a block and got it from Tom Neely as he skirted right end for the six-pointer.

Ronald Hawkins' try from placement was grounded by the charging Jim O'Neal and coach Mel Henry's eleven temporarily trailed, 7-6. But a Joe Vance to Ron Hawkins pass play, which found Hawkins button-hooking beautifully, covered 20 yards and gave Hagerstown a lead they never relinquished.

Before the first half ended, with only seconds remaining, Spencer broke over tackle, eluded the Camper secondary and outran Allison for 74 yards and the night's longest scoring play. Spencer, who was shaken up early in the contest and left the scene of battle, returned in time to tack on his 18th point. It came on a pass from the accurate arm of Vance that covered 31 yards in the final stanza.

Ron Hawkins set up a Hub score just after the half opened while on the receiving end of a Vance pass to place the pigskin on the Alco 1. Tom Hawkins then bulled over and Hagerstown led, 26-7, and built the margin to 33-7 minutes later when Richard Keats plucked an Allegany fumble from the air at the latter's 32. Vance subsequently tossed to Jim Washington for another touchdown and a 33-7 scoreboard display.

The final period found each team scoring once, Hagerstown on Spencer's third trip across the goal line and Allegany on long aerial down the center from "Baldy" Powell to O'Neal. Powell took a pitchout from Gary Shook and uncorked his heave which O'Neal caught over the shoulders and stepped into paydirt.

National Pro Grid League Opens Sunday

Colts, Los Angeles Are Conceded Edge

United Press International

Detroit, defending its Western Division title, is a four-point underdog for its opener at Baltimore against the Colts. Cleveland, defending Eastern champion, is a 3½ point underdog for its clash with the Rams in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

In Sunday's other openers, the Chicago Bears are seven-point favorites to whip the Packers at Green Bay; the Forty-Niners are 7½ point choices to defeat the Pittsburgh Steelers at San Francisco; the Washington Redskins and Eagles are rated even at Philadelphia and the New York Giants are favored over the Chicago Cardinals by 3½ at Buffalo, N.Y.

The Lions face a Baltimore club that has won its home opener four of the last five years. The Browns face the same situation at Los Angeles. The Rams always are tough at home and have won their opening game the last five years.

Sam Snead's 67, Leads Tourney

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI)—Sam Snead, who already has written a host of golf records, added a new leaf to the book Friday when he blistered the Lakeview Country Club course for a four under par 67.

The sub-par round came on the opening day of the West Virginia Open golf tournament and gave the White Sulphur Slammer a four-stroke lead in the 89-man field. It also was the first time anyone ever broke par on the course in tournament competition.

Bill Campbell, state amateur runnerup from Huntington, shot a par 71 round for second place and Dick Foutche, another amateur, of Charleston grabbed the third spot with a 73. Bill Dyer of Morgantown was fourth at 75 and State Amateur Champ Ed Tutwiler of Charleston, and pros Buddy Viar of Charleston and Reggie Spencer of Morgantown were tied for fifth at 76.

Series Is Sellout

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Friday that all tickets for the four 1958 World Series games at County Stadium have been sold.

Miami Bows, 20-0

MIAMI (UPI) — Quarterbacks Dale Hackbart and Sid Williams, operating behind a vastly superior line, powered Wisconsin to a 20-0 victory over Miami Friday night before a record season-opening crowd of about 60,000 in the Orange Bowl.

Scoring four of their five touchdowns on runs of 40, 80, 85 and 90 yards, Coach Donald Bullock's Lions from the West Virginia School for the Deaf walloped the Franklin High Panthers yesterday by the score of 33-13 in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Romney.

It was the second straight PVC win for the Lions, who opened last week with a 14-0 decision over Southern High.

In the opening period, Victor Shade set the scoring machinery in motion when he sprinted 40 yards for the first score and Larry Jones ran the point.

The Lions scored twice in the second period on a 17-yard gallop by Curtis Collins and on a pass interception by Walter Luikart, who covered 90 yards in his dash to paydirt. Shade made both conversions on runs to give the home team a 21-0 lead at intermission.

Bobby Moon returned the kickoff 84 yards for another six-pointer early in the third period before Franklin crashed the scoring column. The Panthers registered on a play covering 72 yards with Lambert passing to Wimer who pitched out to Hedrick. Then Kile passed to Lambert for 25 yards for the final Franklin TD.

The loss was Franklin's third in a row. Lineups:

Buddy Young Named Manager Of WEBB

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former football star Claude (Buddy) Young, 32, has been appointed assistant general manager of Radio Station WEBB in Baltimore.

Young has been with the station since its inception 3½ years ago. In 1956, the 5-4 168-pounder retired after nine years as a halfback with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

Fairgo Facts

By C. V. BURNS

Today is Getaway Day at Fairgo and the program will be highlighted by the Clifton W. White Memorial, seventh race on the card. A majority of the horses that raced here head for Hagerstown which opens a 12-day meeting on Monday.

At the close of business yesterday, Robert Littleton, director of wagering, reported that the average was running about $10,000 a day ahead of the 1957 meeting.

The 12-day handle last year was $2,322,115 and so far it is $2,168,784 this year. On the final day in 1957 the betting was $257,557 for the eight races. The average for the meeting a year ago was $193,509.

Beebeedashea, the 8-year-old mare, that was destroyed after breaking a foot during the running of the fourth race yesterday, was named for the wife of Danny Shea, of Hyde, Md., owner of the Merryland Farm. Mrs. Shea's nickname is "Beebee."

Forty-six per cent of the favorites have won at Fairgo to date. In 88 races 41 first choices have finished on top.

Favorites annexed five of the eight events yesterday. And Charles Sinclair, program selector, had 4 out of 8 on the nose.

It is legal for a jockey to use the whip on a first time starter at Maryland tracks, according to the stewards. This argument came up the other day when a jockey used the whip on a two-year-old running its first race. Some states, however, prohibit the use of the whip.

Catholic Youth League To Open

Broom Party, Onyx Repeat; Larking Niz Pays $125.60

Trainer Greco Cops Pair On Maryland Day

Counterparty Pays $23.20; Reynolds Hikes Wins To 23

Nuncy J. Greco, of Laurel, who has been dubbed the "Perry Como of the Half Milers" because he started on the road to fame as a trainer via the barber shop, took most of the bows at Fairgo on Maryland Day when he saddled a pair of winners and collected two United States Savings Bonds, which were presented to him by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin and Gen. James Patrick Devereux, of Baltimore county, the Republican nominee for governor at the November election.

Mr. Greco sent Arthur L. Beall's Broom Party postward in the second number on the card and the favored 8-year-old chestnut gelding won by one length over Creek Creek in the five furlongs sprint, with apprentice Lawrence Reynolds in the saddle, in 55 4/5. The winner paid $3.80.

In this affair, apprentice John Sollars lodged an objection against the winner, claiming a foul was committed as the horses entered the stretch but it was disallowed by the stewards.

McKeldin Presents Bond

The governor was introduced by J. Glenn Beall, Jr., treasurer of the Cumberland Fair Association, and the state's chief executive presented a bond to the smiling Mr. Greco. Gov. McKeldin told the racegoers that he was in this section for ceremonies marking the opening of a new section of road on Polish Mountain earlier in the day and stated that twenty million dollars is being spent for highway improvements in Western Maryland. He congratulated the trainer and urged the crowd to give a "nice hand" to a great little apprentice rider, "Larry" Reynolds, who rode his 22nd winner of the meeting.

Trainer Greco, the most photographed man on the race track yesterday, bobbed up again in the 7th race when High Ridge Farm's Onyx, with Stanley Small in the pilot house, whipped Babe Page, which ran as the Williams-Lee entry, and Mighty Cross, and returned a $5.20 mutuel after sprinting the five-eighths of a mile in 55 1/5.

Greco Scores Again

Senator J. Glenn Beall, president of the Cumberland Fair Association, introduced Gen. Devereux, Maryland Congressman and distinguished Marine, who presented the second bond to Mr. Greco during the afternoon.

The Maryland Day program attracted a crowd of 3,531 persons and the mutuel handle was $201,680, the third highest of the meeting. The wagering was $3,119 or 1.5 per cent above the corresponding day in 1957. The 11-day handle of $2,168,784 is $104,225 or 5 per cent more than last year's total for the same number of days.

William D. Thomas, of Bryn Mawr, Pa., saddled his fourth winner of the meeting in the opening race on yesterday's card when Wesley C. Stillwell's Tekram defeated Miss Tiara by a length in a 6½ furlongs affair and returned $13.60 for $2. The winner, ridden by Earl Phelps, was third choice in the betting. Nanda Devi, the favorite, finished third.

Tekram (5) and Broom Party (4), the winning daily double combination, paid $38.20. The double pool was $22,222.

Winner Pays $125.60

The largest payoff of the meeting on a winner was hung up in the third when Alvin L. Christman's Larking Niz, the longest price on the board, won under the guidance of Tommy Lee, the Chinese jockey, and backers of the 3-year-old filly received $125.60, $40.20 and $13 for win, place and show tickets. The previous high of the meeting was $85.60 on Regal Pass in the eighth race September 16.

Mrs. Josephine Hurchalla's Inquest won the fourth by three lengths over Bold Relic while Nell Keegan took show money. In this 6½ furlongs test, Beebeedashea, an 8-year-old brown mare owned by Mrs. Vernon T. Mercer and trained by William D. Thomas, suffered a broken left foot while coming fast on the outside in the middle of the stretch and was destroyed after being removed from the track. Beebeedashea looked like a winner before she was pulled up in front of the grandstand by Jockey Earl Phelps.

Air Warrior Scores

Air Warrior, a 3-year-old gelding, owned by Edward S. Voss, Jr., and trained by Mrs. George A. Saportas, Jr., of Monkton, Md., copped the major portion of the $1,000 purse in the fifth by beating Hasty Bunnie by two lengths. Monika finished third.

It was Mrs. Saportas' second winner of the meeting. In 1952 the woman trainer set an all-time record here by saddling 11 winners in ten days. Air Warrior, with Jay Hause in the saddle, paid $6.20, and was the third

Round Table Is Heavily Favored In Woodward

NEW YORK (AP)—Round Table will be a heavy favorite Saturday to win the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park, and pass Nashua as the No. 1 money winning race horse of all time.

The durable 4-year-old colt from the Kerr Stables will meet seven others in the mile-and-one-quarter race, and the task should be easier. This is because a handicap, weight-for-age conditions will prevail.

Clem, who upset Round Table in his last two starts, and Nadir are the ones expected to cause the most trouble. Others entered were Cohoes, Inside Tract, Civet, Third Brother, and Reneged.

Petersburg's Vikings, stepping out of the Potomac Valley Conference for a contest, had their three-game victory snapped yesterday when battling the Charles Town Panthers to a 6-6 deadlock at Petersburg.

The Vikings appeared headed for their fourth triumph in a row when they pushed across a touchdown in the third quarter to open the game's scoring. A 10-yard pass from Bill Reynolds to Doug Harman provided the tally as the latter plucked the ball from the air on the eight and raced into the end zone.

But the charges of William "Honey" Crites couldn't stave off the thrusts of the Panthers, who fought back for the tying TD in the final heat on a 20-yard drive off-tackle by fullback Lloyd Jackson.

Each team tried to tack on its extra point on runs, but both defensive units prevented what would have turned out to be the winning margin.

Columbia Makes Sweep Of Races With Sceptre

U.S. Yacht Takes Fourth Straight, Retains Trophy

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Columbia, proud aristocrat of the Atlantic, sent Sceptre back to Britain Friday a badly beaten challenger—victim of a four-race sweep in the historic America's Cup Regatta.

She swept over the 24-mile triangular course in three hours, four minutes and 22 seconds, leaving the disillusioned pride of the Royal Yacht Squadron plodding three quarters of a mile in her wake.

Wins By 7 Minutes

Columbia's margin of victory was seven minutes and five seconds, carved out in a choppy sea swept by winds of 16 to 22 knots. If hapless Sceptre had any hope of altering the course of things, she lost it at the start.

As if the gall of her inglorious defeat was not bad enough, racing luck poured new salt into the Britishers' wounds. They had a recall start. A jib jammed at the first mark.

Then early on the second leg the Sceptre's bosomy red, white and blue Parisienne sail, known as the Brigitte Bardot, became unfastened, and for a minute fluttered wildly before it could be secured.

Sceptre Is Recalled

Cunningly Mann forced Columbia out around the committee boat, seconds before the starting gun and then took a hard running shot at the line. Sceptre was two boat lengths ahead of Columbia when she hit the line but she was two feet over the imaginary starting point. She had to be recalled for another start, and Columbia could sail on out to sea.

By the time Sceptre pointed her nose into the wind on the first eight-mile windward leg, she was trailing by several boat lengths and drawing fleeting Columbia's dirty wind.

It was obvious then that the next few hours would be like those of the preceding days—a dull slaughter involving two mismatched antagonists.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Keyser High Golden Tornado devastated its fourth consecutive football opponent yesterday, but was scored upon for the first time this season when it defeated Ridgeley High, 21-6, in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Keyser.

Keyser, unbeaten in the PVC since 1953, and conference champions for four successive years, had held its first three foes of the campaign—Charles Town, Parsons and Beall—scoreless.

The Clarkmen tallied a pair of six-pointers in the opening period and tacked on another in the second. Francis Sidley booted home two extra points while tackle Jerry Shumaker toed the other one through.

On the second play of the game junior Gary Keedy, Keyser quarterback, tucked the ball in on a keep play and rambled 54 yards around right end to pay dirt. The speedy Keedy, in Keyser's next series of downs, tried his other sideline and galloped 59 yards for his second TD.

Dick Wilson, substitute halfback, closed out the winners' scoring when he went into the end zone on a 7-yard plunge through the center of the Ridgeley line.

Although Keyser failed to score in the final half it dominated the rushing statistics with a total of 208 yards, while the Blackhawks, throwing 23 passes during the contest, were held to 108 yards on the ground.

Cumberland Officials Request SRC To Give Cost Of Thruway

The Maryland State Roads Commission, at the request of the Mayor and Council, said yesterday it will give a "realistic" accounting of cost involved in the Cumberland Thruway project including estimates on those which could greatly affect the future development of the city.

Exploratory talks on financing the project were held in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday. Mechanics of the contract with the SRC and actual erection of the bridge were also discussed.

The "realistic" estimates of cost to the city in regard to the project, its construction, relocation of utilities and lighting, will also include the possibility, as proposed by the city, that if financing could be arranged, the State Roads Commission would take over the entire project. This could be realized, it was explained, through a bond issue by the city and supplementing of the present contract with the SRC.

Bonnell In Favor

In answer to a question from SRC member John J. McMullen, this city, about the proposal that the SRC take over the entire project as suggested by the city, Chairman Robert O. Bonnell said he was in favor of the plan if the city could work out the financing.

The city and commission felt that time is important in compiling the figures, and they will be considered in conferences among Norman O. Pritchett, chief SRC engineer, Al Grubb, SRC bridge engineer; and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden served as spokesman for the Mayor and Council yesterday. Carscaden had a prepared statement which was submitted to the commission but in the interest of saving time, gave a brief resume of the city's position.

Mr. Carscaden said responsibility in the cost of relocating utilities should be worked out since the city contends it is a matter between the state and the utilities.

Continuing that the "city must know its cost," Carscaden said it must determine the extent of its obligation under the contract and also its total cost of the Thruway as well as the annual cost after completion.

Bond Issue Source

If the city knows what its cost is, Mr. Carscaden said it can consider means of getting the money—through a bond issue. He said since the city's share of construction costs — $490,000 — is being paid from state gas and motor vehicle revenues, the only source of additional money is a bond issue. Carscaden then dealt briefly with the defeat of a proposed tax limitation increase and defeat of a $500,000 bond issue during the last administration. This brought from Mr. Bonnell the question whether the city has any assurance it could successfully float a bond issue for thruway purposes.

Mr. Carscaden said council feels that way and added the reason the bond issue was defeated previously was that citizens did not have sufficient information on what the money was for and did not want to give a "blank check" to the governing body.

Mr. Carscaden said council feels a bond issue would be approved—possibly without a referendum—if citizens know terms of the Thruway contract and what revenue from the bond sale will go toward.

Look To Future

Mr. Bonnell said the SRC is trying to give the city and the state the best possible facility and at the same time he advised any studies which are made look to the future development of Cumberland. He said it was a great opportunity for future planning and if done now, would probably result in great savings.

Mr. Pritchett said Thruway plans are well along but utility relocation facilities have not been developed. He also stressed the need for looking ahead to future development and said changes made in plans since the first non-detailed ones were approved have been designed to give the city a better facility, help business, reduce property depreciation and improve the traffic flow. He said the city is much better off under present plans than it was under those proposed in 1956.

The meeting was held in an atmosphere of cooperation. Mr. Carscaden expressed the hope the SRC might be able to lend engineering assistance to the city and emphasized it will take long-range planning by Cumberland to raise funds necessary for the Thruway project.

Attending the session here were SRC Chairman Bonnell, SRC Commissioners McMullen and Edgar T. Bennett; Pritchett, Grubb; G. Bates Chaires, SRC district engineer; Mayor Keech, Carscaden, Commissioners Lucile Roeder, John J. Long, Philmore Fleming and G. Ray Light; Nuzum and Attorney Fred Puderbaugh, this city.

Creek Sewage Survey Plan Is Delayed

The matter of advertising for an engineering survey of the Georges Creek Valley for sewage purposes is still uncertain.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday received a reply from the American Society of Civil Engineers concerning the explanation offered last week to the organization by Gorman E. Getty, county attorney.

The society had charged that the county's method of advertising for engineering proposals for the sewage survey as directed by the State Board of Health was unethical.

The society contended its members as a matter of ethics do not compete against each other in bidding for work.

Getty, in the explanation, pointed out that on work costing over $1,000, (the survey is estimated to cost much more than that), the county commissioners are required by state law to ask for bids.

William H. Wisely, New York, executive secretary of the ASCE, answered Getty by referring to court decisions in Texas, Louisiana and Ohio in similar cases.

These were of the view that the legislatures, when drawing up the laws concerning advertising for county work, did not intend for professional people to compete against each other.

Many public agencies, Wiseley pointed out, function under statutes that require bids to be taken for certain purchases or contracts.

The courts have consistently ruled, however, that such regulations do not apply to professional services, he added.

Members of the ASCE, he declared, are not likely to quote a price as an element of a proposal for engineering services when they are aware that other engineers have been required to furnish similar proposals.

"I am sure the practice is also followed in the legal profession," he said.

Consequently, any request that a price be quoted usually results in the client being denied services of competent firms.

Wiseley urged the commissioners to review suggestions in an earler letter. The county commissioners would select an engineer to do the survey, which would do the work and then submit the bill.

But Getty yesterday said the county commissioners have two alternatives—seek a declaratory decree in Circuit Court to clear up the intent of the law concerning professional services, or to accept the single bid submitted by Baker-Wibberly of Hagerstown.

Baker-Wibberly last week, however, contended in a letter to the commissioners, that the firm still considered the method used by Getty in advertising for proposals was ethical.

But the engineering firm said it wanted to get for itself a clear cut opinion from the ASCE.

The county board then agreed to hold up any action, pending the decision awaited by Baker-Wibberly.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — How many of you bright little boys and girls remember Mischa Auer, whose comedy was extremely popular on the screen about twelve or more years ago?

Well, Mischa is back in town after ten years in Europe. He was a luncheon guest of makeup chief Wally Westmore in the Paramount Commissary and took time out to say he is a grandfather for the first time. His son, Tony, has just had a baby.

Five of the years Mischa spent in France, where he was active in French motion pictures. When asked why he came back he said he didn't want to forfeit his American citizenship, so now he is going to settle down here. He suddenly finds himself well-known again because of the release of his old movies on TV.

It will be very interesting to see if Fess Parker, who won world-wide fame as Davy Crockett for Walt Disney, will do as well without Walt. Fess has terminated his contract with Disney, who was never one to hold an actor against his will.

On "The Hangman" set at Paramount Fess said he had bought the Harold Shumate story, "The Old Maiden," in which he will be starred in conjunction with Batjac Productions. For the first time he says he will be playing a strictly modern character.

Fess was the idol of every child but I suppose the coonskin era couldn't go on indefinitely. However, Walt does very well by everyone under contract to him.

The world-wide search to find an actor to replace Gordon Scott in "Tarzan" has Johnny Weissmuller drooling at the mouth. Johnny, whose "Tarzan" was so popular it started a riot in Moscow when it was shown not too long ago, has taken off almost fifty pounds. He is completely off alcohol and he looks great. For eight years he has been seen as "Jungle Jim." He feels since they want his son to play the son of Tarzan, why wouldn't he be all right for Mr. Tarzan?

I don't know what the answer to this is — maybe Sy Weintraub, president of Sol Lesser Productions, who plans to spend $1,500,000 on "Tarzan's World Adventures," might have the answer, also Paramount who is in on the financing.

Merle Oberon telephoned to cancel a dinner she was hostessing on Sunday. She is leaving that day for New York with her husband, Bruno Pagliai, who will arrive Saturday. They leave October third for Europe, Egypt and India.

I remember the last time Merle visited Egypt. She arrived with Irene Dunne and the rest of us who had been in Jerusalem. There was quite a hassle over her jewels. She finally got so annoyed she said to the immigration official, "Just keep them here until I leave." This time Merle says she is not taking a jewel.

She is going to Kashmir in the north of India and will really be right in the hotbed of dissention.

Some kind friend (?) of Robert Young's tipped him off that he was to be a guest of Ralph Edward's "This Is Your Life" show. Being honest, Robert told Ralph that in all fairness he had to tell him he knew that he had been chosen as a guest, so naturally, there was nothing for Ralph to do but cancel him.

Bob said it had its funny side, because he kept kidding Betty, Mrs. Young, who kept the secret and denied over and over again there was any truth to it.

All of us who love Hope Lange and Don Murray are very glad that Hope is well again. She had a very close call with the threatened loss of her expected baby. She was in London but has now joined Don in Ireland on the location of "Shake Hands with the Devil."

Hope's mother, Mrs. Winnett Lange, has just arrived in Dublin, and Don's mother and father are already there. They have all moved into a house on the outskirts of Dublin to be on hand when Hope's baby arrives October 1st.

Three Wills Entered In Court For Probate

The wills of three Allegany County persons were admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Marie Lamb, who died August 30, made her niece, Ethel Pierce, Frostburg, executrix and beneficiary of her estate.

Two Area Students Enroll At Roanoke

SALEM, Va. — Two students from the Cumberland area have registered at Roanoke College here for the 1958-1959 session. They are Roberta Jean Riggleman, 112 Perry Avenue, McCoole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt Riggleman, a graduate of Bruce High School, Westernport; and Charles David Litzenburg, 405 Cumberland Street, Cumberland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom V. Litzenburg, Sr., a graduate of Staunton Military Academy, Staunton, Va.

Twentieth-century Spain ranks the Alhambra, 14th century fortress-palace in Granada, as one of its rarest national treasures. Yet, England's duke of Wellington once declined the Alhambra as a gift, considering it impractical.

CHRYSLER
1956 Studebaker Commander 4-dr. Sdn.
This is another Potomac Motors special, one in hundred trade in. This is a 2 tone finish car of tan and white that looks like new. The interior is a contrasting 2 tone of plastic and nylon upholstery. The V-8 engine and all mechanical parts are in A-1 condition. The equipment includes heater, defroster, radio, side mirrors, signal lights, back up lights, white sidewall tires, plus all the other small accessories. The automatic transmission makes this beauty a pleasure to drive. Has been driven about 10,000 miles a year. This is a small car, ideal for the family and easy to park. Try this wonderful buy at our very low price of

ORDER OF COURT

The Petition and Affidavit of Ethel Pierce, Executrix of the Estate of Maria Lamb, deceased, having been read and considered, it is thereupon this 26th day of September, 1958, by the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland, ORDERED that Ethel Pierce, Executrix of the said Estate be and she is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to make public sale of the real estate involved in said proceeding, having first given at least three (3) weeks public notice in some newspaper or newspapers published in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, of the time, place, manner and terms of sale, which shall be as follows:

Said property shall be sold at public auction on the premises of the Liberty Trust Company, Lonaconing Branch, in Allegany County, Maryland, on the 11th day of October, 1958, at ten o'clock a. m. and that the terms of said sale shall be one-third cash on the day of sale and the balance upon delivery of a good and sufficient deed to the purchaser or purchasers thereof.

As soon as may be convenient after making the said sale, the said Executrix shall report to the Court, upon Oath, a full and particular account of his proceeding under the Order, with the name of the purchaser or purchasers, and on ratification of such sale or sales by this Court and upon the payment of the whole purchase money (and not before) the said Executrix by a good and sufficient deed, to be executed and acknowledged agreeably to law, shall convey to the purchaser or purchasers of said property and to his heir, or their heirs, the said property free, clear and discharged of all claim of the heirs at law or creditors of the Estate of Maria Lamb, deceased, and the said Executrix shall bring into this Court the money arising from such sale to be disposed of under the direction of this Court.

Potomac State Homecoming Set October 11

KEYSER — Former students of Potomac State College will be welcomed back Saturday, October 11, for the annual homecoming festivities. Heading the welcoming committee of faculty members and students will be Senator Ralph J. Bean, '32, Moorefield, PSC Alumni Association president.

Those especially honored this year will be members of the classes of 1933, 1938, 1943, 1948, 1953 and 1958.

The election of "Miss Catamount XV," this year's homecoming queen, is included in the pre-homecoming events. The election will take place the week prior to homecoming and is traditionally sponsored by Theta Sigma Chi fraternity.

A bonfire thuse will take place Friday evening at Stayman Field and will be attended by students and early alumni arrivals.

Saturday at 12:15 p. m. the homecoming parade, sponsored by the Circle K Club under the direction of W. E. Michael, sponsor, will begin its march through the downtown section of Keyser. A new feature this year will be the addition of an alumni float sponsored by former alumni presently employed at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Luke.

Potomac State's Catamounts will play host to their traditional rival, the Shepherd College Rams, at the homecoming game scheduled for 2 p. m. at Stayman Field. The ROTC staff will be in charge of half-time ceremonies.

At 6 p. m. Saturday an alumni dinner and business meeting will take place at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club near Burlington. The main speaker for the evening will be Elmo Gower, class of 1931. Gower, also a graduate of West Virginia University, played basketball both here and at the university. While in the service he served on a court-martial board in Germany. He is now practicing law in Silver Spring, Md.

Brief talks will be given by chairmen of the six classes to be honored. A report on the standing of the scholarship fund will be made. Prizes will be awarded to such alumni as the oldest present, the one traveling the greatest distance, and so on.

The homecoming ball, sponsored by the Student Council, begins at 9 p. m. and will run until midnight. Dress will be semi-formal.

An interesting feature this year will be the invitations sent to alumni. Letters will be superimposed on an air-photo of Potomac State's campus.

Alumni dues are $2.50 a year, payable to Kenneth F. Haines, the association's secretary. This includes a year's subscription to the Pasquino.

Persons wishing to contribute to the Alumni Association Scholarship Fund should address their checks to John Rascella, Potomac State College.

The third straight top choice scoed when Homer W. Wageley's Quatre Thell, with Lawrence Reynolds up, finished four lengths in the fore of Cherry Branch in the sixth. In this race Carroll D. Lee, top trainer increased his lead by posting win No. 8 and Reynolds made it 23 firsts in 11 days, three short of the all-time mark of 26 winners credited to Bill Clark in 1955. Quatre Thell was an even money favorite and paid $4.

Like Broom Party, Air Warrior and Quatre Thell, Onyx racked up his second win of the meeting in the 7th.

Counterparty Cops Final

Overlooked in the betting, Howard E. Reesman's Counterparty won the final by 2½ lengths, with Melvin Gerst riding, and returned a $23.20 mutuel. Circle Baby placed, Petit Lion was third and Jingler, first choice in the wagering, finished fourth.

Trial Begins In Slaying Of Midland Guard

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — The brutal slaying of a Lorton reformatory guard by two inmates while he pleaded for his life was described in U.S. District Court here yesterday.

Thomas R. Saunders Jr., who is serving time at the institution for unauthorized use of an automobile, gave the first eye-witness account of the stabbing and beating of the guard, Michael J. Hughes, 40, of Hoadly, Va., last Feb. 13.

Hughes, a former employe of the Celanese Corporation, resided in Midland, Md., until about four years ago.

Gumersindo B. Gomez, 28, and John F. Schoppel, 25, both of Washington, are on trial for the slaying.

Saunders said Gomez and Schoppel were on a table kicking out a window of a dormitory when Hughes entered the room and asked them to accompany him to a detention cell.

Gomez got off the table and swung at Hughes but missed, Saunders said, and the guard knocked him to the floor. Then Schoppel jumped off the table and grabbed Hughes from behind and Gomez "came off the floor and started cutting Mr. Hughes on the neck with a knife," the witness testified.

Saunders estimated that Gomez stabbed the guard 14 or 15 times while Schoppel held him. He said that Hughes pleaded:

"Please stop it boys, you are hurting me."

He said Schoppel finally let Hughes fall to the floor and then started for the door of the dormitory dayroom.

After that, the witness continued, Gomez grabbed a chair and began beating the guard over the head. Schoppel returned and, according to the witness, said:

"Stop hitting him or you'll kill him."

Schoppel, he said, then grabbed Gomez by the arm and pulled him out of the room.

Meanwhile, he said, Hughes remained on the floor for 20 to 25 minutes before help arrived. None of the 40 to 50 inmates in the dormitory went to the guard's aid, Saunders said, because they were frightened.

He also testified that Gomez had been drinking and that he had a knife tied to his wrist with which he had cut a dormitory door earlier.

Earlier, Buddy Riley, a reformatory imate, testified that Gomez and Schoppel were half drunk at the time of the incident.

Oct. 11 Tour Exhibits Are Planned

The North Cumberland Homemakers Club celebrated its ninth anniversary and decided on a tour at the meeting held in the form of a turkey dinner at Fairview Avenue Church Thursday. The tour will be to Springs, Pa., for an Amish festival October 11. It will be made by chartered bus, and is open to other club members who care to go.

Members also were asked to attend the Gettysburg tour, September 30, sponsored by the County Council. Reservations have been extended and are to be made at the Court House. October 3 was given as the deadline for reservations to the county achievement program October 8 at LaVale Methodist Church.

A club achievement day will be held at the meeting October 23. Members are asked to exhibit anything they made during the past year. Mrs. James Orr was named chairman of the nominating committee, which includes Mrs. Ralph Brotemarkle and Mrs. L. E. Watkins. Following the flag salute Mrs. John Marean gave her report.

Mrs. R. W. Trevaskis Sr. offered the invocation and led group singing with Mrs. Harold Fishel at the piano. Mrs. J. F. Zimmerman welcomed the group, gave a history of the club and conducted the meeting. Mrs. John Fradiska sang a solo with Miss Carol Reith at the piano. A skit, "A Bachelor's Reminiscence," was presented by the committee which consisted of Mrs. Charles A. Roeder, chairman, Mrs. J. Frank Young, Mrs. Orr, Mrs. James O'Hara, Mrs. L. E. Watkins, Mrs. John Bauer, Mrs. George Hartung and Mrs. John Reynolds. Miss Mary Wise showed slides of her European trip.

Birthdays of the month were honored and hand crocheted handkerchiefs were presented to Mrs. James Mullan, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Harriet Roby and Mrs. Raymond Farrell. Yellow and rust dahlias and marigolds centered the table. Yellow baskets were given as favors and each member had a miniature yellow candle which burned during the devotional. Special guests were Miss Wise, Miss Nancy Marsteller, Miss Patricia Golden, Mrs. Douglas Smith, county president; Miss Mary Lible, Mrs. Emma Garr, Mrs. Harry Leasure, Miss Margaret Conner, Mrs. Harry A. Smith, Mrs. Cecil Coulehan, Mrs. Elizabeth Crawford, Miss Deloris Scheff, Susan Kilroy, Gay Ann Geatz and Van Roby Jr.

Beall Blasts Attack By Paul Butler

Senator, Devereux, Other Candidates Speak At Rally Here

Senator J. Glenn Beall said here last night that Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler was grasping at straws when he blamed Beall for not getting U. S. 40 west of Hancock into the federal interstate roads system.

The Senator from Frostburg spoke at a Republican rally at LaVale Fire Hall, featuring state and county candidates and attended by more than 100.

His reference to Mr. Butler apparently was provoked by a speech Butler made at a Democratic gathering here ealier this month. In that speech, Mr. Butler implied that it was Senator Beall's fault that Maryland's westernmost section of U. S. 40 was omitted from the federal program.

Senator Beall dismissed Mr. Butler's accusation with the comment that "the national chairman could have determined the facts with a little inquiry, but after all, the boys were grasping at a straw for an issue."

Democrats To Blame

Besides, he said, the blame lies with the previous Maryland administration (Democratic), which he said permitted the Western Maryland segment of U. S. 40 to be dropped from the interstate system when that system was in the planning stage.

"The blame for that rests squarely on the former State Roads Commission, headed and controlled by the opposition party," he said.

Senator Beall said he has tried to change this, but the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads can't make the change without Pennsylvania's approval, which has not been given.

"The present Maryland State Roads Commission worked with me on the Federal Bureau of Roads; we made every effort to get the Western Maryland leg of U. S. 40 included in the system. But the federal bureau remains powerless to change the route without the agreement of Pennsylvania," he said.

With or without the interstate system, he said, it should be evident anyway that U. S. 40 west of Hancock has not been neglected.

He pointed out that only yesterday one of the worst sections of U.S. 40 was eliminated with the formal opening of the Polish Mountain relocation project.

Senator Beall outlined this and other projects which have brought the total spent or still being spent on highways in Western Maryland to over $8,000,000.

Among these were the completion of the Martin Mountain relocation last year, a steel beam bridge over Town Creek, improvement of U.S. 40 west of Frostburg, and improvement of U.S. 219 in Garrett County.

Devereux Raps Tawes

Rep. James P. S. Devereux, the Republican candidate for governor, said his Democratic opponent, J. Millard Tawes, "showed either a lack of knowledge or a deliberate attempt at misrepresentation" when he said Rep. Devereux had voted against the Korean GI Bill of Rights.

Devereux, replying to Tawes' criticism of his voting record, said his opponent "knows practically nothing about the state government (and) now is proving that he is equally ignorant about federal affairs."

He then defended these votes:

In favor of the Benson farm program—"So have a vast majority of other proud and independent-minded farmers of Maryland — and results are proving their wisdom."

Against federal aid for school construction—"We (Republicans) believe that federal aid in our system of public education will lead to federal control."

In favor of giving the states clear title to tideland oil deposits—"I would also vote to keep Maryland fisheries and those of other maritime states under control of the state."

Against one version of the Korean GI Bill of Rights—"I voted against a version of the bill that contained a glaring inequality. When the inequality was corrected in the Senate, I voted for the (amended) bill."

Republican Candidates Welcomed

Property Tax Exemptions To Be Filed Soon

Eligible residents of Allegany County are being reminded that applications for county property tax exemptions will be available at the Court House after October 1.

James Stevenson, clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, said yesterday that applications may be obtained at his office and must be returned no later than December 10.

A man and his wife, widow or widower over 65 who are making less than $100 a month are eligible if they have been residents for five years and living on their own property.

The applications will pertain to 1959 taxes, according to Mr. Stevenson, who said last year was the initial year such exemptions were made in accordance with a law passed in the 1957 session of the General Assembly.

Last year, 239 persons were exempted, and to date this year some 275 persons have indicated they are seeking exemptions. After an application is received the applicant is investigated. The Welfare Board did the investigation work last year, he said.

Church To Seek More Members

Plans for First Church of the Nazarene to take part in the denomination's goal of reaching one million people with a personal testimony and invitation during "Week of Witnessing," October 5-12, were announced yesterday.

Rev. H. E. Heckert, pastor, said the local church will endeavor to bring a "vital Christian witness" to at least 1,200 persons, or more than four times its membership.

County Poultrymen Reminded Of Tour

Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said yesterday that poultrymen of the county may still make reservations to take the poultry growers tour to Chambersburg, Pa., on Wednesday.

About 18 persons have registered and he said that about 30 are necessary to charter a bus suggested by a number of poultrymen. Deadline for reservations is noon Monday, Mr. Steger said.

Firemen Called Out

Firemen from Central station last night received a call to the rear of 33 North Centre Street where garbage in some cans reportedly was on fire. The call was received about 9:45 p. m.

Devereux Backs Junior Colleges, More Industries

James P. S. Devereux, Republican candidate for governor of Maryland last night at a GOP rally in LaVale, stressed two important features of his platform which he deemed vital to Allegany County.

He said he is very much in favor of the proposal of junior colleges, state sponsored and located throughout the state. Many counties cannot afford these colleges and this program will encourage young people to stay in the county, he told a gathering of over 100 persons at the LaVale fire hall.

Mr. Devereux also stressed a state-wide survey of the state's potential to "make the climate here more favorable to industry to come into Maryland."

Sukkos Feast To Be Marked By Jews Here

The Feast of Tabernacles (Sukkos), the Jewish holiday of thanksgiving, will be celebrated from tomorrow through Tuesday, October 7 by B'er Chayim and Beth Jacob congregations.

Rabbi Max Selinger of B'er Chayim congregation said a service tomorrow at 8 o'clock will open its observance of the feast.

Next Friday at 8 p. m. another service will be held. Saturday morning at 10:30 a service will also be held. At that time there will be a consecration of the youngest children entering the B'er Chayim religious school.

Rabbi Bertram Cohen of Beth Jacob congregation, announced services as follows:

Tomorrow and Monday evenings at 7:30 o'clock; Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 a. m.; a special party for Sunday school children tomorrow evening after services.

Services on Sunday, October 5, at 7:30 p. m. and the following morning at 8:30 a. m.; Yizkor (memorial) service at 9:15 a. m.; that evening a service at 7 p. m. followed by a party for rejoicing of the law.

The final service will be on Tuesday, October 7 at 7:30 a. m. Beth Jacob Congregation welcomes any Sunday school or group that would like to view the tabernacle. They are asked to contact Rabbi Cohen at PA 4-7605 for an appointment.

The tabernacle or booth, decorated with fruits and vegetables in season, is used as a dining room to recreate the period of the exodus of the Hebrews from Egypt.

The Feast of Tabernacles is an autumn festival of thankfulness for the blessings of a good harvest. This pious gratitude emphasizes the appreciation of the good things in life.

Bonnell Extends Tribute To SRC Engineering Staff

Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, yesterday gave the SRC engineering staff credit for the Polish Mountain relocation project.

He said the road was a tribute to the dedicated men who plan Maryland's road system.

The 1.9 modernization job, opened yesterday at a cost of $1,594,000, is the fourth to be made on the steep west slope of Polish Mountain since 1928.

Mr. Bonnell added he hoped it would be the last needed.

The new road has one mild curve on its entire stretch. When a reporter asked Chief Engineer Norman M. Pritchett how many curves there were in the old road he said it would be hard to say as it consisted of "continuous" curves.

Mr. Pritchett said ice, which used to glaze Polish Mountain during bad weather, should not be a great problem now, as the present route is a sunny one.

He said that there are only a few hours during winter days — about 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. — when the sun is strong enough to melt ice and snow. The sun rarely shone on some stretches of the old route in winter.

Mr. Bonnell was master of ceremonies at the program which preceded the ribbon-cutting.

He introduced Republican candidates, both county and state, during the program, members of the State Roads Commission and state figures here for the occasion.

Senator J. Glenn Beall, who introduced Governor McKeldin, said the road project marks another milestone in the modernization of the great highway.

The road is a far cry from 1924, Governor McKeldin recalled in relating a hectic drive from Baltimore to Cumberland between 4 a. m. and 9 p. m. in a Model T Ford.

To Hold Dinner

A fried chicken dinner will be served at St. Philip's Church tomorrow from 1 until 6. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

State Plumbers Arrive In City For Convention

The 73d annual convention of the Associated Plumbing Contractors of Maryland opened here yesterday with 84 delegates registering for the two-day meeting.

Registration began yesterday in the Fort Cumberland Hotel and over 100 plumbers are expected to take part in today's activities.

A cocktail party and social hour was held last night for delegates and their wives, followed by an educational film.

The convention will begin at 9:30 today with an invocation and address by Rev. John Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Mayor J. Edwin Keech will welcome the group, and J. Byron Dowling, Health Department sanitarian, will speak.

The business session will continue after lunch, with adjournment set for 5 p. m. It will be followed by the annual banquet at 7 p. m. and a dance at 9 p. m.

A program for the ladies will open at 9:30 tomorrow and will be featured by an address by Mrs. Julius T. Becker, second vice president of the Women's Auxiliary, National Association of Plumbing Contractors.

After the morning business session by the ladies, they will attend a luncheon at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club and later will be taken on a bus tour of the city.

An exhibit has been prepared by the plumbing contractors and is open to public viewing in the basement of the hotel.

Walter N. Yoder, president of the Allegany County Master Plumbers Association, said 20 delegates from this county will attend the convention.

Judge Henderson To Head Chamber's C&O Drive

Former Chief Judge George Henderson has been appointed chairman of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Parkway committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Serving on the committee will be Thomas F. Conlon Jr., J. Glenn Beall Jr. and J. L. Towler.

The committee was created this year for the specific duty of pushing legislation leading to the creation of the C & O Canal Historical Parkway project.

In previous years, the C & O Canal Campaign has been led by the Chamber's Tourist Promotion committee.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce has had its representatives at all hearings held in Congress on the C & O Canal legislation and has carried on a running campaign, both by personal contact and letters and telegrams, during the last session of Congress.

Both Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde have assured all possible aid to the Chamber in its fight for the C & O Canal park plan, which includes a high-level road overlooking the canal in Western Maryland.

Both legislators have said they will introduce C & O Canal legislation when Congress convenes in January.

Another Barrier Goes Down

US Route 40 Rebuilding To Continue

Governor McKeldin Opens Polish Mt. Relocation Project

Governor McKeldin yesterday said the current modernization program of U. S. Route 40, including the Cumberland Thruway, is the first realistic attempt to serve traffic needs of the great highway to the West since the building of the Baltimore Pike in 1821.

Speaking at ribbon-cutting ceremonies on the Polish Mountain relocation project yesterday, the governor said citizens of this area will witness, within a reasonably short time, the reconstruction of the entire stretch of Route 40 in Allegany and Garrett counties.

The governor recounted the history of the National Pike and said that under Maryland's 12-year road program Allegany and Garrett counties will have more money spent for road construction than has been spent in the past 200 years.

The text of Gov. McKeldin's speech follows:

"The opening of this Polish Mountain relocation forges one more link in the chain of projects which is rebuilding U.S. Route 40, the Baltimore Pike throughout Allegany County.

Area Not Neglected

"Last autumn it was my privilege to help dedicate the Martin Mountain project. Now under construction is a new highway, sometimes called the Flintstone Bypass, which levels the valley between Martin and Polish. And today we are opening this new mountain pass, containing the deepest cuts and largest fills in the history of our State.

"Let no man say that Maryland's 12-Year Program, begun in 1954, has neglected this area of our state.

"Under it more money has been and will be spent on highway improvements in Allegany and Garrett counties than the sum total expended here on road construction in the previous 200 years. And that includes the great superhighway of the Nineteenth Century, the National Road west from Cumberland built by the Federal Government in 1811.

"The rebuilding of U.S. 40 in our western counties has been one of the outstanding objectives of the present administration. To bring us up-to-date on the status of this great transcontinental highway, let me briefly trace its history.

Given Priority

"Back in 1936 the first contract was awarded for the dualization of this road out of Baltimore. During the next 15 years dualization continued as far as Ridgeville at a cost of $7,200,000.

"Upon assuming office in 1951 our administration gave immediate priority to pushing this road westward. Seven separate contracts were awarded to complete dualization to the Monocacy River at Frederick. This new road, costing $8,800,000, was opened in 1954. In addition, a new bridge across the Monocacy has been built and the U.S. 40 part of the Frederick Bypass — built to interstate standards — is almost complete. These improvements will cost in excess of $5,000,000.

'Since ancient times the pike through Hagerstown has been blocked by two railroad lines. These grade crossings are being eliminated which, together with other improvements, will cost more than $2,000,000.

"Between Hagerstown and Cumberland only the Sideling Hill improvement had been completed to 1951.

"Our 12-Year Program called for the complete rebuilding of U.S. 40 from the Washington County line through Allegany and Garrett counties. Levelling the mountain tops of Martin and Pol-

PAUL V. HENRY

Army Concert Band To Play Here Sunday

The 100-piece U. S. Army Band of Washington, D. C. will present a free concert tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at Fort Hill School auditorium.

The concert will be under the direction of Major Chester E. Whiting and will be narrated by Paul V. Henry. The program will last about two hours and there will be no admission charge.

Mr. Henry is a native of Malden, Mass., and has been principal narrator for the military band since August 1947. He began his Army service in August 1946, and served with the Navy during World War II.

The concert narrator began his musical career as a violin prodigy and appeared professionally with the family concert group when he was 12 years old.

Later he majored in the violin at a New England conservatory and voice at Harvard University.

Warm For Fall? It's Been Worse

The weather for the past two days, with a high temperature reading of 90 degrees, was just like "the good ole summertime," according to Robert Golden, local weather observer, who has come up with some very hot data.

He said that in September of 1953 the mercury soared to 96 degrees on the 29th, and to 99 degrees on the 30th.

Those temperature readings could be classified as cool, since on the third of that month five years ago the high temperature reading was a sizzling 102 degrees.

On the first day of September that year the reading was an even 100, while on the second day the reading was 101. On the fourth and fifth the temperature was 96 and 90 degrees respectively.

Some relief from the current heat wave may develop today, according to the forecast which indicates temperatures in the high 70s or low 80s.

Increasing cloudiness is also forecast today. The official low temperature reading yesterday was 69 degrees. Humidity last night was about 53 per cent, and the barometer steady.

Supper Monday

A chicken a la king supper will be sponsored by the Calvary Methodist Church music committee Monday from 5 until 8 at the church in Ridgeley.

To Hold Outing

Boy Scout Troop 9 will hold an outing today at the Cresaptown baseball diamond. Boys wishing to join are invited. A lunch will be served and movies will be shown.

Morse Hits U.S. Action In Formosa

Urges Impeachment If Administration Persists In Policy

Administration action on Quemoy may call for impeachment action, Senator Wayne Morse (D-Oregon) declared last night before a Mineral County Democratic rally in Keyser, W. Va.

Senator Morse was the principal speaker at a banquet held in the Moose Home in Keyser to climax an all-day state Democratic rally.

Speaking before some 400 Mineral County Democratic leaders, he said that "Secretary of State Dulles insulted the intelligence of every thinking American in his speech of shocking deception Thursday night.

"This evil man, bent on war, must be checked," he said, "if our nation's glorious record of never having been an aggressor nation is to be preserved." He added in his speech prepared for delivery at Keyser:

Asks UN Action

"We have no international law right on the Quemoys and Matsus and we will be an aggressor nation if we become militarily involved there. Red Russia Red China and Chiang are violating the United Nations charter by aggressive action over the Quemoys and Matsus. We should not become an aggressor nation along with them. As I proposed in January 1955, we should insist that the United Nations take action to preserve peace in the Formosan Straits.

"Eisenhower and Dulles are not keeping faith with the Congress. As I urged on August 29, a special session of Congress should be called immediately.

"On February 9, 1955, the Senate ratified the Chiang Treaty with the distinct pledge from the Administration that any neutral agreement over the Quemoys and Matsus would be brought back to the Senate for ratification. Eisenhower and Dulles are not keeping their commitment to the Senate.

"The American people need to be warned that the President and Dulles have become irresponsible men by their warmongering over the Quemoys and Matsus.

Calls For Halt

"They have permitted Chiang to move thousands of troops to the islands within a stone's throw of the Chinese mainland. They are permitting a corrupt ex-Chinese war lord to endanger the lives of American boys. They should make it clear to their puppet, Chiang, that he will stand alone in this civil war over the Quemoys and Matsus.

"We should defend Formosa to the hilt until its sovereignty is determined by the United Nations, but we have no business killing American boys over the Quemoys and Matsus.

"The leaders of the Democratic party owe it to the American people to speak up in this hour of crisis. If Eisenhower and Dulles persist in the policy based on warlike acts over the Quemoys and Matsus, they should be impeached."

Candidates Attend

George E. Barger, Keyser, candidate for House of Delegates; Paul Allamong, Keyser, who is running for county commissioner; W. Va. Senator Clarence W. Martin, Charleston, and Jo F. Burdett, Point Pleasant, candidate for Secretary of State, were introduced.

Judicial candidates present were Harlan C. Calhoun, Moorefield, for a two-year vacancy on the Court of Appeals; Thornton G. Berry, Welch for a six-year term, and Jennings Randolph, Elkins, who is a candidate to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Neely.

Robert C. Byrd, Raleigh County, who is seeking the six-year Senate post, was unable to be present but is scheduled to speak at a mass meeting at the Court House in Keyser October 6.

Rep. Harley Staggers, Keyser, introduced Mr. Randolph and Senator Morse.

Turning to domestic issues, he blasted the administration which he said had "brought depression to many areas of the nation, and recession to all."

Morse said West Virginia was one of the hardest hit areas of the nation with 8.7 per cent of workers covered by unemployment compensation insurance now drawing on those benefits for their existence.

"I need not dwell on the extent of unemployment in West Virginia," he said, "but I certainly do want to dwell on the irresponsibility of an administration that not only contributed to it, but has refused to let Congress take the necessary steps to correct it."

Little Rock Set For Vote Today On Integration

New Va. Court Test Scheduled

By The Associated Press

Race mixing in the public schools comes to a ballot box showdown in Arkansas Saturday and to a new legal test in Virginia.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said that if the integrationists win—which he did not expect—he would allow desegregation without further interference of all Little Rock schools with their 20,308 students.

A win by the segregation forces will be a mandate, he said, to proceed with plans for opening the high schools as segregated private institutions. He viewed refusal of a U.S. district judge to rule on the private school plan as a strengthening development.

Baltimore Setting

The setting for the Virginia court test is in nearby Baltimore. The U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals was called into emergency session there to hear arguments—and probably rule—on appeals for a year's delay in lower court orders for integration at Front Royal and in Norfolk, Va.

The educational future of 11,000 pupils, 1,000 at Front Royal and 10,000 at Norfolk, hinged directly on the decisions; that of many more thousands, indirectly.

Already closed to evade race mixing are the Warren County High School at Front Royal and a high school and elementary school at Charlottesville, Va. School opening at Norfolk has twice been postponed for the same purpose and if integration is forced, automatic closing is in prospect there under state law.

Little Rock and Baltimore were the focal points in the South's integration crisis. There were significant developments elsewhere.

N. C. Hearing Postponed

In North Carolina, where integration has been undertaken only in tiny, token number, a court hearing was indefinitely postponed on legal devices by which the state keeps the races apart in the classroom. The delay was ordered by U.S. Judge Edwin Stanley at Durham to allow opposing attorneys to resolve legal technicalities in a suit by which two Negro mothers seek to force the admission of their children to Durham all-white schools.

In Louisiana, the public schools in 20 parishes (counties) observed a one-day closing Friday as a demonstration of support of Little Rock segregationists. The movement had the support of several church congregations.

Segregationists in Front Royal and Charlottesville, Va., went ahead with plans for private segregated classes to replace the public schools closed under the state's massive resistance program.

Plans are afoot for similar ventures at Norfolk where about 50 pupils Friday signed a petition pleading: "We don't ask for segregation or integration. We want education."

U.N. Diplomats Seek Formosa Peace Formula

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—U. N. diplomats sought Friday to work out a formula for easing tension over the Formosa crisis.

They conferred in an atmosphere of discouragement stemming mostly from inability to gain substantial concession from either the United States or Communist China.

India was among the nations probing Western and Communist positions in an effort to find some way to break the present deadlock. V. K. Krishna Menon, India's defense minister, has publicly offered his country's good offices to aid in easing tensions.

Secretary of State Dulles saw British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville separately during the day.

Nothing official was released on the conferences. But Lloyd has talked with Menon, who is reported receiving information from Peiping by way of New Delhi.

It was assumed that Lloyd filled in Dulles on his talks with Menon, and also on conversations held earlier with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko. Menon has been in contact with Gromyko, and talked Friday with Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, head of the U.S. delegation.

Gromyko was reported under pressure from Britain, Canada and Norway to try to persuade the Chinese Communists to agree to a cease-fire. But there was no indication he had consented.

The United States is insisting on a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait before participating in any talks about the status of the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

India was reported hopeful of achieving a situation under which the firing would stop without any formal agreement. Diplomats call this a "de facto" arrangement.

It was understood India was seeking agreement on a proposal to make the offshore islands a kind of "no-man's land," while talks are under way for an overaall Formosa settlement. Under this proposal the Chinese Nationalists would withdraw their forces from the islands, and the Chinese Reds would promise not to attempt any landings while talks are in progress.

Not Hurt By What They Didn't Know

It didn't stay in there long. A group of men quickly came to the aid of the driver, 33-year-old Francis Loter of Hugo, Okla., and put the trailer back on the highway.

Loter said Thursday night he waited until the men had righted the trailer before telling them of its cargo—a 20-foot python snake on its way to a circus in Memphis.

Average American's Lettuce Intake Soars

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—An average American is eating almost twice as much lettuce now as he did before World War II.

John Carew, a crops specialist at Michigan State University, says the increase mainly is due to diets. Only a rabbit gains weight on lettuce.

BLASTOFF—Carrying a 21-pound satellite about the size of a basketball, a Vanguard rocket blasts away from its launching pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla., yesterday. All stages of the missile fired but hours later it was not determined if the satellite was pushed into orbit. Dr. John P. Hagan, project director, said chances were slim that the U. S. had a fifth "moon" in orbit. (AP Photofax)

Burmese Army Takes Power In Bloodless Coup

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — The army seized power Friday night in Burma. Gen. Ne Win, commander-in-chief of the armed forces, was asked to head a new government and he agreed.

Premier U Nu announced Ne Win had accepted an invitation to head a government and had agreed to hold general elections before next April 30.

U Nu appealed to the people to give their support to the general.

In a letter to the general, U Nu said he would advise President U Win Maung to summon Parliament to meet Oct. 28, at which time U Nu would resign and Ne Win would be named premier.

In his reply, Ne Win pledged to follow a neutralist policy in foreign affairs.

The army take-over apparently came without incident.

Ne Win, 48, is strongly anti-Communist. He has been quoted as saying "we must fight the Reds tooth and nail."

He visited the United States last year for medical treatment and while in Washington conferred with American military and defense officials.

As chief of the armed forces, he has headed an army of 60,000 to 80,000 men.

Architect, Told He'd Won Million, Just Came Close

William Hayward, a young architect, all but dropped the phone he had been clutching for what seemed like hours Thursday night. His wife, Margaret, let out a wild cheer, then just as wildly hugged him.

This was it. The news they had been waiting for in their recently rented home, unfurnished except for barest needs. Chairs, a mattress on the floor for baby. Another for the parents.

Hayward, 28, teaches architecture at the University of Pennsylvania, having come on not long ago from the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. He, with the help of two colleagues, entered a worldwide contest sponsored by Toronto, Canada. The competition was for a design for its new 18-million-dollar city hall.

To the winner would go a million in architect's fees. From more than 600 entries Hayward emerged as one of eight finalists.

A scalding doubt came when it dawned on Hayward that the winner was supposed to be told by telegram. The caller had been a Toronto Star reporter. The reporter said he'd recheck.

An hour later the Star related sadly there had been a mistake, that the winner wouldn't be announced until Friday.

Hayward still had a chance.

Their nerves jangled, he and his wife finally went to bed. They slept badly, of course.

At 10 a.m. Friday a telegram was delivered. Hayward fumbled it open. It read: "Viljo Rewell is the winner . . ."

Missile's Mighty Engines Fired In Proper Sequence

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A temperamental Navy Vanguard rocket blasted a weather-probing satellite high in space Friday but the fate of the 22-pound sphere was a mystery.

"At this time we just don't know what happened," said Dr. John P. Hagan, director of project Vanguard.

Hagan expressed the belief that there was little hope that this Vanguard would become the fifth American satellite to orbit around the globe.

Grim-faced and nervously twisting a pencil through his fingers, the chief scientist in the Vanguard program told a news conference that "the best presumption we can make at this time is to assume that the chances are greater that the Vanguard is not in orbit."

Answer May Take Days

He said it may be several days before telemetry data is analyzed and the complete story is known.

The slim 72-foot missile, jinxed by a miserable record of only one success in six previous launchings, bolted up from a white-hot pool of fire at 10:38 a.m. The initial liftoff seemed perfect despite a brisk westerly wind that whipped in over the Cape.

Minutes later an optimistic Navy announcement said the three mighty engines in the rocket fired in proper sequence.

The latest Vanguard carried a 20-inch ball equipped with two photo-electric cells to measure the movement and disposition of the earth's cloud cover and as an aid to improving long - range weather forecasting.

Signals Recieved

Hagan said shortly after the launching normal signals from the satellite were received at the cape, at Johannesburg, South Africa, and at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

The signals picked up at these three stations came at about the time when the satellite should have been making its first swing through orbit.

Hagan said not too much faith could be placed in the optimistic reports of the three stations because so far the satellite signal has not been picked up on the West Coast.

More Supplies Reach Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Nationalists cracked the Communist blockade of Quemoy Friday with another supply landing operation under a hail of Red gunfire.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry claimed the landing was completely successful, and all ships withdrew unharmed.

The convoy of big LSTs (Landing Ships, Tank) steamed to a point about four miles off Liaolo Beach. Then the supplies for the Quemoy defenders were moved in the rest of the way with small amphibious, tracked vehicles that are known as Alligators. Discharged from the LSTs, the Alligators plowed through surging breakers with two or three tons of cargo each. Communist shells splattered the beach area, throwing up geysers of sand, mud and water.

Reporters at the scene said there was at least one near miss but no direct hits during the risky operation.

U.S. To Provide India With Surplus Grain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Friday agreed to provide India with $238,800,000 worth of surplus wheat and other grains to meet an acute food shortage.

The agreement, providing for repayment in Indian rupees, was signed by Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter and Harishwar Dayal, India's charge d'affaires, at the State Department.

It was the third suuplus commodities agreement between the two countries. It brought the total value of U.S. surplus farm products for India to $664,200,000 since August 1956.

Typhoon Ida Takes Heavy Toll In Japan

At Least 85 Dead, Thousands Homeless

The full extent of disaster in early morning darkness was still not known at daybreak.

National police headquarters at 4 a.m. reported that besides 85 dead and 183 injured, 69 were missing and 401,000 homes were flooded to some extent.

There were no reports of American casualties.

Other reports to police said 21 vessels were lost and 11 damaged. The British freighter Eskcliffe, caught 70 miles off shore, sent a distress call Friday saying she was out of fuel and adrift with 37 men aboard.

Rain in Tokyo for 24 hours was a record 16 inches.

Weather experts had feared Typhoon Ida would equal Typhoon Muroto that struck Sept. 21, 1934, killing 2,700 and injuring 10,000.

Ida, officially listed as typhoon No. 22 this year, struck the area four years to the day after the storm that sank the ferryboat Toya Maru and other ships with loss of 1,447 Japanese and American lives.

Tippler Accepts Challenge, Dies

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Veteran tippler Jose Corchero was dead Friday after accepting a challenge to see who could drink the most gin.

Corchero and the unidentified challenger promptly consumed a bottle each and then ordered additional drinks to break the draw. Cochero fell dead. His contender quietly walked away.

Police found the challenger had been drinking water in a gin bottle. An immediate search for him was ordered and the bartender was held for questioning.

Ike Names Paarlberg As Economic Adviser

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower reached into the Agriculture Department Friday for a new personal economic adviser. He chose Don Paarlberg, an assistant secretary and one of the chief architects of administration farm policy.

The 47-year-old Paarlberg, who succeeds Gabriel Hauge in the post, promptly told a news conference he would advise Eisenhower on economic affairs "in the broad sense" and would not be a special pleader for agriculture.

He also said the threat of inflation was considerable and that it was very important to try to check the danger. In that connection, he said he subscribed to the Lincoln philosophy that government should do for the people only what they could not do themselves.

U.S.-Russian Feud Develops At Atom Parley

The Soviet delegation launched a sharp attack on the United States at a conference session. Friday night, the American delegation boycotted a reception given by the Russians.

Reports heard at IAEA headquarters said the Americans were affronted by the Soviet attack. John A. McCone, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and chief American delegate, declined to comment. Asked why the Americans stayed away from the reception, he said "We were otherwise engaged."

In the session that kicked off the row, the Russians charged the United States with trying to make a profit out of the atoms-for-peace group.

The United States denied the charge. Western delegates asserted more progress would be made if the Soviet Union would contribute more material aid and less criticism.

The trouble began when chief Soviet Delegate V.I. Emilyanov accused the United States of having proposed establishment of the agency for financial profit and political propaganda.

The international agency was constituted a year ago on President Eisenhower's suggestion that nations of the world cooperate in harnessing atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

Emilyanov declared the United States wants to make a big profit out of its offer to place 5,000 kilograms of Uranium 235 at the disposal of the agency by selling it above market level.

U.S. Has Forts Abroad Only To Defend Freedom, Ike Tells Ligonier Audience

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower said Friday that the United States and its allies maintain forts overseas only to defend freedom.

Speaking at the commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the building of Ft. Ligonier during the French and Indian War, the President said: "Ft. Ligonier reminds us also today that this nation and our allies are maintaining forts in distant lands."

"In so doing," he said, "We have but one purpose, to defend freedom, to help free men who are fighting to protect freedom."

The President flew from Washington to Johnstown, Pa. Friday morning, rode in a motorcade the 28 miles to this community on the western foothills of the Allegheny Mountains. Big crowds greeted him at Johnstown and thousands more lined Ligonier streets.

The President was the guest of Gen. Richard King Mellon, longtime Republican backer and a prominent Pittsburgh financier and philanthropist. Following his speech, Eisenhower went to a private reception at the Mellon estate, near Ligonier, before returning to Washington.

The President drove back to Johnstown and left there by plane at 5:24 p.m. (EDT). He landed in Washington at 5:58 p.m. at Washington National Airport and five minutes later flew by Army helicopter on the short trip across the Potomac River to the White House.

Ft. Ligonier, which was reconstructed for this bicentennial, originally was erected under the direction of British Gen. John Forbes during the struggle between the French and English for control of the lands west of the Alleghenies.

As the President was leaving the rostrum following his speech, a 10-year-old boy ran up to him. The chief executive bent over to put an arm around the youngster's shoulder and walked slowly for a moment, talking to him.

The boy, Pat Egan, of Unionville, Pa., later told newsmen: "I asked him for his autograph. He told me to write him a letter."

Deadly Storm Bears Down On Carolinas

"Very Dangerous" Helene Packs Top Winds Of 125 MPH

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Deadly hurricane Helene, packing 125-mile-an-hour winds, plowed toward the South Carolina coast Friday night as hundreds of residents in low-lying areas fled inland.

"This is a very dangerous hurricane," the weather bureau said in a 7 p.m. (EST) advisory, "and all islands, beaches and waterfront areas should be evacuated to prevent loss of life as many escape routes will be covered by water. . ."

The bureau said "winds will become destructive by 10 p.m. (EST) Friday night reaching hurricane force near midnight."

As the bureau issued this emergency warning, the season's eighth hurricane was centered 120 miles southeast of this old port city. Helene was whirling forward at 12 miles per hour toward the northwest direction she had followed practically all day.

Large Area Warned

The emergency warning was directed to the entire coastline from Savannah, Ga., northward to Cape Fear, near North Carolina's southeastern tip.

"Coastal areas from Beaufort, S.C., to Cape Fear will be flooded by storm tides, high waves and heavy seas to heights of 7 to 10 feet above normal levels and probably higher in some localities," the weather bureau said.

"All persons within reach of these tides should evacuate immediately before escape is cut off by rising waters."

The next high tide here is scheduled at 6:44 a.m. (EST) Saturday. Up the coast at Myrtle Beach, S.C., high tide will arrive at 7:14 a.m.

Ilsa Following Helene

Meanwhile, Hurricane Ilsa was closely watched as she beat a northwest path toward the North American mainland. By early evening, she was 325 miles east-northeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico, traveling about 10 miles an hour. Her central wind speed was reported at about 115 miles an hour.

Observers at Charleston said that center of Helene, if it remains on its present course will hit the Charleston - Georgetown area. Metropolitan Charleston has a population of about 200,000.

From Edisto Island, 30 miles south of Charleston, to Pauley's Island, 60 miles to the north, beach residents began moving out. The tourist season at these summer play spots wound up about Labor Day, but there are thousands of year-round residents.

Pawley's Island, struck disastrously by 1954's Hurricane Hazel, was almost deserted early Friday afternoon. Sheriff Garris Cribb said at Georgetown, 11 miles south of the island, that any who attempted to remain would be forcibly taken off the exposed island.

Emergency Shelters

Charleston's Disaster Committee and the Red Cross set up evacuation shelters in the county schools. Police broadcast warnings to this coastal region to move inland. In Charleston, white people will, if necessary, be sheltered in the armory of The Citadel, South Carolina's military college here, and Negroes will be sheltered in City Hall.

McElroy Promises Missile Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy said Friday he will decide in November whether to continue production of the Army Jupiter missile or the Air Force's Thor.

These are intermediate - range ballistic missiles and McElroy told his news conference he saw no sense at all in continuing the production of both. He credited both with extraordinary accuracy.

Polio Cases Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Public Health Service said Friday the number of cases of polio reported for the week ending Sept. 20 increased 10 per cent over the previous week.

Some 434 cases were reported for last week, 220 of which were paralytic polio. For the week ending Sept. 27, 1957, there were 212 cases with 82 of thparalytic type.

Labor Political Group Charges Nixon Has New Double Talk Line

COPE Labels Boston Speech As "Brazen"

WASHINGTON (AP) — COPE, the labor union political organization, says Vice President Richard Nixon is breaking in a new line of double talk for the 1958 campaign.

The Committee on Political Education, a branch of the AFL-CIO, put out a special supplement to its regular weekly newsletter criticizing as bold and brazen Nixon's Sept. 6 speech at the Harvard Business School Assn. in Boston.

Nixon advocated a cut in the highest personal income taxes and in corporation taxes so as, as he put it, to encourage business production. He also recommended a 1½ per cent general manufacturers excise tax, or sales tax, to replace what he called the present hodgepodge of excise taxes.

"Reading the fine print of his 'daring' proposal," COPE said, "it is a repaint job of the same old 'trickle down' theory.

"That means that Nixon believes the rich, bribed with lower taxes for high-income individuals and corporations, can be persuaded to build more plants, buy more machinery and 'give jobs,' regardless of whether wage earners and farmers have enough money to buy the products of American factories and farms operating at full capacity."

COPE said Nixon's proposals amounted to a recommendation that the workers' paychecks be clipped at both ends.

It said the worker would wind up with a 98½ cent dollar, after paying the 1½ per cent sales tax. Then, it said, Nixon also advocated that workers contribute a few more cents by foregoing wage increases to encourage employers and prevent inflation.

"Brazen as is Nixon's tax-wage remedy for the Eisenhower-Nixon recession," COPE said, "his double talk about improving unemployment compensation is as bold as trying to steal an elephant from a circus parade on Main St."

Strikes Reduce Output Of 1959 Model Cars 30%

DETROIT (UPI) — Local level strikes during contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers union and the Big Three auto companies slashed production of 1959 models by 30 per cent during September—and the end was not in sight.

Ward's Automotive Reports Friday said scheduled September production for the auto industry was 195,500 cars. But, said Wards, the industry would finish the month with a production close to 140,000 units.

Local level strikes tying up auto production began on a large scale before the UAW settled with Ford a week ago last Wednesday, and have continued to build up since during the negotiations at Chrysler and at General Motors.

Ward's said of all the auto producers, only American Motors maintained its scheduled output—but Friday that company reported it would have to close two Rambler assembly plants in Wisconsin for two days because of a supplier strike.

With Ford already settled, and Chrysler "put on the back burner" UAW President Walter P. Reuther concentrated on General Motors to reach a settlement before a strike deadline set for next Tuesday morning.

Reuther said matters separating the UAW and GM were confined largely to areas peculiar to General Motors. The areas of difference, he said, centered around wage inequities at various GM plants, short work weeks, providing supplemental unemployment benefits to workers in Indiana and Ohio, and a company demand that the amount of time allowed union stewards to work out grievances be cut.

Truman Pushes Doorbells, Gets $29 For Demos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Harry S. Truman, the old pro of politics, played the role he loves best Friday as he took a North Side neighborhood by storm in a personal "Dollars for Democrats" appeal to housewives.

Pressing doorbells like a rank-and-file precinct worker, the former President showed a jaunty vitality which belied his 74 years as he captured the hearts and dollars of several flustered women.

'You are helping your country when you do this," Truman said of the donations. "I'm very pleased to receive this money from such good ladies."

Truman went from door to door on Francisco St. in the heart of the North Beach Italian section. He chatted briefly with the women and praised their children in time honored campaign fashion.

Mrs. Aileen Bella turned the tables by asking the former President about his daughter Margaret and grandson, Clifton Truman Daniel.

"They're fine," he said. "My grandson walks, runs and talks all the time — just like his granddaddy."

Mrs. Sally Garbarino summed up the reaction of the surprised and pleased neighborhood.

"He's just like anybody else," she said. "He doesn't make you nervous."

At one home he leaned into a window and commented favorably on the aroma of simmering tomato sauce. Mrs. Anna Pinciotta and Mrs. Mary Vella handed him a dollar each. Other dollar bills floated down from an upstairs window.

The total "take" by the ex-President was $29.

Three Boys Play Hooky, One Drowns

NEW MARKET, Md. (AP) — Four boys missed their school bus Friday and in the summery weather decided it would be a good day to play hooky.

They went to a nearby farm pond. Three of them got into a metal boat. It sprung a leak. Two swam ashore.

Thomas Anderson, 15-year-old Negro, drowned.

Drive-In Robbed Again

TIMONIUM, Md. (AP)—Thieves broke open a heavy wall safe in the office of a drive-in theater Friday and stole $1,326 in cash. The same theater lost more than $2,000 in another robbery earlier this year.

U.S. Will Send Civilian Supplies To Chiang Isles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department announced Friday a $180,000 program for shipping civilian relief supplies to Quemoy and other Nationalist offshore islands threatened by Red China in the Formosa Strait.

The department said Chinese currency equal to $180,000 would go for shelters, temporary housing, medical supplies and emergency stockpiling of rice, flour, cooking oil and other foodstuffs. The announcement said the people at present need not worry seriously about food supplies.

The State Department press chief, Lincoln White, said the supplies will be landed the same way general supplies are being put ashore at the offshore islands. Under this practice, U.S. warships convoy Nationalist transports to within three miles. At Quemoy, the transports dash in under heavy Red shellfire and put their goods ashore.

White said no Americans will be involved in the actual on-the-scene delivery of the relief supplies.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) said, meanwhile, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles should be impeached if they continue their present course with regard to Quemoy.

This country is pledged by treaty to help defend Formosa, the seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalist government. Congress has authorized Eisenhower to use U.S. forces in defense of the offshore islands if he determines an attack on them imperils the security of Formosa.

U. Of Md. Will Ask State For $18,668,417

BALTIMORE (AP) — The University of Maryland regents voted Friday to ask the state for $18,668,417, an increase of 8 per cent over the appropriation for this year.

The regents approved a total budget of $39,122,607 for the fiscal year starting next July 1. Besides the state appropriation which comes from general taxes, the university operates on federal grants, special funds and self-supporting activities.

The total amount it will submit first to the governor and then to the legislature is $2,761,341 higher than the university is operating on this year.

Most of the requested increase is for higher salaries, new employes and University Hospital.

He said that under its regulations, letters of dismissal had been sent to 769 students at the close of the spring semester. Seventy-five were re-admitted by a petition board.

The president said he and a faculty senate committee will reappraise some aspects of the probation plan.

The enrollment at the College Park campus for this year was 10,532, a slight increase over last year, he said.

Body Recovered

COCKEYSVILLE, Md. (AP) — The body of a veneer plant employe has been recovered from a 60-foot-deep quarry where he went to count the company's logs.

The victim was identified as Norman Drenning, 23, of Texas, Baltimore County. Dr. Charles F. O'Donnell, county medical examiner, pronounced him dead on the scene Thursday night and issued a certificate of accidental drowning.

U. S. highway maintenance and construction costs have more than doubled since 1941.

Unemployment Payments Drop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Labor Department reported Friday that the number of persons drawing unemployment insurance dropped by 86,900 in the week ended Sept. 13 to 1,953,900, the lowest level since December, 1957.

The department attributed part of the drop to recalls to work of auto workers laid off during retooling for production of 1959 model cars.

Initial claims for unemployment insurance, which must be on file for a week before payments are made, edged up by 9,400 to 268,600 in the week ended Sept. 20.

Man Fatally Injured When Truck Upsets

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—One man injured when a truck overturned died Friday night and a second man was in serious condition at a Baltimore hospital.

Samuel Thomas, 21, of Cambridge, one of three sawmill workers hurt in the accident, was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. Dr. Lewis Burdett of Cambridge said Thomas needed the services of a neurosurgeon.

Johns Hopkins said Thomas suffered abdominal and head injuries and was in serious condition. He was admitted to the hospital.

After an examination by physicians, a spokesman said Friday night that immediate surgery did not seem to be indicated although he would be kept "under very close observation."

Boy, 3, Badly Burned When Shirt Set Afire

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — A 3-year-old boy was burned on his back Thursday when an older boy set fire to his shirt with a match.

Michael Nickolson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Nicholson, was treated for third degree burns and a blister on his hand.

Mrs. Nicholson said Michael was playing with a group of children his own age when an 8-year-old boy approached the group, lit a match and set fire to Michael's shirt.

Michael, at the suggestion of other children, rolled in the grass to put out the fire.

Folsom Considers Plea Negro Be Spared Chair

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Gov. James E. Folsom took under advisement Friday a wizened Negro's plea to be spared the death penalty for robbing a white widow of $1.95 in a burglary at night, a capital crime in this state.

Before deciding, Folsom said, he must confer with prosecution and defense attorneys. The governor called for a huddle with the lawyers next Tuesday immediately after he dismissed the clemency hearing for Jimmy Wilson, 55, an illiterate Negro handyman.

The governor will "probably call a press conference" to announce his ruling, he said.

Folsom told United Press International two days ago, "I'll probably commute the sentence."

The Tuesday conference between Folsom, solicitor Blancard McCleod and Attorney Fred Gray will be held in the governor's office.

During the clemency hearing, McCleod said the death penalty, handed down by an all-white jury within a matter of minutes, "is fully justified because Wilson made complete and deliberate plans to rob and rape an 82-year-old woman."

Gray testified Wilson was a victim of a "prejudiced jury" and that he would never have been given the death penalty if he had been a white man. The Negro attorney said Wilson's life should be spared to protect the prestige of Alabama and the United States abroad.

Folsom listened to the testimony without comment. The governor briefly questioned Wilson on his background and said "hearing dismissed."

Pro-Chamoun And Security Forces Clash

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Street fighting spilled more blood in this troubled capital Friday and armed supporters of former President Camille Chamoun marched through the streets demanding a new government.

The four-month battle between the government and the opposition thus turned full circle as militant Phalangists insisted that Premier Rashid Karami resign.

Karami, who was the rebel leader in Tripoli where the revolt broke out May 10, appealed to his comrades to lay down their arms.

But armed men — some witnesses said they were former rebels from the Moslem Basta quarter of the city—tried to disrupt traffic in a residential quarter of the city, apparently with robbery in mind.

Security forces fought an hour battle with them and when it was over two civilians were dead. It was the first bloodshed since Karami took office Wednesday night.

The pro-Chamoun Phalangists, most of them Christians who oppose the Moslem Premier, surged through Beirut's port area carrying forbidden guns. Security forces let them pass—despite a curfew—for fear of igniting the tension into a new civil war.

Wednesday, when Karami took office, a brief outbreak of violence between Moslems and Christians cost 19 lives.

The appointment of Karami, which still must be confirmed by Parliament next Tuesday, was a clear victory for the rebels.

Karami tried to reassure the Christians by pledging he would not upset political agreements which give the Moslems the premier's post and the Christians the presidency.

Industrial Development Bill Planned

BALTIMORE (AP) — Legislation to give Maryland a commission on industrial development, which failed in the 1956 session of the General Assembly, may be proposed again when the Legislature convenes in February.

Del. Ernest A. Loveless Jr. (D-Prince Georges) said Friday that a Legislative Council committee he heads is attempting to determine if it is feasible to propose the legislation again.

A bill which would have created a State Planning and Development Commission to promote "the economic well being and industrial development of the state" passed the House and Senate two years ago. But Gov. McKeldin vetoed it because, he said, it would duplicate programs already under way in the state.

Loveless said his group is preparing a questionnaire for distribution to municipal and county governments, chambers of commerce and trade groups throughout the state. Information gathered will be followed up with hearings in the next few months, he said.

"Maryland must compete with other states," said Loveless, noting that Maryland is one of only three states in the nation without an organization for encouraging development of local industries and attracting new industries.

Davis Heads Md. Wing

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—Lou W. Davis of Hagerstown, an airplane pilot and World War II veteran, has been elected president of the Maryland wing of the Air Force Assn.

Davis succeeds Paul Fonda, now on the AFA board of directors. The association announced Friday that Leo Killen, also of Hagerstown, was named vice commander.

Market Recovers Part Of Thursday's Losses

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks recovered some of Thursday's losses in a higher but quieter session, featured by demand for drug shares, tobaccos, selected copper, oil, aircraft and special issues.

Turnover for the weekend session fell to 3,420,000 shares from 4,490,000 Thursday, the year's heaviest volume.

A few stocks responded to individual news items. St. Regis Paper turned a loss of close to 2 points into a point gain on the day on a prediction by the company's chairman of a sharp rise in second half net income. Reynolds Metals climbed on a stock dividend; Coca-Cola gained over 2 as the company announced plans to expand its line to include other flavors. Martin Company rose on a favorable earnings prediction.

Drug stocks were the big movers, however. Parke Davis, which went up sharply Thursday on a stock split proposal, climbed another 7 points. Pfizer rose 5, Warner Lambert and Abbott around 3; Vick over 2.

In tobaccos gains ran past 2 points in Reynolds B, a point in Lorillard, more than 1 in American Tobacco.

Coppers had gains extending to 2¾ in Magma. Gulf rose over 2 in the oils. National highlighted steels with a gain of more than 1. Rails were higher for the most part although Canadian Pacific and Rock Island dropped around a point.

Loew's ran up 1⅝ to 22⅛ on the day's heaviest turnover as indications of a possible proxy fight appeared. Graham Paige, Bell Aircraft, General Motors, Textron completed the top five actives.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Mixed price levels spotted the market close with steady to firm ranges in wheat and rye, although easy in other grains, on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up 1 to off 1 cent; corn (old) off ¼ to ⅝ cent; (new) off ⅛ to ⅝ cent; oats unchanged to off ⅛ cent; rye up ⅜ to off ⅛ cent; soybeans off ½ to 1 cent.

Commission houses sparked a rally in wheat. Additional support came from buying by brokers with elevator connections. Observers attributed the strength to the report of imminent large export authorizations.

Corn, however, crept lower. With commission houses selling, an elevator interest bought considerably into old December deliveries. Weather is mostly favorable for crop maturing.

Soybeans witnessed liquidation of its November contract. Commercial houses displayed some buying interest and commission houses brought more support. The range:

GOP Club To Honor Miss Adkins

Delegates and representatives from the Cumberland and Frostburg Women's Republican clubs will attend the luncheon honoring Miss Bertha S. Adkins, Undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare, October 15. Mrs. Katherine St. George Congressman of the 28th district of New York, will be guest speaker at the luncheon being given by the state federation at the Sheraton Belvedere Hotel.

Besides delegations from the clubs, Mrs. John Lancaster, president of the local club; Mrs. James Shryock of the Frostburg club; Mrs. Noel Speir Cook, state treasurer; Mrs. George Barncord, chairman of the state resolutions committee; and Miss Bessie Baird, member of the auditing committee, will attend.

The luncheon honoring Miss Adkins, who served as Maryland national committeewoman for 10 years and assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee for five, will be in conjunction with the 37th annual meeting of the RWM.

Mrs. St. George was first elected to the House of Representatives in 1946, and now is a member of the House Armed Services committee. She sponsored the Equal Rights Amendment to the Constitution, now pending. She is a member of the DAR, the American Society of International Law and the New York State Agricultural Society.

Sisterhood Purchases Gift

The AEL Sisterhood of Cresaptown Methodist Church decided to buy a rug for the Strawbridge Home for Boys at the meeting Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. William Riley, Brant Road.

Mrs. Walter Richardson presided and read the Scripture. Mrs. Leroy Lewis led the singing of "Thanks for a Happy Heart." Prayer was offered by Miss Evelyn May. Cards were sent to the sick. The next meeting will be held October 23 at the home of Mrs. Delbert Stewart, Winchester Road. Mrs. Thomas Lewis will be cohostess.

Concluding the evening a stork shower was held for Mrs. Bruce Brenneman. Games were played and refreshments served. Others attending were Mrs. Paul Holler, Mrs. James McCuster, Mrs. Oliver Lewis, Mrs. Catherine Sindy and Mrs. Raymond Richardson.

ASSUME DUTIES — The Ursuline Academy Auxiliary discussed the Halloween and jingle parties, Christmas and weekly dances as well as various projects at the opening meeting earlier in the week. Home room mothers and various chairmen were appointed. Father Sylvan, Sister ilda, Sister Thomasine, Sister Corrine, and Sister Thomasita were introduced. The freshman class won the attendance award. Left to right are Mrs. Earl Darber, vice president; Mrs. Clement C. May, president; Mrs. John W. Kreidler, secretary and Mrs. John B. Wolfhope, treasurer. Mrs. Edward J. McNamee was thanked for her service as president last term.

Flintstone Club Takes Reports

Achievement reports were taken and a nominating committee was appointed at the meeting of the Flintstone Homemakers Club held at the home of Mrs. Howard Robinette, with Mrs. Chester Robinette cohostess. The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer, followed by the Homemakers Creed led by Mrs. William Heavner. The group sang, "This Is My Father's World," and answered roll call with what they most enjoyed doing as a family. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Arthur Howard and Mrs. Kenneth McLaughlin.

Mrs. William Mauzy reported the highlights of the county meeting she attended. A letter was read from Mrs. H. R. Aldridge, county citizenship chairman, concerning keeping Maryland beautiful. Literature on the project was distributed. Achievement awards were taken by Mrs. Leslie Wigfield, food and nutrition chairman; Mrs. Mauzy, clothing; Mrs. Heavner, reading; Mrs. Chester Robinette, Fair and exhibits; Mrs. Russell Dolly, home management; Mrs. Wigfield, citizenship, and Mrs. Eugene Kinton, civil defense.

Appointed to the committee to nominate a vice president and secretary were Mrs. Curtis Nash, Mrs. Dolly and Mrs. Wigfield. They will report at the October meeting.

Highlights of her recent trip to her former home in England were given by Mrs. Guy Thompson. The quotation of the month was given by Mrs. Paul Oster. The meeting closed with the group singing "School Days."

October 10 the meeting will be held at Flintstone Methodist Church. Mrs. Edward Shaffer, county family life chairman, will present "Family Teamwork." Members are urged to bring articles made during the year, for display. Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Howard will be cohostesses. Others attending were Mrs. Kermit Burgess, Mrs. Carlye Nixon, Mrs. Franklin Norris, Miss Lena Twigg, Mrs. Oka Twigg and Mrs. Katie Oster.

Loretta Lindner To Be Bride Of Thomas Lippold

The marriage of Miss Loretta Lindner, daughter of John H. Lindner, Shades Lane, and the late Mrs. Teresa Lehman Lindner, to Thomas A. Lippold, son of Louis A. Lippold, 126 Polk Street, and the late Mrs. Mary Agnes Brown Lippold, will be solemnized today.

The wedding ceremony will be performed at a nuptial mass in St. Patrick's Catholic Church at 10 a. m., with Rev. John U. Lyness officiating. Bouquets of white flowers and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used in the decoration of the altar.

Mrs. Marie Yockus will be her sister's matron of honor and only attendant. Anthony Yockus will serve as Mr. Lippold's best man, while Philip E. Lindner and Michael Lindner are the ushers.

To be given in marriage by her father, the bride will wear a gown of Chantilly lace, fashioned with an illusion yoke, Queen Anne collar and fitted bodice with long pointed sleeves. The very full skirt over satin ends in a sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil of French illusion falls from a queen's crown of seed pearls. Completing her costume, she will carry a colonial bouquet of red roses.

Her matron of honor will be attired in a powder blue lace dress, with matching long sleeve jacket. With it she will wear a Juliette cap with shoulder-length veil. Her bouquet is of pink roses.

The bride is a graduate of Catholic Girls Central High School and is employed by Dr. Samuel M. Jacobson as laboratory technician. The bridegroom is a graduate of LaSalle High School and served with the Army for three years in the European Theatre during World War II. He is employed by Spoerl's Garage.

A wedding breakfast will be served the wedding party at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, following the ceremony. The reception will be from 1 until 3 at the home of Mrs. A. J. Yockus, 836 Gephart Drive.

For their wedding trip to Michigan the bride has chosen a blue tweed costume with black accessories. With it she will wear her corsage of roses. Upon their return Mr. Lippold and his bride will reside at 148 Frederick Street.

Cresap Club Plans Joint Meeting

Plans for a combined achievement program were formulated by the Cresap Homemakers Club at the meeting Thursday morning in Cresaptown Methodist Church. Mrs. Harold Lewis presided. The program will be held at the October meeting, with the Potomac Park, Bowling Green and Progressive Women's clubs. It will be at the Potomac Park EUB Church October 21. At that time also a vice president and secretary will be elected. Mrs. Arlie Borror was named chairman of the nominating committee, with Mrs. Ellsworth Lewis and Mrs. Edward Lewis serving with her.

Mrs. Herbert Heineman gave the history of the hymn, "This Is My Father's World," and led the group in singing it. Roll call was answered with what each most enjoyed doing as a family. Mrs. Edward Shaffer, county family life chairman, discussed family teamwork. Mrs. Bertha Scollick reported on the Civil Defense meeting and distributed literature. Bird conservation also was discussed by Mrs. Heineman. Routine reports were given and members signed a card to send to Mrs. Emma Heinricks, a patient in Sacred Heart Hospital. Mrs. Helen White also was a guest.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Some people change friends the way they change hem lengths and hairdo's — there's a complete turn-over every few years. A false note is evident in the personality that never sticks to the tried and true. But, on the other hand, a dull note is probably creeping into the life of anyone who goes too long without making a new friend or two.

If you lead a busy life, you meet people. Think it over now—aren't there a few who would be most worthwhile to know better? Isn't it possible that someone would like to make more than a casual acquaintance of you? Why not do something about it? Make an extra effort to look for and recognize encouragement on the part of someone else if that's what it takes to break the ice. Or better still, make the first move yourself. Boldness isn't necessary. Just show interest and it's seldom that you won't be met with gratifying response.

If you lead a life that's not filled with people, spread your horizons to widen your acquaintance. Make opportunities for yourself to meet the kind of people you'd enjoy — join groups and participate in activities involving others with interests like you. own. Common interests speed friendships as nothing else can.

Time can so easily slip by without the refreshing changes that come through contacts with new personalities. A new friend is bound to present new viewpoints and new ideas, to inspire new interests and activities. A new friend can be a wonderful discovery. Check to see if it isn't about time to find one, and give yourself the satisfying experience of being an interesting new friend to someone else.

Valley Road Club To Hear Talk

Miss Bessie Baird will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Valley Road Homemakers Club October 1. Miss Baird, who has been traveling over the county registering votes, will discuss "It Is Our Privilege To Vote." She will be introduced by Mrs. Irene MacDonald. The meeting will be at 1:15 at Central YMCA.

A drawer with divider and shelf, made by Mrs. James Ruppert at the home carpentry workshop conducted by Miss Joanne Reitz of the University of Maryland, will be displayed.

The business session is to be conducted by Mrs. H. J. Rolly, at which time roll call will be answered with "My Favorite TV Program," and plans will be formulated for the club achievement program.

The B and O Veterans and Ladies Auxiliary will meet at 7:30 Wednesday evening in the B&O YMCA auditorium.

A rummage sale will be held by Circle 7, Tuesday in the basement of Centre Street Methodist Church, from 7 until 9 p. m.

Gold Star Mothers To Be Honored

Gold Star Mothers Day was discussed and reports were given at the meeting of the Tri-State Chapter, American Gold Star Mothers. The fourth annual Gold Star Mothers Day dinner will be held at 7 tonight in the Pall Mall Room of the Raleigh Hotel, Washington, with Sumner G. Whittier, administrator of veterans affairs, as guest speaker. The regular service will be conducted at 1 tomorrow in the amphitheatre. The United States Marine Band will play. The Military District of Washington will pay tribute to the mothers at a ceremony at Fort Myer, following the service, and reception in the Fort Myer Officers Club. The First Battle Group, Third Infantry and the United States Army Band will parade. The ceremony is to begin at 4.

Reports of the national convention in Denver, Colo., were given b. Mrs. Anona McDonald and Mrs. Bessie Hensel, delegates; and of the Department meeting in Baltimore, by Mrs. McDonald and Mrs. Clara E. Rankin. Two applications were accepted for membership in the chapter; and plans were formulated for a Thanksgiving project.

Officers are to be elected at the next meeting. Mrs. Mabel Wade was appointed chairman of the nominating committee, which includes Mrs. Hensel and Mrs. Loretta Beckman.

To: Bobby's Church School Teacher From: Bobby's Parents

"You're O.K."

That's the highest praise in our Bobby's vocabulary!

You must be as busy as we are . . . keeping house, raising a family, meeting all the challenges of parenthood.

Yet you volunteered to teach a dozen boisterous boys the great truths of Christianity.

You sacrifice hours every week . . . in preparation, in prayer, in patience.

But, because you are part of the Church—the one institution which lives to serve God and man—we have taken you for granted.

We'll be at worship next Sunday. Bobby wants us there. And seeing what the Church means to him, we want the same spiritual foundation for our own lives.

Thank you! We marvel at all you have done for Bobby without our help and example. How much more we will accomplish together . . . Bobby's parents, Bobby's teacher, and OUR God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Church Plans Annual Leader Training School

W.Md. Sessions Open September 30

GRANTSVILLE — A school of Christian Service has been planned for the Grantsville area to be held at the Gratnsville Elementary School on the nights of September 30, October 3, 7, 10, 14, and 17 from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. This school is sponsored by the Church of the Brethren in the Western Maryland District. Charles B. Miller of Friendsville will serve as dean of the school.

The School of Christian Service, formally known as the Leadership Training School, has been an annual event to give instruction to church leaders and workers in various fields of the overall program of the church. This year there will be five classes offered on a credit or non-credit basis toward a Leadership Training Certificate through the Christian Education Commission of the National Council of Churches.

The courses, "Story Telling In Christian Education" will be taught by Mrs. Edward Wenger of Oakland; "The Life and Work of Paul" will be taught by the Rev. Emory A. McGraw, pastor of the Grantsville Methodist Charge; "The Youth Fellowship" will be taught by the Rev. Clarence M. Moyers, pastor of the Maple Grove Church of the Brethren, Grantsville; "Teen-Age Choices" will be taught by Ernest Spoerlein, the guidance director at Southern High School, Oakland; and "Goals To 1960-Workshop" taught by the Rev. Norman L. Harsh of Eglan, W. Va.

An invitation has been extended to the public to attend these classes.

Hawaiian Motif Is Dance Feature

FROSTBURG — The final in a series of three special events will be presented this evening at Maplehurst Country Club with a special act by a number of the members. The theme of this third affair is "A Day In Hawaii" and will feature appropriate decorations and entertainment.

Charles I. Sager, accompanied by Mesdames William Zeller, Robert Nelson, Leonard Ritchie, Thomas Gracie, Fred Dean, Glenn Hanna and James Evans will present a program of Hawaiian music and dances.

Previous special events have included "A Western Hoedown" and "A Night In Paris." Both drew capacity crowds.

Area Marine Aboard Carrier

WESTERNPORT—Marine Pfc. Richard A. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Miller of Westernport, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Randolph, operating as a unit of the US Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean Sea.

The carrier left Norfolk, Va., September 2, the same day she received the Atlantic Fleet Carrier Class Battle Efficiency Award for fiscal year 1958. The award was the second successive win for the Randolph.

Petersburg To Dedicate Post Office

Ceremony Set Today At 2 P.M.

PETERSBURG — An outstanding program has been planned today at 2 p. m. when Petersburg's new post office building will be dedicated. Hon. Harley O. Staggers and Theodore T. Dorman, administration assistant to Sen. Hoblitzell, will speak.

H. Daniel Boon, associate field service officer for the Washington region of the Post Office Department for 15 counties in the Cumberland area, will represent the Post Office Department and also deliver an address. He is a native of Huntington.

Boon received his education in the public schools there and attended Marshall College. He entered the Postal Service July 16, 1937 as a substitute clerk at the Huntington Post Office.

Postmaster Byron Hawse has extended an invitation for all patrons in this area to attend the dedication and open house, which follows. Refreshments will be served by ladies representing the various organizations in the community. Music will be furnished by the Petersburg High School band under the direction of Tom Goheen.

The new facility is located on South Main Street, opposite Veach-Townsend Clinic, and is a part of the Post Office Department's commercial leasing program which uses private financing to obtain needed facilities. Since these facilities remain under private ownership while leased to the federal government, they pay local taxes as well as eliminate the need of large outlays of money from the federal treasure for construction purposes. "This new unit symbolizes a new era in communications in this community." Postmaster Hawse commented. "It will be more pleasant for our patrons to do business here, and more pleasurable for our postal employees to provide even better service," he said.

In addition to 2,408 square feet of interior floor space, the new building will have 400 square feet of platform space and 3,000 square feet of parking and maneuvering area for use of postal vehicles.

The ceremony will be held on the lot facing the new building, or inside the building in case of bad weather. The lessor is Dr. Lysle T. Veach and the building was constructed by Monarch Mills, Inc.

The new post office building will be placed in service Sunday when the incoming mail on that day will be distributed to post office boxes here. However, it will officially open for business Monday when the stamp and money order counters begin operation. The lobby doors at the old building will remain open through Sunday and mail not removed from the lock boxes on that day will be transferred to the new location.

Ward Turpin, clerk in charge of box rentals, points out the fact that the lock boxes in the new unit will have different combinations and it will be necessary for all lock box patrons to obtain their new combination before noon today.

The new unit will provide about 100 more boxes than presently available and will adequately supply the pressing need for more of the larger type boxes.

Grace WSCS Hears Report On St. Louis Conference

ASSIGNED—Donald B. Kline, son of Mrs. J. A. Kline, Paw Paw, W. Va., who enlisted in the US Army recently has been assigned to Company D, 8th Battalion, 2nd Training Regiment at Fort Jackson, S. C.

KEYSER—The WSCS of Grace Methodist Church, will conduct a "quiet Day" on Tuesday, October 28, and the Week of Prayer offering will be given as a memorial to Mrs. Dora Condrin. This action was taken at a meeting of the society, at which Mrs. Harry Reese, president, presided.

The program chairman, Miss Stella Wagner, gave the devotions and four women who attended the Fifth Assembly of the WSCS, in St. Louis, told of the activities there. Mrs. Rhea Stephens spoke on the subject, "No Here, No There, No Alien Race, No Foreign Shores;" Mrs. Estella Kennedy reported on the communion service at one of the morning meetings. Mrs. Blance Day talked about "Youth Night," and Mrs. Erma Gallion told of an interesting course, "Studies on the Book of John," conducted by Dr. Harness.

Mrs. Erma Gallion will be the delegate from here to the meeting of the United Council of Church women to be held in Denver.

Mrs. Rhea Stephens will attend the district meeting to be held October 10. On October 17 and 18 the WSCS will conduct a food and rummage sale.

World Community Day will be observed November 7, in Janes Methodist Church. For this year the members will collect yarn and piece goods.

Mrs. Frank Snider closed the meeting with prayer. Refreshments were served by the September circle.

Magnolia Church Homecoming Day Set For Sunday

MAGNOLIA—This Sunday will be Homecoming Day at Magnolia Methodist Church, Magnolia, W. Va. The program includes a hymn sing beginning at 2 p.m. EST; supper on the church lawn at 5 p.m., and services at 7:30 p.m. with Ralph Shambaugh of Great Cacapon, W. Va. as guest speaker. Mr. Shambaugh is the only person ever to go out of the Magnolia Church into the ministry.

A large crowd is expected to enter into the festivities of the day, renewing old acquaintances and talking over old times. This year marks the sixtieth anniversary of the church which was founded in 1898 and has continually served the community throughout the years. During the past two years, the church has been extensively renovated.

Adult Fellowship To Install Officers

LONACONING — Young Adult Fellowship of First Methodist Church will install new officers Tuesday, October 28, according to plans made at their meeting on Tuesday at the church.

Mrs. Elizabeth Ravenscroft, president, was the presiding officer. Two hymns, "Trust and Obey" and "Just As I Am" were sung and benediction adjourned he meeting. Plans were made for refreshments to be served after the installation meeting.

Sunday School Plans Advancement Day

FROSTBURG — A program of recitation, Bible memory work and songs will be presented during the 10:45 a. m. worship service Sunday at First English Baptist Church, with Mrs. Mary Wiebrecht, superintendent, of the Primary department; Mrs. Doris Ward, superintendent of the Junior department and Rev. E. Elwood Settle in charge.

Exercises will be given by the Nursery, Beginner, Primary and Junior departments of the Sunday School. This will mark the advancement of all the Sunday School classes at which time a group of children will be promoted from each department. The Sunday School year will begin with the first Sunday in October.

Used — Frigidaires, Ranges, Washers, Dryers. All tested, approved, guaranteed. $5.00 down delivers. Call William Patterson today, The Potomac Edison Co., Phone Frostburg 55.

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio reports ostrich egg shells a million years old have been found in Kazakhstan.

Beall Blasts

Against Alaskan statehood — "Many Americans favored it immediately; some thought we should wait until the land was more generously populated—I was among the latter."

Devereux answered other Tawes charges by saying he is "generally opposed to increasing federal so-called give-aways to the states."

"In the long run, heavily industrialized and comparatively prosperous states like Maryland pay far more for such programs than they receive in return. They wind up paying for the programs in the backward states," he said.

"I am proud of my record in Congress," said Devereux. "I hope my opponent will bring it up again and again and again."

Hyde Defends Record

Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde told the Republican rally that "our opposition in this campaign would have you believe they are the only ones interested in the people. They call us 'archaic' and say we are interested only in ancestor worship.

"I voted for the bill to relieve depressed areas. Is that archaic? I voted for increased Social Security benefits, increased pay for government and postal employes. I was successful in obtaining increases in federal retirement pay and have been working for improvements in railroad retirement benefits. Are these things archaic? No. They are today's problems."

Congressman Hyde said, "Senator Beall and I have been pressing for enactment of legislation creating the C&O Canal National Historical Park for years. My opponent's supporters have been fighting it. Which group is trying to meet the needs of the times? The answer is obvious."

ish, and connecting the valley between, was considered the most-needed improvement and was made the first order of business. This work is costing some $5,000,000.

Notes Other Work

"The Commission is rebuilding U.S. 40 in Allegany County between State Route 36 and Long, and has improved Route 40 between Frostburg and the Garrett County line; while in Garrett County itself there has been built a relocation and overpass at Little Savage Mountain. These three projects totalled $1,100,000.

"Scheduled for construction in the near future is the dual highway from the top of Martin Mountain to Cumberland. A short section of this four-lane project is already in use as part of the Martin Mountain improvement.

"Following that will come the rebuilding of U. S. 40 from Polish Mountain east to Sideling Hill. These projects were listed in the original 12-year Program and are moving on schedule.

"West of Cumberland improvements are included in our program to Keyser's Ridge.

Thruway Progress

"The most far-reaching improvement of all, of course, is the great Cumberland Throughway which not only will serve through traffic on Route 40, but will end the paralyzing congestion of traffic on city streets. Work is progressing satisfactorily on this major enterprise which will cost some $13,000,000.

(The $13,000,000 covers the cost from Lindnerville to the Moose Home. An additional $5,000,000 is estimated as the cost of the project from the Moose Home to a connection with Route 40.)

"Thus within a reasonably short time we shall witness the re-construction of the entire stretch of U.S. 40 in these two western counties. It is the first realistic attempt to serve traffic needs on this great highway to the west since the building of the Baltimore Pike in 1821 — the tortuous trail we now bypass by these improvements and the one sometimes referred to as the Bank Road.

"There is a story about the Bank Road that is worth repeating.

"Most of us recall that this first highway connection between Cumberland and Hagerstown was financed and constructed by a group of Maryland banks. But how many of us remember that these banks were practically forced into the road-building business on penalty of losing their charters?

Banks Held Back

"To me this is one of the most fascinating chapters in all the long history of roads.

"In 1812 the Maryland Legislature was desperately trying to find a way to build a hard-surface road from Cumberland to the west bank of the Conococheague River, eight miles west of Hagerstown. Such a road was needed to make connections with the National or Cumberland Road then under construction from Cumberland to Wheeling.

"About the same time, bank charters throughout the state were expiring. To continue in business the banks had to have their charters renewed by the Legislature. So the Legislature renewed all charters until 1835—but on condition that the banks raise $480,000 to build this road.

"The banks bitterly resisted, pointing out that they could not speculate with depositors' and stockholders' money. But the Legislature in effect said: 'Build the road — or else.'

With this legislative gun pointing at their collective heads, 12 Maryland banks subscribed the necessary capital. Of these nine were Baltimore banks and three were located in Western Maryland.

"The road was commenced in 1816 and finished in 1821. With the completion of other and shorter stretches in the eastern section, this Bank Road and the National Road furnished an uninterrupted run on all-weather surfaces from Baltimore to Wheeling, a distance of 266 miles. It contributed greatly to the prosperity of both Baltimore and Cumberland. It was the only means of transportation before the coming of the railroad.

Pays For Itself

"The Maryland banks, however reluctantly they may have entered the road-building business, did not lose on their investment. They had a complete monopoly over the mountains between Cumberland and Hagerstown. All traffic had to pass their toll gates. The road paid for itself several times over.

"This Bank Road built 135 years ago is the same road we are bypassing today with our mountain relocations. Of course there have been some improvements — shoulders, complete resurfacing and the like. But the steep grades are the same, and so are the sharp curves and hairpin turns, the worst of which are being eliminated today by this Polish Mountain project.

The Bank Road, running 58 miles, cost $8,000 a mile. By contrast, this one relocation—two miles in length — is costing $1,600,000, or $800,000 a mile. One hundred times as much!

"This reflects not only the sharp and almost continuous increase in prices of both labor and material but also the improvement in road design, the wider, sturdier pavement, the easy grades and the gentle curves—all factors calculated to make the new roads safe, economical and comfortable for modern travel.

"For safety is the keystone of our road-building program. We in Maryland are not going to give any driver a road excuse for a traffic accident.

"I can assure you the new Maryland road system will be the peer of any in the country from the point of view of traffic safety. But that does not mean our highways will be accident-proof. We cannot control the human element, although by education, persuasion and publicity we shall do our best to influence and improve it.

No Accident Excuse

"Take this new highway, for example. With its broad lanes and all known safety features ready built-in, there is absolutely no excuse for a traffic accident. Yet some there doubtless will be, as time goes on. We cannot close our eyes to the history of human behavior.

"But experience teaches us that the toll of the dead and injured can be substantially reduced by highway design, speed law enforcement, public education and, most of all, careful driving.

"Now, in closing, let me come back to this Polish Mountain project—truly a marvel of modern methods of scaling our mountains. This engineering masterpiece testifies not only to the foresight of our planning but to the genius of the engineering staff of the State Roads Commission—a fine group of dedicated men.

"It is, however, and this I wish to emphasize, but one single contract in a series of planned improvements of Route 40 on which the state already has spent or committed more than $20,000,000, covering some 26 miles built to the highest standards.

"In addition, another $15,000,000 worth of work is planned in our 12-year program covering about 49 miles."

Will Build Home

Leonard Gillespie yesterday secured a permit from the City of Cumberland to build a 20 by 40 foot dwelling on Golden Lane. The home will be one story, built of concrete block and brick and cost about $3,000.

Man Sentenced To Year Term

A local man was sentenced to a year in the House of Correction yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Talley was arrested on a charge of passing two bad checks for $35 to two flower shops.

The court said Talley was arrested earlier this month on the same charge and was given a six-month suspended term on condition he make restitution for the bad checks.

Dream Coming True For Route 40

Governor McKeldin, dedicating the newly relocated section of U. S. Route 40 on Polish Mountain yesterday morning, pointed out that more money now is being spent on Route 40 than had been spent there in all the 200 years of road building that preceded the beginning of the 12-Year Program in 1954.

The Governor could hardly have chosen a more appropriate occasion to note this bit of history.

The completion of the Polish Mountain project means that the worst section of Route 40 in Maryland soon will be a thing of the past, replaced by a modern highway as good as any in the state. The Polish Mountain project, just completed at a cost of $1.6 million, soon will be linked with the $1.3 million Martin Mountain relocation by means of the $1.1 million Flintstone Bypass, now well under construction.

Soon to follow are the complete dualization of Route 40 from Martin Mountain to Cumberland and reconstruction of the road east from Polish Mountain to Sideling Hill. But the biggest single undertaking of all will be the $18 million Cumberland Thruway, on which work already has begun. With its completion, and its connection with improvements to the east and west, Western Maryland will have highways of a quality unthought of only a few years ago.

For decades, Western Marylanders have dreamed of the day when they might have roads as good as those elsewhere in the state. The Polish Mountain project is visible evidence that the dream is coming true.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Open Mouth

One of the great advantages that Soviet Russia enjoys in the Cold War is that in the so-called Democracies all mouths are wide open and every man, woman and child, drunkard, moron and imbecile as well as expert and philosopher is entitled to an opinion and the expression thereof. That is guaranteed by the Constitution. It is thus possible for the Russians and their Chinese and Arabian allies to make use of that ancient device of the back-stairs, namely, the rumor machine and the whispering campaign which sooner or later, if accelerated in volume, produces a wave of opinion that can have damaging effects upon the country and its policies.

What the United States is trying to do about Quemoy and Matsu is to establish a principle of international relations that a country cannot shoot its way into the United Nations. Red China is an indecent nation which uses methods to which even Stalinist Russia did not descend and there is no reason whatsoever why anyone needs to associate with such indecencies.

Secondly, the President of the United States has at long last taken the stand that this country is not going to be pushed around by an abusive, foul-speaking, nasty-mouthed moujik, name Khrushchev, and that the President does not need to read communications from this boor. After all, because an Ukrainian barfly happens to become elevated to the tyrant's role in Russia is no reason why the United States needs to suffer his vulgarity.

The handling of such matters by a government is very delicate and difficult and the President needs the support of all citizens of good-will. In the looseness of New York's cafe society and the dinner parties of the careless rich there are always permanently wise men and women, who without particular disciplines, intellectual or otherwise, repeat what they hear somewhere and that is how the ball gets to rolling. The whispering device is one of the most awful that an enemy can use, for resistance to it usually is nil.

A wise-looking man who should not say an unmeasured word will say: "We ought to do business with Red China. Everybody does business with Red China except the United States." That is how it starts. Is this Communist propaganda? Who can believe that such a wise and learned man would spread Communist propaganda? Besides, he is a rich man or is so reputed to be and in a world where everything is measured by money, even morals, nobody could possibly accuse such a person as not being responsible. Furthermore, he is known, as everybody else in such circles is, of being very close to those who ought to know of what is going on in the world. In fact, he lets names drop, not like a peephole columnist, but with care and restraint.

I pick this one subject of trade with Red China not as a subject of discussion but as an item about which there is a current whispering campaign. Who started it is not quite clear, but it does go the rounds. Sometimes, the sentence is varied to sound like this: "Isn't it true that if we trade with Red China we shall wean them away from Soviet Russia?"

Forty years of history mean nothing in such a gossip mill. The nature of the Marxist-Leninist imperialistic development in Asia is ignored. The excuse for ignorance is that it is logical that Soviet Russia and Red China should break. But why is it logical? What has happened since 1920, when the Chinese Communist Party was formed, first at Baku and then in Peking, that makes it logical? Of course, the whisperer does not deal with details—only with broad, general issues. And so it goes round and round and round and comes out nowhere except as a nuisance to those who have real responsibility.

The whispering device can be used for all sorts of purposes and politicians always employ it. It is an ancient device that has no new characteristics, except that in free countries, it can lead to defeat. When a man or a woman hurled down the gauntlet with the fiercely challenging words, "I don't agree," in an earlier America, he was asked to defend his wisdom. And around the cracker-barrel, he did. But today, who has a cracker-barrel?

The Deferred Decision On Formosa's Trouble

By Joseph Alsop

TAIPEI, Formosa

Thus far, the Taipei visit of the American Commander-in-Chief in the Pacific, Adm. Felt, and the Pacific Air Commander, Gen. Kuter, has produced no major result except bewildered disappointment among the Chinese leaders here.

The disappointment is emphatically not directed at the Admiral and the General. They listened sympathetically to the Chinese warning that they would have to use their air power against the Communist artillery emplacements, if other means were not found to break the artillery blockade of Quemoy.

They heard and transmitted to Washington a new Chinese proposal that the American government warn Peiping of its intention to use American forces for the whole task of resupplying Quemoy. The idea of this scheme is to create a "touch-me-not" situation. Thus the American forces are to be justified in returning the fire, if the Communist artillery blockade is not abandoned.

Then, Adm. Felt and Gen. Kuter studied and approved ways to improve the limited blockade-running that now supplies Quemoy. Improvements can be made, and time can be gained by better blockade-running. But it was admitted, by Americans and Chinese alike, that the Quemoy position could not be indefinitely held by mere blockade-running.

In short, this meeting outwardly resembled the old high level interallied conferences of the Second World War. But it altogether failed to take the decisions in the grand style that used to result from those conferences of the past. No such decisions could be made here, in fact, for the excellent but somewhat curious reason that Adm. Felt and Gen. Kuter did not have the needed authority from Washington.

According to reliable report, the directive of our Pacific commanders consists of nothing more than general instructions to carry out the purposes of the President's speech on the offshore islands crisis. In that speech, the President declared that he would use American forces to repel any "major assault" on Quemoy or the Matsus. But "apparently Washington has not yet decided whether a third of a million artillery shells dropped on Quemoy constitute a major assault."

The quotation is from a highly placed American who has to wrestle with the realities of the crisis in the Taiwan Strait. He was a little embittered, perhaps, because the American response to the challenge in the Strait seemed to him anomalous and hesitant, except in the big words that have been so freely used. This is also the reason, of course, for the prevailing Chinese disappointment.

Maybe a firm American decision will be revealed shortly, either at Warsaw or in the Presidential statement which is rumored to be made at the end of this week. Meanwhile, the cause of the present indecision about the crisis in the Strait seems worth examining. From this angle of vision, the cause appears to be a kind of temporary dissonance among the men who made up the President's mind to stand firm on the offshore islands.

The leader of this policy-making group, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, has always resembled a high stake poker player who never expects to have his hand called. Evidently he did not really expect to have his hand called when he urged the commitment to defend the islands. The imposition of the artillery blockade and the Communist refusal of a cease-fire at Warsaw have called the Dulles hand, however.

Perhaps he will finally get a cease-fire by agreeing to further talks at the Secretary of State-Foreign Minister level—by sitting down with Chou En lai at the point of the guns around Quemoy, in fact. In any case, the record plainly suggests that the Secretary of State has been seriously disconcerted by the turn events have taken.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, who were Dulles allies in urging a firm stand, have equally plainly been severely disconcerted for quite another reason. They just have foreseen that the Dulles hand might be called. But they cannot have foreseen the sudden cancellation of the Presidential directives authorizing the use of nuclear weapons in almost any kind of fighting involving American forces. All our defense planning has been based on these directives aimed to achieve alleged defense economies on the "bigger bank for a buck" theory. But this planning has now been upset.

While determined that the offshore islands had to be defended, Secretary Dulles has also been determined that the utmost effort must be made to defend the island with conventional weapons alone, even if American forces have to be engaged. He has won the argument thus far; and this is the clew to the mysterious story of Adm. Felt's critical message to Washington. The Admiral did not attack the commitment made by the President concerning the islands. But he vigorously attacked an attempt to honor commitment without using nuclear weapons.

With all the chief policy-makers severely disconcerted for different reasons, it is not surprising that the American posture has recently seemed hesitant and anomalous. Washington was ready to deal with a straight naval blockade of the islands, and the Communist naval blockade was successfully broken by convoying as soon as it had been unready, and apparently still is unready to deal with the equally effective and dangerous artillery blockade, which raises the problem of the use of nuclear weapons in a fairly acute form.

Soon or late, however, the Eisenhower administration will have to grasp one horn of the dilemma or the other, unless a Communist cease-fire can be obtained in the interval. One horn is the application of American power to break the blockade decisively and without regard to risk. The other horn is surrender despite the President's solemn commitment, followed by the destruction of just about every Western position and the loss of just about every Western friend throughout the Far East.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Matter of certified fact is Maine has no opinions of its own until summer boarders go home.

We don't believe that Maine gets up a pine tree because of Formosa. If Ike would give us equal time on the air we'd like to talk on Formosa. We mean the air, not the island.

Chiang has been marooned there a long time. We're betting on a horse that's using the starting gate for a stall.

Wisconsin also went wide on the electoral curves. But you never can tell about our foreign entanglements. We wrote twenty years ago that the babies on F.D.R.'s doorstep were put there from the inside.

Islands are not as important as the days when they were victualling depots for England's frigates. Nor when they were coal drops for our fleet.

Now islands are oil cans for the Navy. The atomic subs don't need them any more than you need buttons on your carpet slippers.

So why agitate our dandruff over Quemoy?

Infant Won't Demand Night Feeding Forever

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

How long do infants "demand" a bottle at night? Many mothers think it took forever, because they never can forget those 2 a. m. feedings. An English medical officer at Middlesex questioned all mothers at an infant welfare center. She found that 44 per cent of the tots stopped night feedings at four weeks of age, 73 per cent by the end of two months, and 93 per cent by the end of four months. Only 7 per cent took longer.

Parents of 22 per cent of the babies were luckier. They never had to get up at night because the youngsters always slept through from 10 p. m. to 6 a. m. without a peep.

It might interest mothers-to-be to learn that when a baby is going to give up the early morning snack, he usually does it suddenly. The tyke sleeps through two or three nights for one or two weeks, and thereafter the job is complete.

Another example of British research on babies was that done by the Child Study Center at the University of London. This group wanted to determine whether the present generation of babies is smaller or larger than those of 200 or 300 years ago.

They searched museums for various items of infants' clothing until a number of 18th century christening mitts were located. They found 16 pairs—all in good condition. They were made of nonelastic, unshrinkable material or fine muslin. The researchers also learned that baptisms in those days were done within the first month of life, usually around the 15th day.

The circumference of the flat, rigid surface across the knuckles of the mitts was measured and recorded. The size of 15 day old infants whose hands fit these mitts was determined and regression equations were used to estimate the weight of the original wearers of the mitts. What were the results? Eighteenth century infants weighed the same as 20th century babies. It was a novel experiment and accurate, provided the mitts had fitted the original users.

DISK SCIATICA

R. M. writes: Is it possible to get over sciatica due to slipped disk without an operation?

REPLY

Many victims do. The operation is recommended when conservative measures fail and there is danger that the sciatic nerve will be damaged permanently. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on sciatica.

UNSTEADY

R. B. writes: Can unbalanced eye muscles cause a person to feel as if he were toppling over while standing or walking?

REPLY

Yes, especially if blurred vision creates a dizzy sensation.

YELLOW SKIN

H. M. writes: Is jaundice caused by the liver or the gall bladder?

REPLY

The liver — but there are other causes. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on jaundice.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Robert Montgomery sat in the Colony Club Restaurant in New York on the evening Sherman Adams bowed out of the White House over television. Montgomery goes to Washington to coach Ike on his TV appearances, but he did not coach Adams.

Nor were any of the Hollywood experts who spent a whole day coaching Vice President Nixon before his TV explanation of the personal expense fund around to coach Adams. Jim Hagerty came around to help with the stage setting. But for the most part, Adams was on his own.

That has been the case since the first week end the Harris committee began delving into the strange friendship between Sherman Adams and Bernard Goldfine. When Adams sat down in the White House to write his statement before the Congressional committee, he was also alone. None of the White House speech writers who grind out statements in record time on any and all subjects was on hand to help. Finally, Charley Willis, his former assistant, and Tex McCrary, the commentator-public relations man, came to his aid.

He played a lone hand in running the White House and he played a lone hand in defending his reputation. He was not in on the many approaches inspired by the President to find him a job. Some 20 corporations, educational institutions, and foundations were approached to give Sherm a job. There were no takers.

So there was something a little sad about the way Adams bowed out — weary, stubbornly insisting that he was innocent, and very much alone.

One reason it was sad was because Adams' gift-receiving has been meagre compared with that of his chief. Perhaps that was why the President never did actually ask for Adams' resignation. GOP Chairman Meade Alcorn did the asking. Eisenhower in his heart must have felt that his assistant did nothing more than he, the President—in fact, less.

Arabian Ring

Eugene Black, president of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, was traveling in Saudi Arabia when King Saud presented him with various gifts, including a jeweled ring for Mrs. Black.

When he returned to Washington, Black realized that the ring was quite valuable and he wrote the Arabian Ambassador, asking whether it would be considered an affront to the King if the ring were returned.

"I am afraid," replied the Ambassador, "that this would be badly received."

Black then went to his bank board explaining his predicament and asking its advice. The board decided that he should keep the picture of King Saud, the curved sword and the Arabian robe since they were not valuable, but that he should deposit the ring with the bank. This was about to be done when the Arabian Ambassador happened to meet Black and asked what had happened. Black explained.

"In that case," said the Ambassador, "you might as well return it."

Mrs. Black did.

None of the many gifts received by the Eisenhower family from foreign potentates has been either returned or deposited in the State Department as required by law.

The Most Expensive Gift

Current gift-giving to the White House began when one of Ike's aides suggested to American Airlines that the President admired a portrait of "Custer's Last Stand" painted by Harold von Schmidt which hung in the airlines' Admirals Club. The airline promptly sent the portrait to Ike and for some time it hung directly facing his desk.

American Airlines, the biggest in the USA, does all sorts of business with the government, has all sorts of problems before the CAB and CAA. When inquiries were made at the White House by my staff regarding the picture, it suddenly disappeared.

Most expensive gift of all to the Eisenhowers is the so-called "Mamie's cottage" at the Augusta Golf Club. Though called a "cottage," it is one of the most luxurious establishments at the Augusta Golf Club and no newspaperman has ever been permitted to inspect anything except the downstairs living quarters.

However, those who built the cottage estimate its cost, including the near-by fishing lake, at $250,000. The money was raised by a group of businessmen who also have important problems constantly before the administration. Their influence is credited with the Eisenhower-proposed tax law giving special concessions to stock market investors. Chief money raiser for the cottage was Cliff Roberts, of the New York investment firm, Reynolds and Co.

Helen Worden Erskine, who made a study of the "cottage," reports that although the White House officially described it as a "six-room cabin," the building permit filed in Augusta shows it has 18 rooms and six bathrooms, with a seventh added later for $50,000.

The cottage has radiant heat, door locks costing $160 each, two giant TV sets, air conditioning, indirect lighting, a barber's chair, a model kitchen with double sink, food freezer, electric dishwasher, and two stainless steel ranges. All the furniture was paid for by the little group of Wall Street donors.

Note — Herbert Hoover, when President, built a cottage at Rapidan, Va., for summer fishing, but paid for the lumber and nails himself, though government labor was used. Franklin Roosevelt enjoyed a cottage at Warm Springs, Ga., though it was built by the Warm Springs Foundation before he became President.

The Big Challenge

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK — The enormous challenge of the jet age of transportation takes many shapes and forms. As we move into an era of breathtaking change, operators of craft which soon will be carrying millions of persons about the world at speeds which would have caused Richard the Lion Hearted to faint, have been forced to plan and dream on a titanic scale.

American Airlines has found it expedient to order four billion—yes, billion—gallons of kerosene, not to keep the price stable in the years to come but to encourage and enable the refinery to be built. All the lines are devising new ways and means of expanding their markets, improving their food, conquering such ancient problems as delivering a customer's baggage to him before he busts a gusset.

Millions of dollars have been spent on suppressing the noise of jet engines, thousands of hours of research have gone into just how much room in the new jets should be allotted to radar gear and how much to the preparation of sandwiches (open). The width of the average beam of the average passenger has engaged the attention of thoughtful planners. The interior decorator has been asked to cope with the problem of peace of mind and comfortable quarters in the stratosphere. My friend V. J. Skutt, president of the world's largest health and accident insurance company, Mutual of Omaha, burns the midnight kerosene getting ready for the incredible day when every flight of a big jet may involve an insurance risk of perhaps 1 million dollars.

This advanced thinking is reaching some kind of crest in Pomona, N.J., headquarters of the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center. This is a government body headed up by one of the most brilliant airmen of them all, Lt. Gen. Pete Quesada (Ret.) It is settling down on the reconstructed site of the old Atlantic City Naval Air Station, once a field which offered a shelter to carrier-based planes whose carriers were headed toward Norfolk, or some such, to have their bottoms shaved.

Out of Pomona will come new ideas which will shape the whole jet age: new ideas in take-offs and landings, control at great heights, the building and location of great aerial one-way highways, better communication between air and ground, new radar techniques, keener recognition of traffic problems, enlightened approaches to weather, jet streams, visibility, blind flying. The charter of the new government body requires it to think beyond domestic needs to intercontinental traffic and on into space problems.

It's quite possible that this remote airdrome and laboratory in southern New Jersey could become the world's foremost commercial airport, too. It is hard today to conceive of any other port of U.S. entry except New York. But how are we really to know? Perhaps the great winged airships of the immediate future, flying in over the Atlantic, will put down at this Jersey pilot-plant which guides all commercial and military techniques. After all, a considerable percentage is going on somewhere else in the country, after arrival.

My personal misgiving about the jet age is whether it will meet the challenge of leg room. Outside of the average Broadway theater there is no more uncomfortable seating arrangement on earth (or in space) than the average airplane. For years I've been cursed with the problem of the guy in the seat ahead of me tipping back into my coffee or Swiss steak. If we are eventually to have lunch in New York and arrive in Los Angeles in time for breakfast, a novel switch due to the speed of the plane and the difference in time, let us not arrive with the bends caused by being packed in like a lot of sardines with their eyes open. That's something for the geniuses at Pomona, N.J. to figure out. And I'm sure they'll come up with the answer, even if it's a pill to shorten legs.

Fort Hill High's Sentinels once again displayed its powerful scoring machine last night and this time it was to the chagrin of Martinsburg Bulldog fans as the Hilltoppers ran over their Cumberland Valley Athletic League opponent, 52-7, at Martinsburg.

Last year's undefeated C.V.A.L. champs have now copped their first two league outings this campaign and with the victory, stretched their three-season victory string to 14 games. The Sentinels have scored 150 points in three games this year and have held their opposition to 28.

Coach Bill Hahn's Red Raiders tallied eight touchdowns last night and Donnie Lewis booted four placements through the uprights to account for the 52-point total.

The Sentinels opened scoring in the first quarter when going over the final stripe to climax an eight-play, 62-yard march. With the ball on the Bulldogs' 5, Bill Koerner slanted off-tackle and went into the end zone. Koerner fumbled while going in and Donnie Lewis alertly recovered to get credit for the TD.

Martinsburg bounced back to knot the count when Tom Kelch raced 41 yards to the Fort Hill 9. Ronnie Hovermale went around end for the tally and then, faking a kick from placement, passed to George Snyder for a 7-6 lead.

Jack Weltman added six to the Fort Hill side of the scoreboard when he recovered a fumble by Welch in the Martinsburg end zone to end the first quarter.

A 28-yard scamper by Koerner set the stage for another Robinson pass. His 18-yard aerial to Lewis put Fort Hill in the lead, 25-7.

Plagued by fumbles all evening Martinsburg was benefactor again to the Sentinel cause when Gene Counihan pounced on a loose ball at the Bulldogs' 35. Robinson climaxed the drive to the goal with a 1-yard plunge.

The game's feature was an 87-yard run by Jimmy Hammond late in the third quarter. Hammond broke off tackle and outran Martinsburg pursuers for the distance.

Running almost at will Fort Hill drove 65 yards late in the contest and Hammond added his second touchdown of the night with a 1-yard dive.

Old Exports Can Cop 5th Playoff Title On Sunday

Barrelville's Old Exports will be striving to wrap up their fifth playoff crown in 10 years when they meet Zihlman in the third game of their best-of-five Pen-Mar Baseball League series Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Barrelville.

Rain kept the teams idle last Sunday after Barrelville had won the first two games by scores of 3-1 and 3-2. Jesse Markley decisioned Dave Richards in the opener and Bobby Raines won over Bill Haberlein in the second game.

Manager Raymond "Buck" Fiorita's team has won the playoffs four times in the last nine years—1949, 1954, 1956 and 1957—and the series will end if the Old Exports take tomorrow's contest.

If Zihlman should upset the dope the fourth game will be staged a week from tomorrow at Zihlman.

The victory was the first of the season for Coach Jerry Calhoun's Mountaineers in three outings while the loss was the fourth in a row for the Garrett countians, who have failed to score a point this season.

Beall broke the scoring ice in the opening period on a 35-yard off tackle slant by Zumpano to culminate a drive that started on the Mountaineers' 35. Beall moved to the Southern 35 in four plays and Zumpano went over from there. Jim Evans place-kicked the point.

Early in the second period, Zumpano sprinted 62 yards to the six and on the handoff dived over for the score on the next play. Smith converted via placement.

Later in the same period the Mountaineers took over on their own 27 and drove 73 yards for the touchdown. With Zumpano and Evans making the most yardage, Beall moved to the Southern 26 from where Zumpano chalked up a six-pointer on an end sweep. Smith added the extra point.

With Zumpano and Dick Plummer making the most of the gains, Beall marched from its 26 for the final score. Hyde registered on a quarterback sneak and Smith booted his third extra point. The lineups:

BERLIN, Pa., Sept. 26—Jack Bahen, right halfback, scored three touchdowns tonight, two on punt returns and one on a pass interception to lead LaSalle High School's Explorers of Cumberland to a 32-0 victory over Berlin High School.

In the first period after Rich Murray returned the opening kickoff 54 yards to the Berlin 23, Jim Delaney snared a Murray pass on the next play for the Explorers initial touchdown. Before the quarter was concluded, Bahen intercepted Ray Miller's pass on the LaSalle 40 and sprinted 60 yards for the second LaSalle score. Joe Footen kicked the point to make the score 13-0.

LaSalle scored thrice in the second period. Bahen returned a punt 80 yards for the first td and Footen converted. Then Jack scored again on a 40-yard punt return. LaSalle's final score came on a 37-yard pass from Carroll Wilt to Jack Barr. Lineups:

Birds Top Yanks In Twelfth, 3-2

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Baltimore Orioles scored two runs in the 12th inning to defeat the New York Yankees, 3-2, Friday night for their seventh straight victory despite a near-perfect pitching performance by Whitey Ford for the first six innings.

Billy Loes, who relieved starter Hoyt Wilhelm in the 10th, gained credit for his third victory although he was nicked for a solo homer by Marv Throneberry in the bottom of the 12th.

Ford demonstrated he was completely over his recent arm trouble by striking out six batters and yielding only one hit during the six innings he worked. The only hit he gave up was an inside-the-park homer by Joe Taylor in the first inning. He walked none.

Red Sox Win, 6-4, Ted Grabs Lead

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ted Williams smacked out a homer and a single in three trips and took over the American League batting lead as Pete Runnels went hitless in four tries and the Boston Red Sox defeated Washington 6-4, in the first game of a doubleheader Friday night.

Williams who went into the contest trailing the leader, Runnels, .324 to .320, emerged with a .323 average as his Red Sox teammate Runnels slipped to .322.

Campbell Bluebird Hits Speed 165 MPH

The 37-year-old Briton is preparing for an assault on his own world water speed record of 239.07 m.p.h. set here last November. He averaged 125 m.p.h. and 132 m.p.h. in his two trial runs over the measured course—more than 100 m.p.h. slower than he must go to set a new mark.

Two Potomac Valley Conference elevens realized the value of the extra point yesterday as the Romney High Pioneers and Moorefield's Yellow Jackets battled to a 6-6 tie on the Romney gridiron.

The Yellow Jackets launched scoring in the third quarter and unknowingly saw their chances for victory fade when the attempted placement conversion was blocked.

Romney, in averting a shutout, registered its only score in the early minutes of the final period, but had to settle for a deadlock when the run for the point after touchdown was halted short by the Moorefield defense.

Robin Roberts Beats Bucs, 3-2

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Robin Roberts flashed his old-time artistry Friday night as the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2, to even their season's series at 10 games each.

Roberts had a shutout until the ninth inning when the Pirates broke through for two runs. Dick Groat's single scored Bob Skinner and pinch-hitter Harry Bright's sacrifice fly brought in Bill Mazeroski.

Richie Ashburn, Phillies centerfielder contending for the National League batting crown, had a double and a single in four official trips to lift his average to .345.

The Phillies touched loser Bob Friend for two runs in the sixth. Ashburn singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on Ed Bouchee's double. Bouchee then scored on Frank Herrera's two-bagger.

Ryff Defeats Gale Kerwin

Blue-eyed Frankie, 26, was impressive as he registered his sixth straight victory and his first win under new-manager Barney Ross, former lightweight and welterweight champion.

Hagerstown's North High Hubs, sparked by the running of halfback Richard Spencer and the pass receiving of end Ronald Hawkins, wrecked the Cumberland Valley Athletic League opener for coach Ed Schwarz' Allegany Campers by thumping the locals, 39-14, last night at the Greenway Avenue stadium.

The Hubs, who dropped their opener to York, Pa. by the score of 13-6 and then rebounded with an 18-14 verdict over Westminster in their C.V.A.L. debut, needed until the second quarter to get warmed up last night before going on their touchdown spree.

After Hagerstown's second punt of the opening quarter the Campers appeared on their way to making a carbon copy of their 31-0 shellacking of Beall two weeks ago.

With the ball resting on Hagerstown's 48-yard line halfback Fred Shook barreled through center on second down and raced 52 yards for the TD. Shook smacked into the line and had picked up 7 yards before looking up and finding wide open spaces. He struck for the left sideline and outraced several Hub pursuers.

That was all Hagerstown needed because before the quarter ended, the Hubs were to lead, 19-7. Jerry Horton, Alco's punting specialist, had one of his fourth-down kicks partially blocked moments later, setting the stage for the victors' march to triumph.

Spencer began to blaze his own glory, including his personally-made three touchdowns, with a 33-yard romp to Allegany's 14-yard line where Horton pulled him out of bounds. Following a 5-yard penalty against the Hubs, the ball was toted to the Alco three with a loss setting it on the four. Spencer wanted only a block and got it from Tom Neely as he skirted right end for the six-pointer.

Ronald Hawkins' try from placement was grounded by the charging Jim O'Neal and coach Mel Henry's eleven temporarily trailed, 7-6. But a Joe Vance to Ron Hawkins pass play, which found Hawkins button-hooking beautifully, covered 20 yards and gave Hagerstown a lead they never relinquished.

Before the first half ended, with only seconds remaining, Spencer broke over tackle, eluded the Camper secondary and outran Allison for 74 yards and the night's longest scoring play. Spencer, who was shaken up early in the contest and left the scene of battle, returned in time to tack on his 18th point. It came on a pass from the accurate arm of Vance that covered 31 yards in the final stanza.

Ron Hawkins set up a Hub score just after the half opened while on the receiving end of a Vance pass to place the pigskin on the Alco 1. Tom Hawkins then bulled over and Hagerstown led, 26-7, and built the margin to 33-7 minutes later when Richard Keats plucked an Allegany fumble from the air at the latter's 32. Vance subsequently tossed to Jim Washington for another touchdown and a 33-7 scoreboard display.

The final period found each team scoring once, Hagerstown on Spencer's third trip across the goal line and Allegany on long aerial down the center from "Baldy" Powell to O'Neal. Powell took a pitchout from Gary Shook and uncorked his heave which O'Neal caught over the shoulders and stepped into paydirt.

National Pro Grid League Opens Sunday

Colts, Los Angeles Are Conceded Edge

United Press International

Detroit, defending its Western Division title, is a four-point underdog for its opener at Baltimore against the Colts. Cleveland, defending Eastern champion, is a 3½ point underdog for its clash with the Rams in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum.

In Sunday's other openers, the Chicago Bears are seven-point favorites to whip the Packers at Green Bay; the Forty-Niners are 7½ point choices to defeat the Pittsburgh Steelers at San Francisco; the Washington Redskins and Eagles are rated even at Philadelphia and the New York Giants are favored over the Chicago Cardinals by 3½ at Buffalo, N.Y.

The Lions face a Baltimore club that has won its home opener four of the last five years. The Browns face the same situation at Los Angeles. The Rams always are tough at home and have won their opening game the last five years.

Sam Snead's 67, Leads Tourney

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —Sam Snead, who already has written a host of golf records, added a new leaf to the book Friday when he blistered the Lakeview Country Club course for a four under par 67.

The sub-par round came on the opening day of the West Virginia Open golf tournament and gave the White Sulphur Slammer a four-stroke lead in the 89-man field. It also was the first time anyone ever broke par on the course in tournament competition.

Bill Campbell, state amateur runnerup from Huntington, shot a par 71 round for second place and Dick Foutche, another amateur, of Charleston grabbed the third spot with a 73. Bill Dyer of Morgantown was fourth at 75 and State Amateur Champ Ed Tutwiler of Charleston, and pros Buddy Viar of Charleston and Reggie Spencer of Morgantown were tied for fifth at 76.

Series Is Sellout

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Friday that all tickets for the four 1958 World Series games at County Stadium have been sold.

Miami Bows, 20-0

MIAMI (UPI) — Quarterbacks Dale Hackbart and Sid Williams, operating behind a vastly superior line, powered Wisconsin to a 20-0 victory over Miami Friday night before a record season-opening crowd of about 60,000 in the Orange Bowl.

Scoring four of their five touchdowns on runs of 40, 80, 85 and 90 yards, Coach Donald Bullock's Lions from the West Virginia School for the Deaf walloped the Franklin High Panthers yesterday by the score of 33-13 in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Romney.

It was the second straight PVC win for the Lions, who opened last week with a 14-0 decision over Southern High.

In the opening period, Victor Shade set the scoring machinery in motion when he sprinted 40 yards for the first score and Larry Jones ran the point.

The Lions scored twice in the second period on a 17-yard gallop by Curtis Collins and on a pass interception by Walter Luikart, who covered 90 yards in his dash to paydirt. Shade made both conversions on runs to give the home team a 21-0 lead at intermission.

Bobby Moon returned the kickoff 84 yards for another six-pointer early in the third period before Franklin crashed the scoring column. The Panthers registered on a play covering 72 yards with Lambert passing to Wimer who pitched out to Hedrick. Then Kile passed to Lambert for 25 yards for the final Franklin TD.

Buddy Young Named Manager Of WEBB

BALTIMORE (AP) — Former football star Claude (Buddy) Young, 32, has been appointed assistant general manager of Radio Station WEBB in Baltimore.

Young has been with the station since its inception 3½ years ago. In 1956, the 5-4 168-pounder retired after nine years as a halfback with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

Fairgo Facts

By C. V. BURNS

Today is Getaway Day at Fairgo and the program will be highlighted by the Clifton W. White Memorial, seventh race on the card. A majority of the horses that raced here head for Hagerstown which opens a 12-day meeting on Monday.

At the close of business yesterday, Robert Littleton, director of wagering, reported that the average was running about $10.000 a day ahead of the 1957 meeting.

The 12-day handle last year was $2,322,115 and so far it is $2,168,-784 this year. On the final day in 1957 the betting was $257,557 for the eight races. The average for the meeting a year ago was $193,509.

Beebeedashea, the 8-year-old mare, that was destroyed after breaking a foot during the running of the fourth race yesterday, was named for the wife of Danny Shea, of Hyde, Md., owner of the Merryland Farm. Mrs. Shea's nickname is "Beebee."

Forty-six per cent of the favorites have won at Fairgo to date. In 88 races 41 first choices have finished on top.

Favorites annexed five of the eight events yesterday. And Charles Sinclair, program selector, had 4 out of 8 on the nose.

It is legal for a jockey to use the whip on a first time starter at Maryland tracks, according to the stewards. This argument came up the other day when a jockey used the whip on a two-year-old running its first race. Some states, however, prohibit the use of the whip.

Trainer Greco Cops Pair On Maryland Day

Counterparty Pays $23.20; Reynolds Hikes Wins To 23

Nuncy J. Greco, of Laurel, who has been dubbed the "Perry Como of the Half Milers" because he started on the road to fame as a trainer via the barber shop, took most of the bows at Fairgo on Maryland Day when he saddled a pair of winners and collected two United States Savings Bonds, which were presented to him by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin and Gen. James Patrick Devereux, of Baltimore county, the Republican nominee for governor at the November election.

Mr. Greco sent Arthur L. Beall's Broom Party postward in the second number on the card and the favored 8-year-old chestnut gelding won by one length over Creek Creek in the five furlongs sprint, with apprentice Lawrence Reynolds in the saddle, in 55 4/5. The winner paid $3.80.

In this affair, apprentice John Sollars lodged an objection against the winner, claiming a foul was committed as the horses entered the stretch but it was disallowed by the stewards.

McKeldin Presents Bond

The governor was introduced by J. Glenn Beall, Jr., treasurer of the Cumberland Fair Association, and the state's chief executive presented a bond to the smiling Mr. Greco. Gov. McKeldin told the racegoers that he was in this section for ceremonies marking the opening of a new section of road on Polish Mountain earlier in the day and stated that twenty million dollars is being spent for highway improvements in Western Maryland. He congratulated the trainer and urged the crowd to give a "nice hand" to a great little apprentice rider, "Larry" Reynolds, who rode his 22nd winner of the meeting.

Trainer Greco, the most photographed man on the race track yesterday, bobbed up again in the 7th race when High Ridge Farm's Onyx, with Stanley Small in the pilot house, whipped Babe Page, which ran as the Williams-Lee entry, and Mighty Cross, and returned a $5.20 mutuel after sprinting the five-eighths of a mile in 55 1/5.

Greco Scores Again

Senator J. Glenn Beall, president of the Cumberland Fair Association, introduced Gen. Devereux, Maryland Congressman and distinguished Marine, who presented the second bond to Mr. Greco during the afternoon.

The Maryland Day program attracted a crowd of 3,531 persons and the mutuel handle was $201,680, the third highest of the meeting. The wagering was $3,119 or 1.5 per cent above the corresponding day in 1957. The 11-day handle of $2,168,784 is $104,225 or 5 per cent more than last year's total for the same number of days.

William D. Thomas, of Bryn Mawr, Pa., saddled his fourth winner of the meeting in the opening race on yesterday's card when Wesley C. Stillwell's Tekram defeated Miss Tiara by a length in a 6½ furlongs affair and returned $13.60 for $2. The winner, ridden by Earl Phelps, was third choice in the betting. Nanda Devi, the favorite, finished third.

Tekram (5) and Broom Party (4), the winning daily double combination, paid $38.20. The double pool was $22,222.

Winner Pays $125.60

The largest payoff of the meeting on a winner was hung up in the third when Alvin L. Christman's Larking Niz, the longest price on the board, won under the guidance of Tommy Lee, the Chinese jockey, and backers of the 3-year-old filly received $125.60, $40.20 and $13 for win, place and show tickets. The previous high of the meeting was $85.60 on Regal Pass in the eighth race September 16.

Mrs. Josephine Hurchalla's Inquest won the fourth by three lengths over Bold Relic while Nell Keegan took show money. In this 6½ furlongs test, Beebeedashea, an 8-year-old brown mare owned by Mrs. Vernon T. Mercer and trained by William D. Thomas, suffered a broken left foot while coming fast on the outside in the middle of the stretch and was destroyed after being removed from the track. Beebeedashea looked like a winner before she was pulled up in front of the grandstand by Jockey Earl Phelps.

Air Warrior Scores

Air Warrior, a 3-year-old gelding, owned by Edward S. Voss, Jr., and trained by Mrs. George A Saportas, Jr., of Monkton, Md., copped the major portion of the $1,000 purse in the fifth by beating Hasty Bunnie by two lengths. Monika finished third.

It was Mrs. Saportas' second winner of the meeting. In 1952 the woman trainer set an all-time record here by saddling 11 winners in ten days. Air Warrior, with Jay Hause in the saddle, paid $6.20, and was the third

Round Table Is Heavily Favored In Woodward

NEW YORK (AP)—Round Table will be a heavy favorite Saturday to win the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park, and pass Nashua as the No. 1 money winning race horse of all time.

The durable 4-year-old colt from the Kerr Stables will meet seven others in the mile-and-one-quarter race, and the task should be easier. This is because a handicap, weight-for-age conditions will prevail.

Clem, who upset Round Table in his last two starts, and Nadir are the ones expected to cause the most trouble. Others entered were Cohoes, Inside Tract, Civet, Third Brother, and Reneged.

Petersburg's Vikings, stepping out of the Potomac Valley Conference for a contest, had their three-game victory snapped yesterday when battling the Charles Town Panthers to a 6-6 deadlock at Petersburg.

The Vikings appeared headed for their fourth triumph in a row when they pushed across a touchdown in the third quarter to open the game's scoring. A 10-yard pass from Bill Reynolds to Doug Harman provided the tally as the latter plucked the ball from the air on the eight and raced into the end zone.

But the charges of William "Honey" Crites couldn't stave off the thrusts of the Panthers, who fought back for the tying TD in the final heat on a 20-yard drive off-tackle by fullback Lloyd Jackson.

Each team tried to tack on its extra point on runs, but both defensive units prevented what would have turned out to be the winning margin.

Columbia Makes Sweep Of Races With Sceptre

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Columbia, proud aristocrat of the Atlantic, sent Sceptre back to Britain Friday a badly beaten challenger—victim of a four-race sweep in the historic America's Cup Regatta.

She swept over the 24-mile triangular course in three hours, four minutes and 22 seconds, leaving the disillusioned pride of the Royal Yacht Squadron plodding three quarters of a mile in her wake.

Wins By 7 Minutes

Columbia's margin of victory was seven minutes and five seconds, carved out in a choppy sea swept by winds of 16 to 22 knots. If hapless Sceptre had any hope of altering the course of things, she lost it at the start.

As if the gall of her inglorious defeat was not bad enough, racing luck poured new salt into the Britishers' wounds. They had a recall start. A jib jammed at the first mark.

Then early on the second leg the Sceptre's bosomy red, white and blue Parisienne sail, known as the Brigitte Bardot, became unfastened, and for a minute fluttered wildly before it could be secured.

Sceptre Is Recalled

Cunningly Mann forced Columbia out around the committee boat, seconds before the starting gun and then took a hard running shot at the line. Sceptre was two boat lengths ahead of Columbia when she hit the line but she was two feet over the imaginary starting point. She had to be recalled for another start, and Columbia could sail on out to sea.

By the time Sceptre pointed her nose into the wind on the first eight-mile windward leg, she was trailing by several boat lengths and drawing fleeting Columbia's dirty wind.

It was obvious then that the next few hours would be like those of the preceding days—a dull slaughter involving two mismatched antagonists.

Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Keyser High Golden Tornado devastated its fourth consecutive football opponent yesterday, but was scored upon for the first time this season when it defeated Ridgeley High, 21-6, in a Potomac Valley Conference game at Keyser.

Keyser, unbeaten in the PVC since 1953, and conference champions for four successive years, had held its first three foes of the campaign—Charles Town, Parsons and Beall—scoreless.

The Clarkmen tallied a pair of six-pointers in the opening period and tacked on another in the second. Francis Sidley booted home two extra points while tackle Jerry Shumaker toed the other one through.

On the second play of the game junior Gary Keedy, Keyser quarterback, tucked the ball in on a keep play and rambled 54 yards around right end to pay dirt. The speedy Keedy, in Keyser's next series of downs, tried his other sideline and galloped 59 yards for his second TD.

Dick Wilson, substitute halfback, closed out the winners' scoring when he went into the end zone on a 7-yard plunge through the center of the Ridgeley line.

Although Keyser failed to score in the final half it dominated the rushing statistics with a total of 208 yards, while the Blackhawks, throwing 23 passes during the contest, were held to 108 yards on the ground.

Cumberland Officials Request SRC To Give Cost Of Thruway

The Maryland State Roads Commission, at the request of the Mayor and Council, said yesterday it will give a "realistic" accounting of cost involved in the Cumberland Thruway project including estimates on those which could greatly affect the future development of the city.

Exploratory talks on financing the project were held in the office of Mayor J. Edwin Keech yesterday. Mechanics of the contract with the SRC and actual erection of the bridge were also discussed.

The "realistic" estimates of cost to the city in regard to the project, its construction, relocation of utilities and lighting, will also include the possibility, as proposed by the city, that if financing could be arranged, the State Roads Commission would take over the entire project. This could be realized, it was explained, through a bond issue by the city and supplementing of the present contract with the SRC.

Bonnell In Favor

In answer to a question from SRC member John J. McMullen, this city, about the proposal that the SRC take over the entire project as suggested by the city, Chairman Robert O. Bonnell said he was in favor of the plan if the city could work out the financing.

The city and commission felt that time is important in compiling the figures, and they will be considered in conferences among Norman O. Pritchett, chief SRC engineer, Al Grubb, SRC bridge engineer; and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden served as spokesman for the Mayor and Council yesterday. Carscaden had a prepared statement which was submitted to the commission but in the interest of saving time, gave a brief resume of the city's position.

Mr. Carscaden said responsibility in the cost of relocating utilities should be worked out since the city contends it is a matter between the state and the utilities.

Continuing that the "city must know its cost," Carscaden said it must determine the extent of its obligation under the contract and also its total cost of the Thruway as well as the annual cost after completion.

Bond Issue Source

If the city knows what its cost is, Mr. Carscaden said it can consider means of getting the money—through a bond issue. He said since the city's share of construction costs — $490,000 — is being paid from state gas and motor vehicle revenues, the only source of additional money is a bond issue. Carscaden then dealt briefly with the defeat of a proposed tax limitation increase and defeat of a $500,000 bond issue during the last administration. This brought from Mr. Bonnell the question whether the city has any assurance it could successfully float a bond issue for thruway purposes.

Mr. Carscaden said council feels that way and added the reason the bond issue was defeated previously was that citizens did not have sufficient information on what the money was for and did not want to give a "blank check" to the governing body.

Mr. Carscaden said council feels a bond issue would be approved—possibly without a referendum—if citizens know terms of the Thruway contract and what revenue from the bond sale will go toward.

Look To Future

Mr. Bonnell said the SRC is trying to give the city and the state the best possible facility and at the same time he advised any studies which are made look to the future development of Cumberland. He said it was a great opportunity for future planning and if done now, would probably result in great savings.

Mr. Pritchett said Thruway plans are well along but utility relocation facilities have not been developed. He also stressed the need for looking ahead to future development and said changes made in plans since the first non-detailed ones were approved have been designed to give the city a better facility, help business, reduce property depreciation and improve the traffic flow. He said the city is much better off under present plans than it was under those proposed in 1956.

The meeting was held in an atmosphere of cooperation. Mr. Carscaden expressed the hope the SRC might be able to lend engineering assistance to the city and emphasized it will take long-range planning by Cumberland to raise funds necessary for the Thruway project.

Attending the session here were SRC Chairman Bonnell, SRC Commissioners McMullen and Edgar T. Bennett; Pritchett, Grubb; G. Bates Chaires, SRC district engineer; Mayor Keech, Carscaden, Commissioners Lucile Roeder, John J. Long, Philmore Fleming and G. Ray Light; Nuzum and Attorney Fred Puderbaugh, this city.

Two Area Students Enroll At Roanoke

Creek Sewage Survey Plan Is Delayed

The matter of advertising for an engineering survey of the Georges Creek Valley for sewage purposes is still uncertain.

The Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday received a reply from the American Society of Civil Engineers concerning the explanation offered last week to the organization by Gorman E. Getty, county attorney.

The society had charged that the county's method of advertising for engineering proposals for the sewage survey as directed by the State Board of Health was unethical.

The society contended its members as a matter of ethics do not compete against each other in bidding for work.

Getty, in the explanation, pointed out that on work costing over $1,000, (the survey is estimated to cost much more than that), the county commissioners are required by state law to ask for bids.

William H. Wisely, New York, executive secretary of the ASCE, answered Getty by referring to court decisions in Texas, Louisiana and Ohio in similar cases.

These were of the view that the legislatures, when drawing up the laws concerning advertising for county work, did not intend for professional people to compete against each other.

Many public agencies, Wiseley pointed out, function under statutes that require bids to be taken for certain purchases or contracts.

The courts have consistently ruled, however, that such regulations do not apply to professional services, he added.

Members of the ASCE, he declared, are not likely to quote a price as an element of a proposal for engineering services when they are aware that other engineers have been required to furnish similar proposals.

"I am sure the practice is also followed in the legal profession," he said.

Consequently, any request that a price be quoted usually results in the client being denied services of competent firms.

Wiseley urged the commissioners to review suggestions in an earlier letter. The county commissioners would select an engineer to do the survey, which would do the work and then submit the bill.

But Getty yesterday said the county commissioners have two alternatives—seek a declaratory decree in Circuit Court to clear up the intent of the law concerning professional services, or to accept the single bid submitted by Baker-Wibberly of Hagerstown.

Baker-Wibberly last week, however, contended in a letter to the commissioners, that the firm still considered the method used by Getty in advertising for proposals was ethical.

But the engineering firm said it wanted to get for itself a clear cut opinion from the ASCE.

The county board then agreed to hold up any action, pending the decision awaited by Baker-Wibberly.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — How many of you bright little boys and girls remember Mischa Auer, whose comedy was extremely popular on the screen about twelve or more years ago?

Well, Mischa is back in town after ten years in Europe. He was a luncheon guest of makeup chief Wally Westmore in the Paramount Commissary and took time out to say he is a grandfather for the first time. His son, Tony, has just had a baby.

Five of the years Mischa spent in France, where he was active in French motion pictures. When asked why he came back he said he didn't want to forfeit his American citizenship, so now he is going to settle down here. He suddenly finds himself well-known again because of the release of his old movies on TV.

It will be very interesting to see if Fess Parker, who won world-wide fame as Davy Crockett for Walt Disney, will do as well without Walt. Fess has terminated his contract with Disney, who was never one to hold an actor against his will.

On "The Hangman" set at Paramount Fess said he had bought the Harold Shumate story, "The Old Maiden," in which he will be starred in conjunction with Batjac Productions. For the first time he says he will be playing a strictly modern character.

Fess was the idol of every child but I suppose the coonskin era couldn't go on indefinitely. However, Walt does very well by everyone under contract to him.

The world-wide search to find an actor to replace Gordon Scott in "Tarzan" has Johnny Weissmuller drooling at the mouth. Johnny, whose "Tarzan" was so popular it started a riot in Moscow when it was shown not too long ago, has taken off almost fifty pounds. He is completely off alcohol and he looks great. For eight years he has been seen as "Jungle Jim." He feels since they want his son to play the son of Tarzan, why wouldn't he be all right for Mr. Tarzan?

I don't know what the answer to this is — maybe Sy Weintraub, president of Sol Lesser Productions, who plans to spend $1,500,000 on "Tarzan's World Adventures," might have the answer, also Paramount who is in on the financing.

Merle Oberon telephoned to cancel a dinner she was hostessing on Sunday. She is leaving that day for New York with her husband, Bruno Pagliai, who will arrive Saturday. They leave October third for Europe, Egypt and India.

I remember the last time Merle visited Egypt. She arrived with Irene Dunne and the rest of us who had been in Jerusalem. There was quite a hassle over her jewels. She finally got so annoyed she said to the immigration official, "Just keep them here until I leave." This time Merle says she is not taking a jewel.

She is going to Kashmir in the north of India and will really be right in the hotbed of dissention.

Some kind friend (?) of Robert Young's tipped him off that he was to be a guest of Ralph Edward's "This Is Your Life" show. Being honest, Robert told Ralph that in all fairness he had to tell him he knew that he had been chosen as a guest, so naturally, there was nothing for Ralph to do but cancel him.

Bob said it had its funny side, because he kept kidding Betty, Mrs. Young, who kept the secret and denied over and over again there was any truth to it.

All of us who love Hope Lange and Don Murray are very glad that Hope is well again. She had a very close call with the threatened loss of her expected baby. She was in London but has now joined Don in Ireland on the location of "Shake Hands with the Devil."

Hope's mother, Mrs. Winnett Lange, has just arrived in Dublin, and Don's mother and father are already there. They have all moved into a house on the outskirts of Dublin to be on hand when Hope's baby arrives October 1st.

Three Wills Entered In Court For Probate

The wills of three Allegany County persons were admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Marie Lamb, who died August 30, made her niece, Ethel Pierce, Frostburg, executrix and beneficiary of her estate.

Mary Meyers, who died September 14, made her son, John Meyers, Midland, executor of her estate.

This is another Potomac Motors special, one in hundred trade in. This is a 2 tone finish car of tan and white that looks like new. The interior is a contrasting 2 tone of plastic and nylon upholstery. The V-8 engine and all mechanical parts are in A-1 condition. The equipment includes heater, defroster, radio, side mirrors, signal lights, back up lights, white sidewall tires, plus all the other small accessories. The automatic transmission makes this beauty a pleasure to drive. Has been driven about 10,000 miles a year. This is a small car, ideal for the family and easy to park. Try this wonderful buy at our very low price of

In the matter of the estate of Maria Lamb, deceased; in the Orphans Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF COURT

The Petition and Affidavit of Ethel Pierce, Executrix of the Estate of Maria Lamb, deceased, having been read and considered, it is thereupon this 26th day of September, 1958, by the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland, ORDERED that Ethel Pierce, Executrix of the said Estate be and she is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to make public sale of the real estate involved in said proceeding, having first given at least three (3) weeks public notice in some newspaper or newspapers published in Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, of the time, place, manner and terms of sale, which shall be as follows:

Said property shall be sold at public auction on the premises of the Liberty Trust Company, Lonaconing Branch, in Allegany County, Maryland, on the 11th day of October, 1958, at ten o'clock a. m. and that the terms of said sale shall be one-third cash on the day of sale and the balance upon delivery of a good and sufficient deed to the purchaser or purchasers thereof.

As soon as may be convenient after making the said sale, the said Executrix shall report to the Court, upon Oath, a full and particular account of his proceeding under the Order, with the name of the purchaser or purchasers, and on ratification of such sale or sales by this Court and upon the payment of the whole purchase money (and not before) the said Executrix by a good and sufficient deed, to be executed and acknowledged agreeably to law, shall convey to the purchaser or purchasers of said property and to his heir, or their heirs, the said property free, clear and discharged of all claim of the heirs at law or creditors of the Estate of Maria Lamb, deceased, and the said Executrix shall bring into this Court the money arising from such sale to be disposed of under the direction of this Court.

Potomac State Homecoming Set October 11

KEYSER — Former students of Potomac State College will be welcomed back Saturday, October 11, for the annual homecoming festivities. Heading the welcoming committee of faculty members and students will be Senator Ralph J. Bean, '32, Moorefield, PSC Alumni Association president.

Those especially honored this year will be members of the classes of 1933, 1938, 1943, 1948, 1953 and 1958.

The election of "Miss Catamount XV," this year's homecoming queen, is included in the pre-homecoming events. The election will take place the week prior to homecoming and is traditionally sponsored by Theta Sigma Chi fraternity.

A bonfire thuse will take place Friday evening at Stayman Field and will be attended by students and early alumni arrivals.

Saturday at 12:15 p. m. the homecoming parade, sponsored by the Circle K Club under the direction of W. E. Michael, sponsor, will begin its march through the downtown section of Keyser. A new feature this year will be the addition of an alumni float sponsored by former alumni presently employed at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Luke.

Potomac State's Catamounts will play host to their traditional rival, the Shepherd College Rams, at the homecoming game scheduled for 2 p. m. at Stayman Field. The ROTC staff will be in charge of half-time ceremonies.

At 6 p. m. Saturday an alumni dinner and business meeting will take place at the Upper Potomac Shrine Club near Burlington. The main speaker for the evening will be Elmo Gower, class of 1931. Gower, also a graduate of West Virginia University, played basketball both here and at the university. While in the service he served on a court-martial board in Germany. He is now practicing law in Silver Spring, Md.

Brief talks will be given by chairmen of the six classes to be honored. A report on the standing of the scholarship fund will be made. Prizes will be awarded to such alumni as the oldest present, the one traveling the greatest distance, and so on.

The homecoming ball, sponsored by the Student Council, begins at 9 p. m. and will run until midnight. Dress will be semi-formal.

An interesting feature this year will be the invitations sent to alumni. Letters will be superimposed on an air-photo of Potomac State's campus.

Alumni dues are $2.50 a year, payable to Kenneth F. Haines, the association's secretary. This includes a year's subscription to the Pasquino.

Persons wishing to contribute to the Alumni Association Scholarship Fund should address their checks to John Rascella, Potomac State College.

The third straight top choice scoed when Homer W. Wageley's Quatre Thell, with Lawrence Reynolds up, finished four lengths in the fore of Cherry Branch in the sixth. In this race Carroll D. Lee, top trainer increased his lead by posting win No. 8 and Reynolds made it 23 firsts in 11 days, three short of the all-time mark of 26 winners credited to Bill Clark in 1955. Quatre Thell was an even money favorite and paid $4.

Like Broom Party, Air Warrior and Quatre Thell, Onyx racked up his second win of the meeting in the 7th.

Counterparty Cops Final

Overlooked in the betting, Howard E. Reesman's Counterparty won the final by 2½ lengths, with Melvin Gerst riding, and returned a $23.20 mutuel. Circle Baby placed, Petit Lion was third and Jingler, first choice in the wagering, finished fourth.

Trial Begins In Slaying Of Midland Guard

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — The brutal slaying of a Lorton reformatory guard by two inmates while he pleaded for his life was described in U.S. District Court here yesterday.

Thomas R. Saunders Jr., who is serving time at the institution for unauthorized use of an automobile, gave the first eye-witness account of the stabbing and beating of the guard, Michael J. Hughes, 40, of Hoadly, Va., last Feb. 13.

Hughes, a former employe of the Celanese Corporation, resided in Midland, Md., until about four years ago.

Gumersindo B. Gomez, 28, and John F. Schoppel, 25, both of Washington, are on trial for the slaying.

Saunders said Gomez and Schoppel were on a table kicking out a window of a dormitory when Hughes entered the room and asked them to accompany him to a detention cell.

Gomez got off the table and swung at Hughes but missed, Saunders said, and the guard knocked him to the floor. Then Schoppel jumped off the table and grabbed Hughes from behind and Gomez "came off the floor and started cutting Mr. Hughes on the neck with a knife," the witness testified.

Saunders estimated that Gomez stabbed the guard 14 or 15 times while Schoppel held him. He said that Hughes pleaded:

"Please stop it boys, you are hurting me."

He said Schoppel finally let Hughes fall to the floor and then started for the door of the dormitory dayroom.

After that, the witness continued, Gomez grabbed a chair and began beating the guard over the head. Schoppel returned and, according to the witness, said:

"Stop hitting him or you'll kill him."

Schoppel, he said, then grabbed Gomez by the arm and pulled him out of the room.

Meanwhile, he said, Hughes remained on the floor for 20 to 25 minutes before help arrived. None of the 40 to 50 inmates in the dormitory went to the guard's aid, Saunders said, because they were frightened.

He also testified that Gomez had been drinking and that he had a knife tied to his wrist with which he had cut a dormitory door earlier.

Earlier, Buddy Riley, a reformatory imate, testified that Gomez and Schoppel were half drunk at the time of the incident.

Oct. 11 Tour Exhibits Are Planned

The North Cumberland Homemakers Club celebrated its ninth anniversary and decided on a tour at the meeting held in the form of a turkey dinner at Fairview Avenue Church Thursday. The tour will be to Springs, Pa., for an Amish festival October 11. It will be made by chartered bus, and is open to other club members who care to go.

Members also were asked to attend the Gettysburg tour, September 30, sponsored by the County Council. Reservations have been extended and are to be made at the Court House. October 3 was given as the deadline for reservations to the county achievement program October 8 at LaVale Methodist Church.

A club achievement day will be held at the meeting October 23. Members are asked to exhibit anything they made during the past year. Mrs. James Orr was named chairman of the nominating committee, which includes Mrs. Ralph Brotemarkle and Mrs. L. E. Watkins. Following the flag salute Mrs. John Marean gave her report.

Mrs. R. W. Trevaskis Sr. offered the invocation and led group singing with Mrs. Harold Fishel at the piano. Mrs. J. F. Zimmerman welcomed the group, gave a history of the club and conducted the meeting. Mrs. John Fradiska sang a solo with Miss Carol Reith at the piano. A skit, "A Bachelor's Reminiscence," was presented by the committee which consisted of Mrs. Charles A. Roeder, chairman, Mrs. J. Frank Young, Mrs. Orr, Mrs. James O'Hara, Mrs. L. E. Watkins, Mrs. John Bauer, Mrs. George Hartung and Mrs. John Reynolds. Miss Mary Wise showed slides of her European trip.

Birthdays of the month were honored and hand crocheted handkerchiefs were presented to Mrs. James Mullan, Mrs. Zimmerman, Mrs. Harriet Roby and Mrs. Raymond Farrell. Yellow and rust dahlias and marigolds centered the table. Yellow baskets were given as favors and each member had a miniature yellow candle which burned during the devotional. Special guests were Miss Wise, Miss Nancy Marsteller, Miss Patricia Golden, Mrs. Douglas Smith, county president; Miss Mary Lible, Mrs. Emma Garr, Mrs. Harry Leasure, Miss Margaret Conner, Mrs. Harry A. Smith, Mrs. Cecil Coulehan, Mrs. Elizabeth Crawford, Miss Deloris Scheff, Susan Kilroy, Gay Ann Geatz and Van Roby Jr.

Beall Blasts Attack By Paul Butler

Senator, Devereux, Other Candidates Speak At Rally Here

Senator J. Glenn Beall said here last night that Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler was grasping at straws when he blamed Beall for not getting U. S. 40 west of Hancock into the federal interstate roads system.

The Senator from Frostburg spoke at a Republican rally at LaVale Fire Hall, featuring state and county candidates and attended by more than 100.

His reference to Mr. Butler apparently was provoked by a speech Butler made at a Democratic gathering here ealier this month. In that speech, Mr. Butler implied that it was Senator Beall's fault that Maryland's westernmost section of U. S. 40 was omitted from the federal program.

Senator Beall dismissed Mr. Butler's accusation with the comment that "the national chairman could have determined the facts with a little inquiry, but after all, the boys were grasping at a straw for an issue."

Democrats To Blame

Besides, he said, the blame lies with the previous Maryland administration (Democratic), which he said permitted the Western Maryland segment of U. S. 40 to be dropped from the interstate system when that system was in the planning stage.

"The blame for that rests squarely on the former State Roads Commission, headed and controlled by the opposition party," he said.

Senator Beall said he has tried to change this, but the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads can't make the change without Pennsylvania's approval, which has not been given.

"The present Maryland State Roads Commission worked with me on the Federal Bureau of Roads; we made every effort to get the Western Maryland leg of U. S. 40 included in the system. But the federal bureau remains powerless to change the route without the agreement of Pennsylvania," he said.

With or without the interstate system, he said, it should be evident anyway that U. S. 40 west of Hancock has not been neglected.

He pointed out that only yesterday one of the worst sections of U.S. 40 was eliminated with the formal opening of the Polish Mountain relocation project.

Senator Beall outlined this and other projects which have brought the total spent or still being spent on highways in Western Maryland to over $8,000,000.

Among these were the completion of the Martin Mountain relocation last year, a steel beam bridge over Town Creek, improvement of U.S. 40 west of Frostburg, and improvement of U.S. 219 in Garrett County.

Devereux Raps Tawes

Rep. James P. S. Devereux, the Republican candidate for governor, said his Democratic opponent, J. Millard Tawes, "showed either a lack of knowledge or a deliberate attempt at misrepresentation" when he said Rep. Devereux had voted against the Korean GI Bill of Rights.

Devereux, replying to Tawes' criticism of his voting record, said his opponent "knows practically nothing about the state government (and) now is proving that he is equally ignorant about federal affairs."

He then defended these votes:

In favor of the Benson farm program—"So have a vast majority of other proud and independent-minded farmers of Maryland — and results are proving their wisdom."

Against federal aid for school construction—"We (Republicans) believe that federal aid in our system of public education will lead to federal control."

In favor of giving the states clear title to tideland oil deposits—"I would also vote to keep Maryland fisheries and those of other maritime states under control of the state."

Against one version of the Korean GI Bill of Rights—"I voted against a version of the bill that contained a glaring inequality. When the inequality was corrected in the Senate, I voted for the (amended) bill."

Republican Candidates Welcomed

Property Tax Exemptions To Be Filed Soon

Eligible residents of Allegany County are being reminded that applications for county property tax exemptions will be available at the Court House after October 1.

James Stevenson, clerk of the Board of County Commissioners, said yesterday that applications may be obtained at his office and must be returned no later than December 10.

A man and his wife, widow or widower over 65 who are making less than $100 a month are eligible if they have been residents for five years and living on their own property.

The applications will pertain to 1959 taxes, according to Mr. Stevenson, who said last year was the initial year such exemptions were made in accordance with a law passed in the 1957 session of the General Assembly.

Last year, 239 persons were exempted, and to date this year some 275 persons have indicated they are seeking exemptions. After an application is received the applicant is investigated. The Welfare Board did the investigation work last year, he said.

Church To Seek More Members

Plans for First Church of the Nazarene to take part in the denomination's goal of reaching one million people with a personal testimony and invitation during "Week of Witnessing," October 5-12, were announced yesterday.

Rev. H. E. Heckert, pastor, said the local church will endeavor to bring a "vital Christian witness" to at least 1,200 persons, or more than four times its membership.

County Poultrymen Reminded Of Tour

Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent, said yesterday that poultrymen of the county may still make reservations to take the poultry growers tour to Chambersburg, Pa., on Wednesday.

About 18 persons have registered and he said that about 30 are necessary to charter a bus suggested by a number of poultrymen. Deadline for reservations is noon Monday, Mr. Steger said.

Firemen Called Out

Firemen from Central station last night received a call to the rear of 33 North Centre Street where garbage in some cans reportedly was on fire. The call was received about 9:45 p. m.

Judge Henderson To Head Chamber's C&O Drive

Former Chief Judge George Henderson has been appointed chairman of the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Parkway committee of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

Serving on the committee will be Thomas F. Conlon Jr., J. Glenn Beall Jr. and J. L. Towler.

The committee was created this year for the specific duty of pushing legislation leading to the creation of the C & O Canal Historical Parkway project.

In previous years, the C & O Canal Campaign has been led by the Chamber's Tourist Promotion committee.

The Cumberland Chamber of Commerce has had its representatives at all hearings held in Congress on the C & O Canal legislation and has carried on a running campaign, both by personal contact and letters and telegrams, during the last session of Congress.

Both Senator J. Glenn Beall and Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde have assured all possible aid to the Chamber in its fight for the C & O Canal park plan, which includes a high-level road overlooking the canal in Western Maryland.

Both legislators have said they will introduce C & O Canal legislation when Congress convenes in January.

Devereux Backs Junior Colleges, More Industries

James P. S. Devereux, Republican candidate for governor of Maryland last night at a GOP rally in LaVale, stressed two important features of his platform which he deemed vital to Allegany County.

He said he is very much in favor of the proposal of junior colleges, state sponsored and located throughout the state. Many counties cannot afford these colleges and this program will encourage young people to stay in the county, he told a gathering of over 100 persons at the LaVale fire hall.

Mr. Devereux also stressed a state-wide survey of the state's potential to "make the climate here more favorable to industry to come into Maryland."

Sukkos Feast To Be Marked By Jews Here

The Feast of Tabernacles (Sukkos), the Jewish holiday of thanksgiving, will be celebrated from tomorrow through Tuesday, October 7 by B'er Chayim and Beth Jacob congregations.

Rabbi Max Selinger of B'er Chayim congregation said a service tomorrow at 8 o'clock will open its observance of the feast.

Next Friday at 8 p. m. another service will be held. Saturday morning at 10:30 a service will also be held. At that time there will be a consecration of the youngest children entering the B'er Chayim religious school.

Rabbi Bertram Cohen of Beth Jacob congregation, announced services as follows:

Tomorrow and Monday evenings at 7:30 o'clock; Monday and Tuesday at 7:30 a. m.; a special party for Sunday school children tomorrow evening after services.

Services on Sunday, October 5, at 7:30 p. m. and the following morning at 8:30 a. m.; Yizkor (memorial) service at 9:15 a. m.; that evening a service at 7 p. m. followed by a party for rejoicing of the law.

The final service will be on Tuesday, October 7 at 7:30 a. m. Beth Jacob Congregation welcomes any Sunday school or group that would like to view the tabernacle. They are asked to contact Rabbi Cohen at PA 4-7605 for an appointment.

The tabernacle or booth, decorated with fruits and vegetables in season, is used as a dining room to recreate the period of the exodus of the Hebrews from Egypt.

The Feast of Tabernacles is an autumn festival of thankfulness for the blessings of a good harvest. This pious gratitude emphasizes the appreciation of the good things in life.

Bonnell Extends Tribute To SRC Engineering Staff

Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, yesterday gave the SRC engineering staff credit for the Polish Mountain relocation project.

He said the road was a tribute to the dedicated men who plan Maryland's road system.

The 1.9 modernization job, opened yesterday at a cost of $1,594,000, is the fourth to be made on the steep west slope of Polish Mountain since 1928.

Mr. Bonnell added he hoped it would be the last needed.

The new road has one mild curve on its entire stretch. When a reporter asked Chief Engineer Norman M. Pritchett how many curves there were in the old road he said it would be hard to say as it consisted of "continuous" curves.

Mr. Pritchett said ice, which used to glaze Polish Mountain during bad weather, should not be a great problem now, as the present route is a sunny one.

He said that there are only a few hours during winter days — about 11 a. m. to 3 p. m. — when the sun is strong enough to melt ice and snow. The sun rarely shone on some stretches of the old route in winter.

He introduced Republican candidates, both county and state, during the program, members of the State Roads Commission and state figures here for the occasion.

Senator J. Glenn Beall, who introduced Governor McKeldin, said the road project marks another milestone in the modernization of the great highway.

The road is a far cry from 1924, Governor McKeldin recalled in relating a hectic drive from Baltimore to Cumberland between 4 a. m. and 9 p. m. in a Model T Ford.

To Hold Dinner

A fried chicken dinner will be served at St. Philip's Church tomorrow from 1 until 6. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

State Plumbers Arrive In City For Convention

The 73d annual convention of the Associated Plumbing Contractors of Maryland opened here yesterday with 84 delegates registering for the two-day meeting.

Registration began yesterday in the Fort Cumberland Hotel and over 100 plumbers are expected to take part in today's activities.

A cocktail party and social hour was held last night for delegates and their wives, followed by an educational film.

The convention will begin at 9:30 today with an invocation and address by Rev. John Sammel, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. Mayor J. Edwin Keech will welcome the group, and J. Byron Dowling, Health Department sanitarian, will speak.

The business session will continue after lunch, with adjournment set for 5 p. m. It will be followed by the annual banquet at 7 p. m. and a dance at 9 p. m.

A program for the ladies will open at 9:30 tomorrow and will be featured by an address by Mrs. Julius T. Becker, second vice president of the Women's Auxiliary, National Association of Plumbing Contractors.

After the morning business session by the ladies, they will attend a luncheon at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club and later will be taken on a bus tour of the city.

An exhibit has been prepared by the plumbing contractors and is open to public viewing in the basement of the hotel.

Walter N. Yoder, president of the Allegany County Master Plumbers Association, said 20 delegates from this county will attend the convention.

US Route 40 Rebuilding To Continue

Governor McKeldin Opens Polish Mt. Relocation Project

Governor McKeldin yesterday said the current modernization program of U. S. Route 40, including the Cumberland Thruway, is the first realistic attempt to serve traffic needs of the great highway to the West since the building of the Baltimore Pike in 1821.

Speaking at ribbon-cutting ceremonies on the Polish Mountain relocation project yesterday, the governor said citizens of this area will witness, within a reasonably short time, the reconstruction of the entire stretch of Route 40 in Allegany and Garrett counties.

The governor recounted the history of the National Pike and said that under Maryland's 12-year road program Allegany and Garrett counties will have more money spent for road construction than has been spent in the past 200 years.

The text of Gov. McKeldin's speech follows:

"The opening of this Polish Mountain relocation forges one more link in the chain of projects which is rebuilding U.S. Route 40, the Baltimore Pike throughout Allegany County.

Area Not Neglected

"Last autumn it was my privilege to help dedicate the Martin Mountain project. Now under construction is a new highway, sometimes called the Flintstone Bypass, which levels the valley between Martin and Polish. And today we are opening this new mountain pass, containing the deepest cuts and largest fills in the history of our State.

"Let no man say that Maryland's 12-Year Program, begun in 1954, has neglected this area of our state.

"Under it more money has been and will be spent on highway improvements in Allegany and Garrett counties than the sum total expended here on road construction in the previous 200 years. And that includes the great superhighway of the Nineteenth Century, the National Road west from Cumberland built by the Federal Government in 1811.

"The rebuilding of U.S. 40 in our western counties has been one of the outstanding objectives of the present administration. To bring us up-to-date on the status of this great transcontinental highway, let me briefly trace its history.

Given Priority

"Back in 1936 the first contract was awarded for the dualization of this road out of Baltimore. During the next 15 years dualization continued as far as Ridgeville at a cost of $7,200,000.

"Upon assuming office in 1951 our administration gave immediate priority to pushing this road westward. Seven separate contracts were awarded to complete dualization to the Monocacy River at Frederick. This new road, costing $8,800,000, was opened in 1954. In addition, a new bridge across the Monocacy has been built and the U.S. 40 part of the Frederick Bypass — built to interstate standards — is almost complete. These improvements will cost in excess of $5,000,000.

'Since ancient times the pike through Hagerstown has been blocked by two railroad lines. These grade crossings are being eliminated which, together with other improvements, will cost more than $2,000,000.

"Between Hagerstown and Cumberland only the Sideling Hill improvement had been completed to 1951.

PAUL V. HENRY

Army Concert Band To Play Here Sunday

The 100-piece U. S. Army Band of Washington, D. C. will present a free concert tomorrow night at 8 o'clock at Fort Hill School auditorium.

The concert will be under the direction of Major Chester E. Whiting and will be narrated by Paul V. Henry. The program will last about two hours and there will be no admission charge.

Mr. Henry is a native of Malden, Mass., and has been principal narrator for the military band since August 1947. He began his Army service in August 1946, and served with the Navy during World War II.

The concert narrator began his musical career as a violin prodigy and appeared professionally with the family concert group when he was 12 years old.

Later he majored in the violin at a New England conservatory and voice at Harvard University.

Warm For Fall? It's Been Worse

The weather for the past two days, with a high temperature reading of 90 degrees, was just like "the good ole summertime," according to Robert Golden, local weather observer, who has come up with some very hot data.

He said that in September of 1953 the mercury soared to 96 degrees on the 29th, and to 99 degrees on the 30th.

Those temperature readings could be classified as cool, since on the third of that month five years ago the high temperature reading was a sizzling 102 degrees.

On the first day of September that year the reading was an even 100, while on the second day the reading was 101. On the fourth and fifth the temperature was 96 and 90 degrees respectively.

Some relief from the current heat wave may develop today, according to the forecast which indicates temperatures in the high 70s or low 80s.

Increasing cloudiness is also forecast today. The official low temperature reading yesterday was 69 degrees. Humidity last night was about 53 per cent, and the barometer steady.

Supper Monday

A chicken a la king supper will be sponsored by the Calvary Methodist Church music committee Monday from 5 until 8 at the church in Ridgeley.

To Hold Outing

Boy Scout Troop 9 will hold an outing today at the Cresaptown baseball diamond. Boys wishing to join are invited. A lunch will be served and movies will be shown.

Morse Hits U.S. Action In Formosa

Urges Impeachment If Administration Persists In Policy

Administration action on Quemoy may call for impeachment action, Senator Wayne Morse (D-Oregon) declared last night before a Mineral County Democratic rally in Keyser, W. Va.

Senator Morse was the principal speaker at a banquet held in the Moose Home in Keyser to climax an all-day state Democratic rally.

Speaking before some 400 Mineral County Democratic leaders, he said that "Secretary of State Dulles insulted the intelligence of every thinking American in his speech of shocking deception Thursday night.

"This evil man, bent on war, must be checked," he said, "if our nation's glorious record of never having been an aggressor nation is to be preserved." He added in his speech prepared for delivery at Keyser:

Asks UN Action

"We have no international law right on the Quemoys and Matsus and we will be an aggressor nation if we become militarily involved there. Red Russia Red China and Chiang are violating the United Nations charter by aggressive action over the Quemoys and Matsus. We should not become an aggressor nation along with them. As I proposed in January 1955, we should insist that the United Nations take action to preserve peace in the Formosan Straits.

"Eisenhower and Dulles are not keeping faith with the Congress. As I urged on August 29, a special session of Congress should be called immediately.

"On February 9, 1955, the Senate ratified the Chiang Treaty with the distinct pledge from the Administration that any neutral agreement over the Quemoys and Matsus would be brought back to the Senate for ratification. Eisenhower and Dulles are not keeping their commitment to the Senate.

"The American people need to be warned that the President and Dulles have become irresponsible men by their warmongering over the Quemoys and Matsus.

Calls For Halt

"They have permitted Chiang to move thousands of troops to the islands within a stone's throw of the Chinese mainland. They are permitting a corrupt ex-Chinese war lord to endanger the lives of American boys. They should make it clear to their puppet, Chiang, that he will stand alone in this civil war over the Quemoys and Matsus.

"We should defend Formosa to the hilt until its sovereignty is determined by the United Nations, but we have no business killing American boys over the Quemoys and Matsus.

"The leaders of the Democratic party owe it to the American people to speak up in this hour of crisis. If Eisenhower and Dulles persist in the policy based on warlike acts over the Quemoys and Matsus, they should be impeached."

Candidates Attend

George E. Barger, Keyser, candidate for House of Delegates; Paul Allamong, Keyser, who is running for county commissioner; W. Va. Senator Clarence W. Martin, Charleston, and Jo F. Burdett, Point Pleasant, candidate for Secretary of State, were introduced.

Judicial candidates present were Harlan C. Calhoun, Moorefield, for a two-year vacancy on the Court of Appeals; Thornton G. Berry, Welch for a six-year term, and Jennings Randolph, Elkins, who is a candidate to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Neely.

Robert C. Byrd, Raleigh County, who is seeking the six-year Senate post, was unable to be present but is scheduled to speak at a mass meeting at the Court House in Keyser October 6.

Rep. Harley Staggers, Keyser, introduced Mr. Randolph and Senator Morse.

Turning to domestic issues, he blasted the administration which he said had "brought depression to many areas of the nation, and recession to all."

Morse said West Virginia was one of the hardest hit areas of the nation with 8.7 per cent of workers covered by unemployment compensation insurance now drawing on those benefits for their existence.

"I need not dwell on the extent of unemployment in West Virginia," he said, "but I certainly do want to dwell on the irresponsibility of an administration that not only contributed to it, but has refused to let Congress take the necessary steps to correct it."
